Gossip Mary Crnkovich, Canadian Arctic Resources Committee, 1990 A collection of oral histories and interviews with women in northern Canada including Indian Inuit Metis and non native women illustrating their traditional and contemporary place in society Some chapters are translations from the narrator s language      Canadian Women's Issues Ruth Roach Pierson, Marjorie Griffen Cohen, Paula Bourne, Philinda Masters, 1993-01-01 Preface Acknowledgements 1 The Canadian Women s Movement Documents Marjorie Griffen Cohen 2 The Politics of the Body Documents Ruth Roach Pierson 3 The Mainstream Women s Movement and the Politics of Difference Documents Ruth Roach Pierson 4 Social Policy and Social Services Documents Marjorie Griffen Cohen 5 Women Law and the Justice System Documents Paula Bourne 6 Women Culture and Communications Philinda Masters Permissions Index      Inuit Women Janet Mancini Billson, Kyra Mancini, 2007 Inuit Women is the definitive study of the Inuit during a time of rapid change Based on fourteen years of research and fieldwork this analysis focuses on the challenges facing Inuit women as they enter the twenty first century Written shortly after the creation of Nunavut a new province carved out of traditional Inuit homelands in the Canadian North this compelling book combines conclusions drawn from the authors ethnographic research with the stories of Inuit women and men told in their own words In addition to their presentation of the personal portraits and voices of many Inuit respondents Janet Mancini Billson and Kyra Mancini explore global issues the impact of rapid social change and Canadian resettlement policy on Inuit culture women s roles in society and gender relations in Baffin Island in the Eastern Arctic They also include an extensive section on how the newly created territory of Nunavut is impacting the lives of Inuit women and their families Working from a research approach grounded in feminist theory the authors involve their Inuit interviewees as full participants in the process This book stands alone in its attention to Inuit women s issues and lives and should be read by everyone interested in gender relations development modernization globalization and Inuit culture      Through the Northern Looking Glass Lorelei A. Lambert, 1996 These Northern Native Women survive in spite of the harshness of their lives in the boreal forest and tundra They care for and deliver newborn infants far from cities clinics hospitals malls and pharmacies Throughout history women have healed one another Among Native Peoples oral histories and traditional storytelling have always been essential to cultural survival In this book thirteen Northern Native women relate their experiences as survivors of breast cancer They speak about how they adapted to the disease and look in particular at the ties they have built with family friends and their environment The book also examines the clashing and blending of medical technology with traditional Native healing methods An unusual and unique book      Writing Women's History Karen M. Offen, Ruth Roach Pierson, Jane Rendall, 1991-08-23 Five essays address such themes as the relationship between feminist history and women s history the use of the concept of experience the development of the history of gender demographic history and women s history and the importance of post structuralism to women s history      Understanding Canada Wallace

Clement,1997 The new Canadian political economy has emerged from its infancy and is now regarded as a respected and innovative field of scholarship Understanding Canada furthers this tradition by focusing on current issues in an accessible and informative way Giving Birth in Canada, 1900-1950 Wendy Mitchinson,2002-01-01 A fascinating account of childbirth rituals in the first half of the twentieth century from the initial diagnosis of pregnancy through childbirth who was present and where it took place to the definition of what constituted a normal birth The Satellite Sex Barbara M. Freeman,2001-05-02 Citing a lack of strong feminist voices in contemporary Canadian media Freeman journalism Carleton U Ottawa was motivated to write this first book length analysis of news media coverage of women's issues in Canada The period 1966-1971 is seen as a critical period in Canadian feminist history during which time the Canadian government appointed a federal inquiry into women's issues the Royal Commission on the Status of Women Freeman examines the relationship between the Commission and the media the reporters' understandings of professional practice and the ways in which they covered issues from the hearings and the Commission's Report She argues that an understanding of media coverage of gender issues in the past may lead to thoughtful and effective coverage now and in the future Accessible to a general audience c Book News Inc

Development of Aboriginal People's Communities Peter Douglas Elias,1991 This study examines the historical context of aboriginal Indian Métis Inuit socio-economic development in Canada depicts current trends and future developments offers models for the formulation of successful development strategies and looks at long-term prospects and serves as a text for those studying the field for the purpose of professional training The Arctic Promise Natalia Loukacheva,2007-01-01 In Canada's Eastern Arctic and Greenland the Inuit have been the majority for centuries In recent years they have been given a promise from Canadian and Danish governments that offers them more responsibility for their lands and thus control over their lives without fear of being outnumbered by outsiders The Arctic Promise looks at how much the Inuit vision of self-governance relates to the existing public governance systems of Greenland and Nunavut and how much autonomy there can be for territories that remain subordinate units of larger states By means of a bottom-up approach involving cultural immersion contextual jurisprudential and historical legal comparisons of Greenland and Nunavut The Arctic Promise examines the forms evolution and scope of the right to autonomy in these Arctic jurisdictions Loukacheva argues that the right to autonomy should encompass or protect Inuit jurisdiction in legal systems and the administration of justice and should allow the Inuit direct participation in international affairs where issues that affect their homelands are concerned The Arctic Promise deals with areas of comparative constitutional law international law Aboriginal law legal anthropology political science and international relations using each to contribute to the understanding of the right to indigenous autonomy Changing Women, Changing History Diana Lynn Pedersen,1996 Changing Women Changing History is a bibliographic guide to the scholarship both English and French on Canadian's women's history Organized under broad subject headings and accompanied by author and subject indices it is accessible and comprehensive Childbirth

