Abstract—The following research was conducted to determine the effect of a 10-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition of 10 sedentary, obese women. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group and an exercise group. The control group was instructed to maintain their current level of physical activity, while the exercise group was instructed to engage in 30 minutes of moderate-intensity exercise, five times per week. The results of the study indicated that the exercise group lost significantly more weight and body fat than the control group. The exercise group also lost significantly more lean body mass than the control group. The results of the study suggest that a combination of diet and exercise is the most effective way to lose weight and body fat.
