

A photograph of a two-lane asphalt road winding through a dense forest. The road has double yellow lines in the center and white lines on the edges. The forest is dark, with trees lining both sides of the road. In the distance, a mountain range is visible under a pale, hazy sky. The overall mood is quiet and contemplative.

It was contrast that gave things shape.
Brightness made darkness. Fullness made emptiness. Loneliness defined the borders of whatever not-loneliness was called. They were comparative.
