

The Mirror

When I look in the mirror, I know
Appearances can be deceiving
From the outside, you can't see the heart bleeding
Lips smiling, cheeks blushing
Convincing myself that Life is a joyride

When I see my reflection, I wonder
Is it really me I am seeing?
From the outside, you can't see the cracking
Thoughts crawling, soul craving
Desperately trying to hide

When I look at myself, I flinch
Getting trouble breathing
From the outside, my eyes are revealing
Surely slipping, mind struggling
Because my eyes show what I already know
I am dead inside...

Face In The Mirror and Other Poems:

Face at the Bottom of the World and Other Poems Hagiwara Sakutarō, 2008-12-15 Face at the Bottom of the World and Other Poems is a collection of Japanese poetry by master poet Hagiwara Sakutarō. Hagiwara Sakutarō (1886-1942) is generally recognized in Japan as the best poet to have emerged since contact was re-established with the outside world. His work represents the astonishing achievement in the poetic field of General Meiji's endeavor to blend Western learning with the Japanese spirit. He and perhaps he alone have successfully combined the lyric intensity characteristic of the short forms of traditional Japanese poetry with the freedom of length, form and rhythm which characterizes the poetry of the West. In him East and West, despite Kipling's dictum, have indeed met and from him the future poets of both traditions have much to learn. For all the startling beauty and originality of his work, Hagiwara remains a poet of the dark, shiveringly sensitive to loveliness in all its million modes; he finds it not only in its familiar haunts but even in such unexpected subjects as rotten calm or the dead body of an alcoholic. A man intensely aware that the sun, that symbol of Japan, rises as much to cast shadows as to give light.

Mainak Dhar, 2004-01-01 Face in the Mirror is a collection of twenty-five poems of reflection and introspection. A lot of poetry is designed to express one's reactions and emotions towards the world outside, essentially presenting the poet's perspective on what is happening around him. Face in the Mirror reverses that process; it is a look deep inside into one's own psyche. The poems are all intensely personal but deal with themes and emotions that are truly universal. In an age where so much of our validation seems to depend on things and people external to us, the poems in this collection force a deep look within ourselves and the choices we make.

The Ether Dome and Other Poems Allen R. Grossman, 1991

Self and Symbolism in the Poetry of Michelangelo, John Donne and Agrippa D'Aubigné A.B. Altizer, 2012-12-06 Alienation, ecstasy, death, rebirth in the poetry of Michelangelo, Donne and d'Aubigné: these archetypal themes make possible the ultimate formulation of new poetic symbolizations of self and world. As their poetry evolves from a primarily rhetorical towards a fully symbolic mode, images of loss of self in ecstasy or in alienation of death and rebirth recur with increasing frequency and intensity. Whether the context is love poetry or religious poetry, the basic problem remains the same: love is the link between the two kinds of poetry. And love is indeed a problem for these three poets since it involves the self in relation to the other, the other being either God or another human being. Increasingly, the work of each poet centers on a need to analyze or abolish the gulf separating subject and object, self and other. The dominant mode of most of the three poets' work is neither rhetorical nor symbolic but expressive. This transitional mode reveals the individual poet's most urgent concerns and conflicts, his sense of self in its most isolated or burdensome, affirmative or struggling state. Underlying most of their poems is a profound self-consciousness, a heightened awareness of self as a powerful, separate entity with a corresponding objectification of all reality outside of self. The Renaissance in general is a time of increasing individualism and self-consciousness.

Influential Ghosts Rachel Wetzsteon, 2013-10-18 Influential Ghosts: A Study of Auden's Sources explores some of the most important literary and philosophical influences on W. H. Auden's poetry. The study attempts to show that Auden's poetry derives much of its interest from the vast range of authors on whom he drew for inspiration. But it also suggests that his relationship to these writers was marked by a fascinating ambivalence. In chapters on Auden's relationship to Hardy and Kierkegaard the study shows how after lovingly apprenticing himself to their work and often borrowing stylistic or thematic features from it, Hardy's sweeping hawk's vision, Kierkegaard's urgent leap of faith, he began to criticize the very things he had previously striven to emulate. In a chapter on Auden's elegies the author argues that alone among examples of this poetic genre they both reverently mourn and harshly scrutinize their subjects: Yeats, Freud, Henry James and others. In a chapter on structural allusion in Auden's early poetry the study posits that Auden singlehandedly invented a new kind of allusion in which he alludes to the form and subject matter of entire poems. But while doing so he also finds fault with the attitudes, passivity, despair depicted in them. In these structurally allusive poems, as with his relationship to Hardy, Kierkegaard and his elegies' subjects, Auden's sometimes accepting, sometimes skeptical attitude toward his poetic models is on powerful display and finds a perfect counterpart in the tension between imitative form and critical content.

Don't Read Poetry Stephanie Burt, 2019-05-21 An award-winning poet offers a brilliant introduction to the joys and challenges of the genre. In Don't Read Poetry, award-winning poet and literary critic Stephanie Burt offers an accessible introduction to the seemingly daunting task of reading, understanding and appreciating poetry. Burt dispels preconceptions about poetry and explains how poems speak to one another and how they can speak to our lives. She shows readers how to find more poems once they have some poems they like and how to connect the poetry of the past to the poetry of the present. Burt moves seamlessly from Shakespeare and other classics to the contemporary poetry circulated on Tumblr and Twitter. She challenges the assumptions that many of us make about poetry, whether we think we like it or think we don't, in order to help us cherish and distinguish among individual poems. A masterful guide to a sometimes confounding genre, Don't Read Poetry will instruct and delight in new and cognoscenti alike.

Imaging Japanese America Elena Tajima Creef, 2004 Creef looks at racial profiling of Asian Americans over the past 100 years by examining images by well-known photographers such as Dorothea Lange and Ansel Adams.
