Good Times Hard Times The Past And The Future In Elizabeth:

Inequality in Australia Alastair Greig, Frank Lewins, Kevin White, 2003-02-17 This text seeks to analyse and explain inequality challenging traditional conceptions and providing a new critical perspective The authors provide a comprehensive historical account of inequality and show how that account no longer adequately explains the new and different forms of inequality experienced in recent decades As society has changed they argue new forms of inequality have emerged conditioning the subject's very experience of identity embodiment and politics The book is at once a critical overview of contemporary inequality and a thorough going textbook suitable for undergraduates Good Times, Hard Times Mark Peel, 1995 Good Times Hard Times is local history with a difference Mark Peel presents a passionate view of a place where ordinary Australians built a new community and new lives only to see them undermined by the profound economic and social changes that have accompanied our transition from the relative prosperity of the 1960s to the uncertainties of the 1990s The South Australian town of Elizabeth stands as a powerful example for all such communities throughout Australia Founded as a model town in the 1950s Elizabeth has experienced the most important changes of modern Australia the hopes and failures of postwar town planning and reconstruction the flow of migrants and working people into new suburbs on the fringes of Australian cities the impact of economic downturns on these people's fortunes in the 1970s and 1980s the growth and decay of manufacturing the changing attitudes of governments and other institutions to inequality and poverty Mark Peel examines the structural roots of these changes and his insight into the often devastating human consequences of economically driven decision making gives the book its power BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Population, Migration and Settlement in Australia and the Asia-Pacific Natascha Klocker, Olivia Dun, 2018-12-07 The chapters in this book reflect on the work of seminal Australian geographer the late Professor Graeme Hugo Graeme Hugo was widely respected because of his impressive contributions to scholarship and policy in the fields of migration population and development which spanned several decades This collection of works contains contributions from authors whose own research has been influenced by Hugo and includes numerous authors who worked closely with Hugo throughout his career The collection provides an opportunity to reflect on Hugo's legacy and also to foreground contemporary scholarship in his key areas of research focus The chapters are organised into two thematic threads Part I contains works relating to Population Migration and Settlement in Australia while Part II focuses on Labour and Environmental Migration in the Asia Pacific Together these two thematic threads provide broad coverage of Graeme Hugo's key areas of research focus The chapters also serve as a reminder of Hugo's steadfast concern with producing careful scholarship for the public good and seek to prompt continued work in this vein The chapters originally published in special issues in Australian Geographer The Power of Planning Oren Yiftachel, Jo Little, David Hedgcock, Ian Alexander, 2012-12-06 The book addresses critically the question What is the societal impact of urban and regional planning

It begins with a theoretical discussion and then analyses through a series of case studies the intentions contents struggles and consequences of urban and regional planning It shows that plans and policies often defy the commonly perceived role of advancing equality justice development and amenity by causing social problems marginalisation and inequalities The book looks at planning from a critical distance without a priori belief in its necessity or usefulness The 12 chapters written by renowned international scholars demonstrate the multiplicity of social and political struggles over the contested terrain of spatial policies The book focuses on four key areas where the impact of planning is explored the community power gender relations ethnic tensions and social polarisation while comparing three societies Australia Israel and England Audience This volume is mainly intended for faculty and students of academia but also for urban professionals and policy makers The book is relevant to fields such as urban and regional planning geography political science urban studies urban sociology urban anthropology ethnic and gender relations

Fatness, Obesity, and Disadvantage in the Australian Suburbs Megan Warin,Tanya Zivkovic,2019-03-18 This ethnography takes the reader into the Australian suburbs to learn about food eating and bodies during the highly political context of one of Australia s largest childhood obesity interventions While there is ample evidence about the number of people who are overweight or obese and an abundance of information about what and how to eat obesity remains a problem in high income countries such as Australia Rather than rely on common assumptions that people are making all the wrong choices this volume reveals the challenges of eating healthy when money is scarce and how different versions of being fat and doing fat happen in everyday worlds of precarity Without acknowledgement of the multiple realities of fatness and obesity interventions will continue to have limited reach

Reimagining Class in Australia Henry Paternoster,2017-09-21 This book re evaluates New Left and Marxist texts from the 1980s in order to explore problems facing the study of class which have emerged within Australian and international theories The author contrasts the popular ideas of Connell Bourdieu and the Death of Class thesis with those of lesser known texts concluding that no single definition can account for the various historical meanings of class Instead loosely following Castoriadis the concept of class can best be understood as creatively imagined and institutionalised Paternoster proposes that class is best studied through historical phenomenology which can be used to link political economy cultural sociology and anthropological ethnographies This approach allows the contributions of Marxist and New Left authors to be reintegrated with contemporary theories Doing so highlights the significance of labour populism while cautioning against the ahistorical applications of texts such as Bourdieu s Distinction Reimagining Class in Australia will be of interest to students and scholars across a range of disciplines including sociology history political economy and anthropology

The Other Sydney Jock Collins, Scott Poynting, 2000 The western and south western suburbs of Sydney are the heart of Sydney s cultural diversity where most of Sydney s immigrants live and which gives it a complex changing character at odds with the often negative stereotypes that dominate the media This set of papers looks behind the stereotype at the social reality

The Price of Prosperity Richard Taylor, Peter Saunders, 2002 While our leaders celebrate Australia s economic miracle unemployment particularly long term unemployment has become a permanent feature of Australia s economic landscape Its unacceptably high level has proved remarkably resistant in the face of sustained economic growth and increased prosperity The adverse economic and social consequences of high unemployment are likely to leave long term scars on those affected as well as on local communities and the entire fabric of Australian society Yet these effects rarely feature on the policy agenda and the costs of unemployment remain largely invisible

Understanding Trust in Government Scott E. Robinson, James W. Stoutenborough, Arnold Vedlitz, 2017-04-28 Growing disenfranchisement with political institutions and policy processes has generated interest in trust in government For the most part research has focused on trust in government as a general attitude covering all political institutions In this book Scott E Robinson James W Stoutenborough and Arnold Vedlitz argue that individual agencies develop specific reputations that may contrast with the more general attitudes towards government as a whole Grounded in a treatment of trust as a relationship between two actors and taking the Environmental Protection Agency as their subject the authors illustrate that the agency's reputation is explained through general demographic and ideological factors as well as policy domain factors like environmentalism The book presents results from two approaches to assessing trust 1 a traditional attitudinal survey approach and 2 an experimental approach using the context of hydraulic fracturing While the traditional attitudinal survey approach provides traditional answers to what drives trust in the EPA the experimental results reveal that there is little specific trust in the EPA across the United States Robinson Stoutenborough and Vedlitz expertly point the way forward for more reliable assessments of trust while demonstrating the importance of assessing trust at the agency level This book represents a much needed resource for those studying both theory and methods in Public Administration and Public Policy
