Handbook of Mental Health in African American Youth Alfee M. Breland-Noble, Cheryl S. Al-Mateen, Nirbhay N. Singh, 2016-01-22 This handbook fills major gaps in the child and adolescent mental health literature by focusing on the unique challenges and resiliencies of African American youth. It combines a cultural perspective on the needs of the population with best practice approaches to interventions. Chapters provide expert insights into sociocultural factors that influence mental health, the prevalence of particular disorders among African American adolescents, ethnically salient assessment and diagnostic methods, and the evidence base for specific models. The information presented in this handbook helps bring the field closer to critical goals: increasing access to treatment, preventing misdiagnosis and over-hospitalization, and reducing and ending disparities in research and care. Topics featured in this book include: The epidemiology of mental disorders in African American youth; Culturally relevant diagnosis and assessment of mental illness; Uses of dialectical behavioral therapy and interpersonal therapy; Community approaches to promoting positive mental health and psychosocial well-being; Culturally relevant psychopharmacology; Future directions for the field. The Handbook of Mental Health in African American Youth is a must-have resource for researchers, professors, and graduate students, as well as clinicians and related professionals in child and school psychology, public health, family studies, child and adolescent psychiatry, family medicine, and social work. DHHS Publication No. (ADM) ,1975 School

Mental Health, An Issue of Child and Adolescent Psychiatric Clinics of North America Margaret Benningfield, 2015-06-03. This publication promotes school-based mental health services as a means for increasing access to care and for early intervention. There are 3 levels of intervention in school-based mental health: 1. Universal promotion/prevention: Implementing whole-school approaches including training teachers and administrators to ensure and foster wellness. 2. Targeted prevention: Providing prevention services for youth at risk of developing mental health problems. 3. Indicated services: Providing assessment and direct care for youth with identified mental health needs. The approach of this Issue presents current evidence-based practice in schools and review of schools as a vital part of systems of care for youth. In addition to psychiatrists, this issue addresses collaboration with families, educators, administrators, social workers, counselors, and psychologists. The Editors leading this issue are from Vanderbilt University and University of Maryland. Both Vanderbilt and Maryland have well-established clinical programs that provide a full continuum of mental health services including indicated services to serve youth with mental health diagnoses, i.e., severe psychiatric disorders. Psychiatrists are part of the treatment team and work directly in the school or provide consultation, often via telehealth technologies. Given that family engagement is a major part of making therapies work effectively, partnering with families is a critical part of the treatment process.
