researchers instructors and students Green Lands for White Men Meredith McKittrick, 2024-10-08 How an audacious environmental engineering plan fanned white settlers' visions for South Africa stoked mistrust in scientific experts and gave rise to the Apartheid state In 1918 South Africa's climate seemed to be drying up White farmers claimed that rainfall was dwindling while nineteenth century missionaries and explorers had found riverbeds seashells and other evidence of a verdant past deep in the Kalahari Desert Government experts insisted however that the rains weren't disappearing the land long susceptible to periodic drought had been further degraded by settler farmers' agricultural practices an explanation that white South Africans rejected So when the geologist Ernest Schwarz blamed the land itself the farmers listened Schwarz held that erosion and topography had created arid conditions that rainfall was declining and that agriculture was not to blame As a solution he proposed diverting two rivers to the Kalahari's basins creating a lush country where white South Africans could thrive This plan which became known as the Kalahari Thirstland Redemption Scheme was rejected by most scientists But it found support among white South Africans who worried that struggling farmers undermined an image of racial superiority Green Lands for White Men explores how white agriculturalists in southern Africa grappled with a parched and changing terrain as they sought to consolidate control over a Black population Meredith McKittrick's timely history of the Redemption Scheme reveals the environment to have been central to South African understandings of race While Schwarz's plan was never implemented it enjoyed sufficient support to prompt government research into its feasibility and years of debate McKittrick shows how white farmers rallied around a plan that represented their interests over those of the South African state and delves into the reasons behind this schism between expert opinion and public perception This backlash against the predominant scientific view McKittrick argues displayed the depth of popular mistrust in an expanding scientific elite A detailed look at the intersection of a settler society climate change white nationalism and expert credibility Green Lands for White Men examines the reverberations of a scheme that ultimately failed but influenced ideas about race and the environment in South Africa for decades to come Biometric State Keith Breckenridge, 2014-10-02 Biometric identification and registration systems are being proposed by governments and businesses across the world Surprisingly they are under most rapid and systematic development in countries in Africa and Asia In this groundbreaking book Keith Breckenridge traces how the origins of the systems being developed in places like India Mexico Nigeria and Ghana can be found in a century long history of biometric government in South Africa with the South African experience of centralized fingerprint identification unparalleled in its chronological depth and demographic scope He shows how empire and particularly the triangular relationship between India the Witwatersrand and Britain established the special South African obsession with biometric government and shaped the international politics that developed around it for the length of the twentieth century He also examines the political effects of biometric registration systems revealing their consequences for the basic workings of the institutions of democracy and authoritarianism The Handbook of Contemporary Cambodia

Katherine Brickell, Simon Springer, 2016-09-13 Offering a comprehensive overview of the current situation in the country The Handbook of Contemporary Cambodia provides a broad coverage of social cultural political and economic development within both rural and urban contexts during the last decade A detailed introduction places Cambodia within its global and regional frame and the handbook is then divided into five thematic sections Political and Economic Tensions Rural Developments Urban Conflicts Social Processes Cultural Currents The first section looks at the major political implications and tensions that have occurred in Cambodia as well as the changing parameters of its economic profile The handbook then highlights the major developments that are unfolding within the rural sphere before moving on to consider how cities in Cambodia and particularly Phnom Penh have become primary sites of change The fourth section covers the major processes that have shaped social understandings of the country and how Cambodians have come to understand themselves in relation to each other and the outside world Section five analyses the cultural dimensions of Cambodia s current experience and how identity comes into contact with and responds to other cultural themes Bringing together a team of leading scholars on Cambodia the handbook presents an understanding of how sociocultural and political economic processes in the country have evolved It is a cutting edge and interdisciplinary resource for scholars and students of Southeast Asian Studies as well as policymakers sociologists and political scientists with an interest in contemporary Cambodia

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY IN INDIAN BANKING INDUSTRY Dr. NITHIN VENUGOPAL, Dr. BENSON KUNJUKUNJU, 2020-09-16 Initially Indian commercial banks were classified into four core groups viz State Bank Group SBG Nationalized Banks NBs Old Private Sector Banks OPSBs and New Private Sector Banks NPSBs Then one commercial bank was selected from each of the four core groups The selection of banks from each group was based on a study conducted by IIM Udaipur along with Economic Times and an independent organization named Futurescape2 Their study identified India s top 100 companies for sustainability and CSR

Rethinking Empowerment Jane L. Parpart, Shirin M. Rai, Kathleen A. Staudt, 2003-08-29 Rethinking Empowerment looks at the changing role of women in developing countries and calls for a new approach to empowerment An approach that adopts a more nuanced feminist interpretation of power and empowerment recognises that local empowerment is always embedded in regional national and global contexts pays attention to institutional structures and politics and acknowledges that empowerment is both a process and an outcome Moreover the book warns that an obsession with measurement rather than process can undermine efforts to foster transformative and empowering outcomes It concludes that power must be restored as the centrepiece of empowerment Only then will the term and its advocates provide meaningful ammunition for dealing with the challenges of an increasingly unequal and often sexist global local world
