Christians frequently come into conflict with themselves and others over such matters as music popular culture and worship style Yet they usually lack any theology of art or taste adequate to deal with aesthetic disputes In this provocative book Frank Burch Brown offers a constructive ecumenical approach to artistic taste and aesthetic judgment a non elitist but discriminating theological aesthetics that has teeth but no fangs While grounded in history and theory this book takes up such practical questions as How can one religious community accommodate a variety of artistic tastes What good or harm can be done by importing music that is worldly in origin into a house of worship How can the exercise of taste in the making of art be a viable and sometimes advanced spiritual discipline In exploring the complex relation between taste religious imagination and faith Brown offers a new perspective on what it means to be spiritual religious and indeed Christian

Taste Sarah E. Worth,2021-11-11 A thoughtful consideration of taste as a sense and an idea and of how we might jointly develop both When we eat we eat the world taking something from outside and making it part of us But what does it taste of And can we develop our taste In Taste Sarah Worth argues that taste is a sense that needs educating for the real pleasures of eating only come with an understanding of what one really likes From taste as an abstract concept to real examples of food she explores how we can learn about and develop our sense of taste through themes ranging from pleasure authenticity and food fraud to visual images recipes and food writing
