Empire of Dreams

Scott Eyman, 2010-09-07 BEST KNOWN AS THE DIRECTOR of such spectacular films as The Ten Commandments and King of Kings Cecil B DeMille lived a life as epic as any of his cinematic masterpieces As a child DeMille learned the Bible from his father a theology student and playwright who introduced Cecil and his older brother William to the theater Tutored by impresario David Belasco DeMille discovered how audiences responded to showmanship sets lights costumes etc He took this knowledge with him to Los Angeles in 1913 where he became one of the movie pioneers in partnership with Jesse Lasky and Lasky's brother in law Samuel Goldfish later Goldwyn Working out of a barn on streets fragrant with orange blossom and pepper trees the Lasky company turned out a string of successful silents most of them directed by DeMille who became one of the biggest names of the silent era With films such as The Squaw Man Brewster's Millions Joan the Woman and Don't Change Your Husband he was the creative backbone of what would become Paramount Studios In 1923 he filmed his first version of The Ten Commandments and later a second biblical epic King of Kings both enormous box office successes

Although his reputation rests largely on the biblical epics he made DeMille's personal life was no morality tale. He remained married to his wife Constance for more than fifty years but for most of the marriage he had three mistresses simultaneously all of whom worked for him. He showed great loyalty to a small group of actors who knew his style but he also discovered some major stars among them Gloria Swanson, Claudette Colbert and later Charlton Heston. DeMille was one of the few silent era directors who made a completely successful transition to sound. In 1952 he won the Academy Award for Best Picture with The Greatest Show on Earth. When he remade The Ten Commandments in 1956 it was an even bigger hit than the silent version. He could act too in Billy Wilder's classic film Sunset Boulevard. DeMille memorably played himself. In the 1930s and 1940s DeMille became a household name thanks to the Lux Radio Theater which he hosted. But after falling out with a union he gave up the program and his politics shifted to the right as he championed loyalty oaths and Sen Joseph McCarthy's anticommunist witch hunts. As Scott Eyman brilliantly demonstrates in this superbly researched biography which draws on a massive cache of DeMille family papers not available to previous biographers DeMille was much more than his clichéd image. A gifted director who worked in many genres, a devoted family man and loyal friend with a highly unconventional personal life, a pioneering filmmaker DeMille comes alive in these pages, a legend whose spectacular career defined an era.

The Cinema of Michael Powell Ian Christie, Andrew Moor, 2019-07-25 The films of Michael Powell 1905-90 and Emeric Pressburger 1902-88 among them I Know Where I'm Going 1945, A Matter of Life and Death 1947 and The Red Shoes 1948 are landmarks in British cinema standing apart from the realist and comic mainstream with their highly stylised aesthetic and their themes of romantic longing and spiritual crisis. Powell and Pressburger are revered by film lovers and film makers. Martin Scorsese has called them the most successful experimental film makers in the world. In this first ever collection of essays on Powell an international group of critics and scholars map out his film making skills providing new readings of individual films analysing recurrent techniques and themes and relating them to contemporary debates about gender, sexuality, nationality and cinematic spectacle. Powell with and without Pressburger emerges as a film maker of lasting originality and significance.

Destination London Tim Bergfelder, Christian Cargnelli, 2008 The legacy of emigrants in the British film industry from the silent film era until after the Second World War has been largely neglected in the scholarly literature. Destination London is the first book to redress this imbalance. Focusing on areas such as exile, genre, technological transfer, professional training and education, cross cultural exchange and representation it begins by mapping the reasons for this neglect before examining the contributions made to British cinema by emigrant directors, actors, screenwriters, cinematographers, set designers and composers. It goes on to assess the cultural and economic contexts of transnational industry collaborations in the 1920s, artistic cosmopolitanism in the 1930s and anti-Nazi propaganda in the 1940s.

Visual Culture in the Northern British Archipelago Ysanne Holt, David Martin-Jones, Owain Jones, 2018-05-16 This edited collection including contributors from the disciplines of art history, film studies, cultural geography and cultural anthropology explores ways in which islands in the north of England and Scotland have provided space for a variety of visual cultural practices and forms of creative expression which have informed our understanding of the world. Simultaneously the chapters reflect upon the importance of these islands as a space in which and with which to contemplate the pressures and the possibilities within contemporary society. This book makes a timely and original contribution to the developing field of island studies and will be of interest to scholars studying issues of place, community and the peripheries.

