Ecological Principles of Nature Conservation I. Hansson,2012-12-06 This volume is the first in a series entitled Conservation Ecology Principles Practices and Management a theme which Elsevier's pioneering journal Biological Conservation has promoted since its foundation thirty three years ago The science of conservation ecology is now widely acknowledged as an essential component in the planning and development of activities which change or modify our natural environment Nevertheless in spite of much research and publicity there is still a wide gap between theory and practice Today it is especially important to try to bridge this gap by interpreting the results of ecological research so that they are understandable and relevant to a wide range of land managers agriculturalists foresters and those working in the many categories of protected areas The volumes in this series are designed to fulfil this purpose and also to play an important educational role for students of the environmental sciences in schools universities and other institutions The Dance of the Islands Christy Constantakopoulou,2010-07-29 Christy Constantakopoulou examines the history of the Aegean islands and changing concepts of insularity with particular emphasis on the fifth century BC Islands are a prominent feature of the Aegean landscape and this inevitably created a variety of different and sometimes contradictory perceptions of insularity in classical Greek thought Geographic analysis of insularity emphasizes the interplay between island isolation and island interaction but the predominance of islands in the Aegean sea made island isolation almost impossible Rather island connectivity was an important feature of the history of the Aegean and was expressed on many levels Constantakopoulou investigates island interaction in two prominent areas religion and imperial politics examining both the religious networks located on islands in the ancient Greek world and the impact of imperial politics on the Aegean islands during the fifth century Actually, I also Have Plug-ins Yin Ya,2020-05-26 Savage Melting VS Magical False Benevolence Ezra

Better Britons Nadine Attewell,2014-02-05 In 1932 Aldous Huxley published Brave New World his famous novel about a future in which humans are produced to spec in laboratories Around the same time Australian legislators announced an ambitious experiment to breed the colour out of Australia by procuring white husbands for women of white and indigenous descent In this study Nadine Attewell reflects on an assumption central to these and other policy initiatives and cultural texts from twentieth century Britain Australia and New Zealand that the fortunes of the nation depend on controlling the reproductive choices of citizen subjects Better Britons charts an innovative approach to the politics of reproduction by reading an array of works and discourses from canonical modernist novels and speculative fictions to government memoranda and public debates that reflect on the significance of reproductive behaviours for civic national and racial identities Bringing insights from feminist and queer theory into dialogue with work in indigenous studies Attewell sheds new light on changing conceptions of British and settler identity during the era of decolonization The Search for
