The Internal Senses in the Aristotelian Tradition Seyed N. Mousavian, Jakob Leth Fink, 2020-03-19 This volume is a collection of essays on a special theme in Aristotelian philosophy of mind the internal senses The first part of the volume is devoted to the central question of whether or not any internal senses exist in Aristotle's philosophy of mind and if so how many and how they are individuated The provocative claim of chapter one is that Aristotle recognizes no such internal sense His medieval Latin interpreters on the other hand very much thought that Aristotle did introduce a number of internal senses as shown in the second chapter The second part of the volume contains a number of case studies demonstrating the philosophical background of some of the most influential topics covered by the internal senses in the Aristotelian tradition and in contemporary philosophy of mind The focus of the case studies is on memory imagination and estimation Chapters introduce the underlying mechanisms of memory and recollection taking its cue from Aristotle but reaching into early modern philosophy as well as studying composite imagination in Avicenna's philosophy of mind Further topics include the Latin reception of Avicenna's estimative faculty and the development of the internal senses as well as offering an account of the logic of objects of imagination Selling a Vision of Hope Nissim Dahan, 2007-10-16 Is it just me or do you also sense that when it comes to the Middle East we may well be inching our way toward a bad place What if anything can we do about it Albert Einstein came up with $E=mc^2$ Thankfully the formula for success in the Middle East is a lot simpler Ideology plus Investment equals Hope We need nothing less than a new ideological framework along with some well placed investment dollars to generate a sense of hope and with hope all things are possible Use An Ideology of Common Sense along with Economic Incentives to sell a Vision of Hope a Vision of Peace Prosperity and Freedom on the Arab street in the Muslim World and in the world as a whole Speak to one another with common sense and with a sense of personal dignity Put some serious money on the table and give everyone on earth a place at the table a stake in his or her future Make the global economy truly global Use the motto We stand ready to invest in you if you are ready to invest in yourselves Invest in projects which resonate with hope which create jobs which protect the environment and which allow people to become who they want to become even if they want to become different from you Create facts on the ground which speak louder than words Marginalize the extremists on all sides by co-opting their strategy by doing what they do only better and by putting them in the uncomfortable and untenable position of holding their people back from a better life If the West is good at anything it is making and investing money Why not use this strength as part of our strategic arsenal to promote the peace and to win the war against ideological extremism And when the need arises fight on the ground and fight hard but position the fight within a Vision of Hope Raise the fight on the ground to a higher moral plain and sustain the fight by giving it a moral clarity of

Lighting and Its Application for Computer Vision Katsushi Ikeuchi, Yasuyuki Matsushita, Ryusuke Sagawa, Hiroshi Kawasaki, Yasuhiro Mukaigawa, Ryo Furukawa, Daisuke Miyazaki, 2020-09-07 This book describes active illumination techniques in computer vision We can classify computer vision techniques into two classes passive and active techniques Passive techniques observe the scene statically and analyse it as is Active techniques give the scene some actions and try to facilitate the analysis In particular active illumination techniques project specific light for which the characteristics are known beforehand to a target scene to enable stable and accurate analysis of the scene Traditional passive techniques have a fundamental limitation The external world surrounding us is three dimensional the image projected on a retina or an imaging device is two dimensional That is reduction of one dimension has occurred Active illumination techniques compensate for the dimensional reduction by actively controlling the illumination The demand for reliable vision sensors is rapidly increasing in many application areas such as robotics and medical image analysis This book explains this new endeavour to explore the augmentation of reduced dimensions in computer vision This book consists of three parts basic concepts techniques and applications The first part explains the basic concepts for understanding active illumination techniques In particular the basic concepts of optics are explained so that researchers and engineers outside the field can understand the later chapters The second part explains currently available active illumination techniques covering many techniques developed by the authors The final part shows how such active illumination techniques can be applied to various domains describing the issue to be overcome by active illumination techniques and the advantages of using these techniques This book is primarily aimed at 4th year undergraduate and 1st year graduate students and will also help engineers from fields beyond computer vision to use active illumination techniques Additionally the book is suitable as course material for technical seminars Vision, 1908

"Michael Baxandall, Vision and the Work of Words" Robert Williams, 2017-07-05 The most important art historian of his generation is how some scholars have described the late Michael Baxandall 1933 2007 Professor of the Classical Tradition at the Warburg Institute University of London and of the History of Art at the University of California Berkeley Baxandall's work had a transformative effect on the study of European Renaissance and eighteenth century art and contributed to a complex transition in the aims and methods of art history in general during the 1970s 80s and 90s While influential he was also an especially subtle and independent thinker occasionally a controversial one and many of the implications of his work have yet to be fully understood and assimilated This collection of 10 essays endeavors to assess the nature of Baxandall's achievement and in particular to address the issue of the challenges it offers to the practice of art history today This volume provides the most comprehensive assessment of Baxandall's work to date while drawing upon the archive of Baxandall papers recently deposited at the Cambridge University Library and the Warburg Institute Common Sense in Early 18th-Century British Literature and Culture Christoph Henke, 2014-10-14 While the popular talk of English common sense in the eighteenth century might seem a by-product of familiar Enlightenment discourses of rationalism and empiricism this book argues that terms such as common sense or good sense are not simply synonyms of applied reason On the contrary the discourse of common sense is shaped by a defensive impulse against the totalizing intellectual regimes of the Enlightenment and the cultural climate of change they promote in order to contain the unbounded discursive proliferation of modern learning Hence common sense discourse has a vital regulatory function in cultural negotiations of political and intellectual change in eighteenth century Britain against the backdrop of patriotic national self-concepts This study discusses early eighteenth century common sense in four broad complexes as to its discursive functions that are ethical which at that time implies aesthetic as well transgressive as a corrective political in patriotic constructs of the nation and repressive of otherness The selection of texts in this study strikes a balance between dominant literary culture Swift Pope Defoe Fielding Johnson and the periphery such as pamphlets and magazine essays satiric poems and patriotic songs
