Fantasio And Other Plays:

Fantasio and Other Plays Alfred de Musset, 1993 The Limits of Performance in the French Romantic Theatre Susan McCready, 2007 This volume analyzes major French plays of the 1830s focusing on their theatricality and on the ways in which they expose the workings of the theater rather than conceal them Through an examination of performance within these plays the study posits that the stage is a privileged site of demonstration a literal proving ground that lends a physical reality to abstract values announced in the text and shared or questioned by the audience Negotiating between the literary study of drama and performance theory this work breaks new ground in nineteenth century theater scholarship while proposing a fresh direction in the study of text and performance The Limits of Performance challenges conventional wisdom offering a novel take on the mal du siècle that thematic hardly perennial of French Romanticism and the nineteenth century in general combined with eminently readable and therefore compelling analysis of plays a thought provoking addition to work in the field Glyn Hambrook Modern and Contemporary France November 2008 Nick Hern Books Nick Hern Books (London)., Nick Hern Books, Limited, 2006 John Keats and the Medical Imagination Nicholas Roe, 2017-12-06 This book presents ten new chapters on John Keats's medical imagination beginning with his practical engagement with dissection and surgery and the extraordinary poems he wrote during his busy time at Guy's Hospital 1815-17 The Physical Society at Guy's and the demands of a medical career are explored as are the lyrical spheres of botany melancholia and Keats's strange oxymoronic poetics of suspended animation Here too are links between surveillance of patients at Bedlam and of inner city streets that were walked by the poet of To Autumn The book concludes with a survey of multiple romantic pathologies of that most Keatsian of diseases pulmonary tuberculosis A Stage For Poets Charles Affron, 2015-03-08 In the nineteenth century the French lyric poets imposed their diction on the theatrical genre and thus illuminated the essence of both poetry and theatre Ten plays by Victor Hugo the standard bearer of the French romantic theatre and Alfred de Musset the romantic playwright most frequently performed in France today are analyzed by Charles Affron to answer the question Can the dialectic form of the theatre accommodate the solitary lane of the lyric poet As a functional point of departure he considers those characteristics of lyric poetry time voice and metaphor which bring us closest to the singular attitudes of Hugo and Musset Then examining the texts of Hernani Les Burgraves Torquemada Fantasio and Lorenzaccio as well as several lesser known plays Mr Affron discusses such topics as poetic time the scope of analogy theatrical and poetic rhetoric the guises of the poet hero and the manner of sounding the poet's voice upon the stage Originally published in 1971 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press