On Sunset Boulevard Ed Sikov, 2017-06-14. On Sunset Boulevard originally published in 1998 describes the life of acclaimed filmmaker Billy Wilder. 1906-2002 director of such classics as Sunset Boulevard, The Lost Weekend, The Seven Year Itch and Sabrina. This definitive biography takes the reader on a fast-paced journey from Billy Wilder's birth outside of Krakow in 1906 to Vienna where he grew up to Berlin where he moved as a young man while establishing himself as a journalist and screenwriter and triumphantly to Hollywood where he became as successful a director as there ever was. Double Indemnity, Sunset Boulevard, Some Like It Hot and The Apartment. Wilder's cinematic legacy is unparalleled. Not only did he direct these classics and twenty-one other films, he co-wrote all of his own screenplays. Volatile, cynical, hilarious and driven, Wilder arrived in Hollywood an all-but penniless refugee who spoke no English. Ten years later he was calling his own shots and he stayed on top of the game for the next three decades. Wilder battled with Humphrey Bogart, Marilyn Monroe, Bing Crosby and Peter Sellers, kept close friendships with William Holden, Audrey Hepburn, Jack Lemmon and Walter Matthau, amassed a personal fortune by way of blockbuster films and shrewd investments in art, including Picassos, Klees and Mir's, and won Oscars yet Wilder, ever conscious of his thick accent, always felt the sting of being an outsider. On Sunset Boulevard traces the course of a turbulent but fabulous life both behind the scenes and on the scene, from Viennese cafes and Berlin dance halls in the twenties to the Hollywood soundstages of the forties and the on-location shoots of the fifties and sixties. Crammed with Wilder's own caustic wit, On Sunset Boulevard reels out the story of one of cinema's most brilliant and prolific talents.

British War Films, 1939-1945 S. P. MacKenzie, 2001-02-01. The cinema was the most popular form of entertainment during the Second World War. Film was a critically important medium for influencing opinion. Films such as In Which We Serve and One of Our Aircraft is Missing shaped the British people's perceptions of the conflict. British War Films, 1939-1945 is an account of the feature films produced during the war rather than government documentaries and official propaganda, making the book an important index of British morale and values at a time of desperate national crisis.

Beyond the Epic Gene D. Phillips, 2006-11-24. Two-time Academy Award winner Sir David Lean (1908-1991) was one of the most prominent directors of the twentieth century, responsible for the classics The Bridge on the River Kwai (1957), Lawrence of Arabia (1962) and Doctor Zhivago (1965). British-born Lean asserted himself in Hollywood as a major filmmaker with his epic storytelling and panoramic visions of history, but he started out as a talented film editor and director in Great Britain. As a result, he brought an art-house mentality to blockbuster films. Combining elements of biography and film criticism, Beyond the Epic: The Life and Films of David Lean uses screenplays and production histories to assess Lean's body of work. Author Gene D Phillips interviews actors who worked with Lean and directors who knew him and their comments reveal new details about the director's life and career. Phillips also explores Lean's lesser studied films such as The Passionate Friends 1949, Hobson's Choice 1954 and Summertime 1955. The result is an in-depth examination of the director in cultural, historical and cinematic contexts. Lean's approach to filmmaking was far different than that of many of his contemporaries. He chose his films carefully and as a result directed only sixteen films in a period of more than forty years. Those films however have become some of the landmarks of motion picture history. Lean is best known for his epics but Phillips also focuses on Lean's successful adaptations of famous works of literature including retellings of plays such as Brief Encounter 1945 and novels such as Great Expectations 1946, Oliver Twist 1948 and A Passage to India 1984. From expansive studies of war and strife to some of literature's greatest high comedies and domestic dramas, Lean imbued all of his films with his unique creative vision. Few directors can match Lean's ability to combine narrative sweep and psychological detail and Phillips goes beyond Lean's epics to reveal this unifying characteristic in the director's body of work. Beyond the Epic is a vital assessment of a great director's artistic process and his place in the film industry.

