Economic Integration in Eastern Europe Jozef Martin Paul Brabant,1989 Politics of Economic Integration in Eastern Europe with Special Reference to East Germany, Etc Peter Marsh,1973 The Status of Civil Science in Eastern Europe Craig Sinclair,2012-12-06 The NATO Science Programme under the direction of the Science Committee mounted in September 1986 a successful meeting which examined the structure and outputs of civil science in the Soviet Union As a topical sectoral examination of the evolutionary state of the Soviet Union under those inseparable and elusive twins perestroika and glasnost it was successful in providing the basis for assessments of the likely future role of Soviet scientists in the world scene Such meetings are infrequent events in the Programme calendar the Science Programme has concentrated for thirty years almost exclusively on supporting scientific mobility in the Alliance countries This it does essentially through the funding under competitive conditions of fellowships exchanges and meetings of researchers Such activities are a response to unsolicited scientific demand from the Alliance R D community which sees mobility as an essential part of scientific dissemination rather lacking it would appear from the following accounts in the Eastern European countries The Committee however does like to act upon its own behalf in supporting wider perceptions of the place of R D in the world by examining from time to time topics of strong current interest These have taken the form of the consideration of particularly pressing issues as arose for example in the series of energy and material supply crises of the seventies The Planned Economies and International Economic Organizations Jozef M. Brabant,1991-04-26 This is the first comprehensive study of the role of socialist countries within the international economic order The author presents an overview of the emergence of the postwar economic order and examines the key features of three kinds of centrally planned economies He then analyzes the role of financial frameworks and the international trade system in ensuring smooth economic relations among market type economies and he details the problems of associating typical CPEs within them Finally Jozef van Brabant explores the possibility of reconstituting a multilateral economic order that can provide greater security predictability stability and reliability in international economic relations The Planned Economies and International Economic Organizations is written at a time when the Soviet Union and other centrally planned economies are seeking closer links with the mainstream world economy It will therefore be of interest to governments and institutional economists as well as to students and specialists of Soviet and East European studies international relations and comparative economics The New Eastern Europe And The World Economy Jozef M. Van Brabant,2019-08-21 The unprecedented economic political and social changes that have followed the east European revolutions of late 1989 rank among the epochal events of the twentieth century The end of the cold war has opened up far reaching possibilities for international economic cooperation which may be able to stimulate economic growth in the region and revive interactions with the global economy This collection of essays comes to grips with the problems of repositioning the new Eastern economies in the global arena The contributors address

four main themes freeing up foreign economic sectors through trade liberalization currency convertibility and greater access to markets for international capital the disintegration of the trade payment pricing and settlements systems based on the transferable ruble active participation in the key organizations entrusted with international financial monetary and trading regimes and strategies for using international economic assistance to alleviate adjustment costs with ongoing transition policies

Balkan and Eastern European Countries in the Midst of the Global Economic Crisis Anastasios Karasavoglou, Persefoni Polychronidou, 2012-07-26 The world is changing rapidly The global economic crisis has called into question the political decisions that have been made by all countries for decades and has led to a re formulation of tools and aims Adjustments to the new situation are necessary and entail considerable economic and social costs The Balkan and Black Sea area is an important reference point for the European and global economy Accordingly the study of the economic development in the area is of great interest engaging politicians and scientists alike Under this framework the matter of the relation between the area's countries and the EU the role of the banking system and the importance of the primary sector of the economy as an important developmental factor for the countries economies are of great importance

East European Economic Assessment, 1981

International Trade and Restructuring in Eastern Europe János Gács, 2013-11-11 János Gács and Georg Winekler In recognition of the key position of international trade in the transition and the need for concentrated discussions of topical trade issues the International Institute for Applied Systems Analysis IIASA organized an international conference on International Trade and Restructuring in Eastern Europe which took place in Laxenburg Austria on 19 and 21 November 1992 The Austrian National Bank joined IIASA to co sponsor the event Participants of the conference were experts of international economics and trade policy from East and West policy makers and representatives of international organizations like the IMF the Commission of the European Communities the OECD and the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development EBRD The papers prepared for the event and the lively discussions during the conference itself prove that the topics are intellectually challenging and timely for policy makers It has widely been recognized that international economic relations play a crucial role in the transition of countries of Central and Eastern Europe The scope speed and success of the efforts to transform the formerly centrally planned economies to market economies have increasingly become dependent on the pattern these countries have in their relation to the rest of the world Transition comprises three major processes macro stabilization marketization and restructuring The success of these three hinges to a large extent on the response of these economies to the new conditions set by international trade and exchange regimes

De Externe Betrekkingen Van de Raad Voor Wederzijdse Economische Bijstand Arie Bloed, 1988 East European Economic Assessment: Regional assessments, 1981 The Planned Economies of Eastern Europe Alan H. Smith, 2025-08-01 First published in 1983 The Planned Economies of Eastern Europe provides a penetrating analysis of the Eastern European economies beginning with an examination of the Soviet model on which they are based An interesting comparison is made between the levels of economic development in these countries before and after adopting the Soviet model The effect of the model in generating rapid industrial growth by giving priority to heavy industry without regard to the raw material base and in doing so neglecting agricultural development is looked at in detail This is followed by a survey of proposals to reform the system put forward by Polish Hungarian and Czechoslovakian economists A discussion of the role of money and the problems of consumer equilibrium and the problems of foreign trade both inside and outside Comecon concludes this in depth and constructive review European Economic Integration as a Challenge to Industry and Government Richard Tilly, Paul J.J. Welfens, 2013-12-14 explicit presentation of some of those stylized facts in the form of a brief chronologically structured narrative In keeping with the broad scope of this volume we begin by going back at least two hundred years to the growth of an integrated national capital market in England in the 18th century see Neal Chapter This starting point has the advantage of calling attention to a number of important points First the form of integration by which a central market London for a standardized good government bonds or consols came to serve as linkage between two or more hitherto separate regional markets represents a typical and important form of financial and economic integration In Kindleberger s terminology it is the integration via third parties form where say security prices in A and B converge 2 A C B instead of A B In the 18th century English context this central market provided a widely available index of the opportunity costs of alternative investments the importance of which should not be underestimated for it contributed to national economic integration in England NEAL 1994 Second this example illustrates an important point of political economy The prerequisite for the development of the central market mentioned was the establishment of sound public finances based on the state s widely accepted power to tax Subject Catalog Library of Congress,
