displacement and pollution suggest an urgent need to re-examine the ways social and geographical spaces are perceived and valued in the twentieth and twenty-first centuries. Maintaining that ecological crises are largely socially produced, Derek Gladwin considers how British and Irish literary and visual texts by Ian McEwan, Sarah Gavron, Eavan Boland, John McGrath, and China Miéville, among others, respond to and confront various spatial injustices resulting from fossil fuel production and the effects of climate change. This ambitious book offers a new spatial perspective in the environmental humanities by focusing on what the philosopher Glenn Albrecht has termed solastalgia, a feeling of homesickness caused by environmental damage. The result of solastalgia is that people feel paradoxically ecologically exiled in the places they continue to live because of destructive environmental changes. Gladwin skilfully traces spatially produced instances of ecological injustice that literally and imaginatively abolish people's sense of place or place home. By looking at two of the most pressing social and environmental concerns, oil and climate, Ecological Exile shows how literary and visual texts have documented spatially unjust effects of solastalgia. This interdisciplinary book will appeal to students, scholars, and professionals studying literary, film, and media texts that draw on environment and sustainability, cultural geography, energy, cultures, climate change, and social justice.

An Annotated Bibliography for Taiwan Film Studies Jim Cheng, James Wicks, Sachie Noguchi, 2016-04-19
 Compiled by two skilled librarians and a Taiwanese film and culture specialist, this volume is the first multilingual and most comprehensive bibliography of Taiwanese film scholarship designed to satisfy the broad interests of the modern researcher. The second book in a remarkable three-volume research project, An Annotated Bibliography for Taiwan Film Studies, catalogues the published and unpublished monographs, theses, manuscripts, and conference proceedings of Taiwanese film scholars from the 1950s to 2013. Paired with An Annotated Bibliography for Chinese Film Studies (2004), which accounts for texts dating back to the 1920s, this series brings together like no other reference the disparate voices of Chinese film scholarship, charting its unique intellectual arc. Organized intuitively, the volume begins with reference materials: bibliographies, cinematographies, directories, indexes, dictionaries, and handbooks, and then moves through film history, the colonial period, Taiwan dialect film, new Taiwan cinema, the 228 Incident, film genres (animated, anticommunist, documentary, ethnographic, martial arts, teen), film reviews, film theory and technique, interdisciplinary studies, Taiwan and mainland China, Taiwan and Japan, film and aboriginal peoples, film and literature, film and nationality, biographical materials, film stories, screenplays, and scripts, film technology, and miscellaneous aspects of Taiwanese film scholarship: artifacts, acts of censorship, copyright law, distribution channels, film festivals, and industry practice. Works written in multiple languages include transliteration, romanized, and original script entries, which follow universal AACR 2 and American cataloguing standards and professional notations by the editors to aid in the use of sources.

Life as Spirit Keith Ka-fu Chan, 2018-08-21 Paul Tillich is exceptional in modern theologians that his distinctive and abundant understanding of the concept of life and spirit has the potential to engage with other disciplines such as biology psychology cosmology and social science and that his ontological understanding of life as spirit which is so crucial in the ecological consideration is so complex and subtle that enables powerful and critical inter religious dialogue in environmental ethics This book argues that despite the fact that Tillich did not engage in ecological and environmental theology directly his abundant personal experience of nature mysticism and intellectual understanding of the idea of nature rooted in his Lutheran and German idealist heritages and more importantly his ontological pneumatological holistic and multi dimensional conception of unifying and differentiated reality perfectly and organically coupled with the theonomous vision of theology of culture nature and morality is profoundly ecologically oriented