Territories of Desire in Queer Culture David Alderson, Linda R. Anderson, 2000. This book engages with and develops current debates about desire and sexual identification by focusing on a wide selection of contemporary literature, film and theory. These texts range from the novels of Alan Hollinghurst and Paul Magrs to the work of Pedro Almodovar, RuPaul, Derek Jarman and Camille Paglia as well as TV programs like Ellen and Shinjuku Boys and individual films such as Collard's Savage Nights.

Silent to Sound Geoff Brown, 2024-10-22. Silent cinema was never silent. But from the mid 1920s onwards the sound part of the cinema experience was transformed by the arrival of films long and short with clearly audible talk music and sound effects built in. It marked the most fundamental shift in cinema technology since cinema's birth. The first book devoted to Britain's conversion to talkies and the result of eight years research, Silent to Sound: British Cinema in Transition takes a lively and comprehensive look at the production side of the British sound revolution stretching from experimental efforts in the late 19th century through the sound shorts of the 1920s to the key year of 1929, the year of Hitchcock's Blackmail, Britain's first home grown talkie feature and the industry turmoil that followed. The narrative concludes in 1934 when John Grierson's GPO Film Unit finally acquired sound equipment, prompting a late burst of experimentation just when commercial feature soundtracks had settled down. Films familiar, neglected and unknown are examined: overripe melodramas, the lost Black Waters, local versions of Hollywood musicals Harmony, Heaven, visually elaborate science fiction High Treason, plus newsreels, documentaries, amateur films and the last phase of British silent production. The impact of sound on studio technique is examined along with the industry's complex relations with Britain's strong theatre traditions with Europe and above all cinema's superpower America. It's also never forgotten that the sound transition was shaped not just by technology but by the talents, foibles and follies of individual people. Film history with a

Colón Semenza, Garrett A. Sullivan Jr., 2023-09-07 A focused study on Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger's cinematic contributions to the war effort arguing for the centrality of propaganda to their work as film artists Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger are widely hailed as two of the greatest filmmakers in British cinema history The release of their first movie The Spy in Black barely preceded the beginning of World War Two and a number of their early masterworks including The Life and Death of Colonel Blimp A Canterbury Tale and A Matter of Life and Death were produced in the service of the war effort Through exploring the relationship between art and propaganda this book shows that Powell and Pressburger saw no contradiction between their aesthetic ambitions and their cinematic war work propaganda imperatives were highly conducive to their objectives as both commercial cinema practitioners and artists Drawing on production materials from the archives of the British Film Institute this book charts three phases in Powell and Pressburger's wartime career from first time collaborators who strive to reconcile popular cinematic forms with developing notions of what constitutes effective propaganda to accomplished and sometimes controversial propagandists whose movies center upon Britain's relations with its enemies and allies to filmmakers whose responsiveness to the propaganda requirements of the late war is matched by a focus shared by the Ministry of Information on what the post war future would bring Prisoners of Britain Panikos Panayi, 2018-02-28 During the First World War hundreds of thousands of Germans faced incarceration in hundreds of camps on the British mainland This is the first book on these German prisoners almost a century after the conflict The book covers the three different types of internees in Britain in the form of civilians already present in the country in August 1914 civilians brought to Britain from all over the world and combatants Using a vast range of contemporary British and German sources the volume traces life experiences through initial arrest and capture to life behind barbed wire to return to Germany or to the remnants of the Women in British Cinema Sue Harper, 2000-06-01 This book takes a broad perspective and analyses the ways in which the British film industry has dealt with women and their creativity from 1930 to the present The first part of the book deals comprehensively with different historical periods in British film culture showing how the agency of production company director distribution company or scriptwriter can bring about new patterns of female stereotyping The second part looks at the input of women workers into the film process It assesses the work of women in a variety of roles directors such as Wendy Toye and Sally Potter producers such as Betty Box scriptwriters such as Clemence Dane and Muriel Box costume designers such as Shirley Russell and Jocelyn Rickards and editors and art directors This is a polemical book which is written in a lively and often confrontational manner It uses fresh archival material and takes energetic issue with those explanatory models of film analysis which impose easy answers onto complex material