Aboriginal Health in Canada James Waldram, D. Ann Herring, T. Kue Young, 2006-07-30 Numerous studies inquiries and statistics accumulated over the years have demonstrated the poor health status of Aboriginal peoples relative to the Canadian population in general Aboriginal Health in Canada is about the complex web of physiological psychological spiritual historical sociological cultural economic and environmental factors that contribute to health and disease patterns among the Aboriginal peoples of Canada The authors explore the evidence for changes in patterns of health and disease prior to and since European contact up to the present They discuss medical systems and the place of medicine within various Aboriginal cultures and trace the relationship between politics and the organization of health services for Aboriginal people They also examine popular explanations for Aboriginal health patterns today and emphasize the need to understand both the historical cultural context of health issues as well as the circumstances that give rise to variation in health problems and healing strategies in Aboriginal communities across the country An overview of Aboriginal peoples in Canada provides a very general background for the non specialist Finally contemporary Aboriginal healing traditions the issue of self determination and health care and current trends in Aboriginal health issues are examined Uqalurait John Bennett, Susan Diana Mary Rowley, 2004 Uqalurait pointed snowdrifts formed by Arctic blizzards would tell us which direction to go in says elder Mariano Aupilarjuk This oral history guided by the traditional knowledge of Inuit elders from across Nunavut also follows the uqalurait with thousands of quotes from elders on a wide range of subjects Living the Changes Joan Turner, 1990-12-01 Living the Changes explores the nature and extent of women's changing realities. The contributors include writers, artists, academics, street kids, and social workers and range in age from nine to seventy-three. Their topics reflect the diversity and complexity of the concerns of contemporary women: birthing and aging, body image, culture, drugs, violence, sexual abuse, prostitution, reproductive technology, and spirituality.

Lesbian Teachers Madiha Didi Khayatt, 1992-01-01 Teachers in general are hired to conform with set values of the community which hires them. They are expected to reflect conventions which correspond with an ideological model of behavior sanctioned by the state and by the community in which they work. In a publicly funded educational system, not only are teachers expected to transmit dominant ideologies but as representatives of the state, they are assumed to embody the dominant values of the society which hires them. The notion of lesbian teachers inevitably contradicts mainstream assumptions about female teachers: women whose image stereotypically corresponds with and implicitly conveys traditional female virtues of purity, dedication, and nurturance. Using an analysis that combines feminist concepts of patriarchy with Gramsci's notion of hegemony, this book is an institutional ethnography which begins from the standpoint of lesbian teachers but at the same time locates their experiences in the immediate social organization from which they arise and which gives them meaning. Through intensive interviews with nineteen lesbian teachers, Khayatt explores these women's lives as they themselves describe them. How do they conceal their sexuality? How do lesbian teachers cope in the classroom? How do they deal with their perceived need to live a double life? To whom do they come out? Why do they feel unsafe to be out despite the potential protection of legal rights? And finally, what would they stand to lose if found out?

Gender Conflicts Franca Iacovetta, Mariana Valverde, 1992-01-01 In the early 1970s, when women's history began to claim attention as an emerging discipline in North American universities, it was dominated by a middle-class Anglo-Saxon bias. Today, the field is much more diverse, a development reflected in the scope of this volume. Rather than documenting the experiences of women solely in a framework of gender analysis, its authors recognize the interaction of race, class, and gender as central in shaping women's lives and men's. These essays represent an exciting breakthrough in women's studies, expanding the borders of the discipline while breaking down barriers between mainstream and women's history.

Nuvisavik Maria Von Finkenstein, 2002-02-07 In 1970, a small group of young Inuit women in Pangnirtung on Baffin Island began to tell a story, a story about their past, their culture, their lives, a story told through woven pictures. The first book dedicated to the art form of tapestry weaving, Nuvisavik shows how weaving became a bridge between nomadic camp life and life in a permanent settlement. The tapestries, meticulously woven by women trained by their mothers, as seamstresses portray images wistfully remembered by elders in the community and captured by local artists. Both the drawings and the tapestries convey the pride of the Inuit in their culture. The tapestries are presented against a rich cultural and historical context. Two of the essays in the book are based on interviews with elders and reflect the colourful history of the Cumberland Sound where sustained contact between Inuit and Americans and Scots began as early as the mid nineteenth century The cultural content of the tapestries is discussed by members of the Inuit community decoding otherwise enigmatic and puzzling images A wonderful blend of art history and cultural history Nuvisavik will entertain the scholar and art collector as well as readers with a special interest in the history of the Canadian North Contributors include July Papatsie a well established artist from Pangnirtung who brings his personal background and knowledge of his culture to his writing Deborah Hickman a tapestry weaver herself who was general manager and artistic advisor to the Pangnirtung Tapestry Studio from 1980 to 1983 Cathleen Knotsch a researcher who specializes in issues pertaining to the Canadian Eastern Arctic and Maria von Finckenstein
