Evening News Eileen Reeves, 2014-03-11 Eileen Reeves examines a web of connections between journalism optics and astronomy in early modern Europe devoting particular attention to the ways in which a long standing association of reportage with covert surveillance and astrological prediction was altered by the near simultaneous emergence of weekly newsheets the invention of the Dutch telescope and the appearance of Galileo Galilei's astronomical treatise The Starry Messenger Early modern news writers and consumers often understood journalistic texts in terms of recent developments in optics and astronomy Reeves demonstrates even as many of the first discussions of telescopic phenomena such as planetary satellites lunar craters sunspots and comets were conditioned by accounts of current events She charts how the deployment of particular technologies of vision the telescope and the camera obscura were adapted to comply with evolving notions of objectivity censorship and civic awareness Detailing the differences between various types of printed and manuscript news and the importance of regional national and religious distinctions Evening News emphasizes the ways in which information moved between high and low genres and across geographical and confessional boundaries in the first decades of the seventeenth century The School News and Practical Educator, 1904 The American Architect and Building News, 1884 The Illustrated London News, 1863 News Networks in Early Modern Europe, 2016-06-27 News Networks in Early Modern Europe attempts to redraw the history of European news communication in the 16th and 17th centuries News is defined partly by movement and circulation yet histories of news have been written overwhelmingly within national contexts This volume of essays explores the notion that early modern European news in all its manifestations manuscript print and oral is fundamentally transnational These 37 essays investigate the language infrastructure and circulation of news across Europe They range from the 15th to the 18th centuries and from the Ottoman Empire to the Americas focussing on the mechanisms of transmission the organisation of networks the spread of forms and modes of news communication and the effects of their translation into new locales and languages Dutch and Flemish Newspapers of the Seventeenth Century, 1618-1700 (2 Vols.) Arthur der Weduwen, 2017-11-06 Winner of the 2019 Menno Hertzberger Encouragement Prize for Book History and Bibliography In Dutch and Flemish Newspapers of the Seventeenth Century Arthur der Weduwen presents the first comprehensive account of the early newspaper in the Low Countries Composed of two volumes this survey provides detailed introductions and bibliographical descriptions of 49 newspapers surviving in over 16 000 issues in 84 archives and libraries This work presents a crucial overview of the first fledgling century of newspaper publishing and reading in one of the most advanced political cultures of early modern Europe Seventy years after Folke Dahl s Dutch Corantos first documented early Dutch newspapers Der Weduwen offers a brand new approach to the bibliography of the early modern periodical press This includes amongst others a description of places of correspondence listed in each surviving newspaper The bibliography is accompanied by an extensive introduction of the Dutch and Flemish press in the seventeenth century What emerges is a picture of a highly competitive and dynamic market for news in which innovative publishers constantly adapt to the changing tastes of customers and pressures from authorities at home and abroad The Building News and Engineering Journal ,1921 Women Letter-Writers in Tudor England James Daybell,2006-06-29 Women Letter Writers in Tudor England represents one of the most comprehensive study of women s letters and letter writing during the early modern period to be undertaken and acts as an important corrective to traditional ways of reading and discussing letters as private elite male and non political Based on over 3 000 manuscript letters it shows that letter writing was a larger and more socially diversified area of female activity than has been hitherto assumed In that letters constitute the largest body of extant sixteenth century women s writing the book initiates a reassessment of women s education and literacy in the period As indicators of literacy letters yield physical evidence of rudimentary writing activity and abilities document higher forms of female literacy and highlight women s mastery of formal rhetorical and epistolary conventions Women Letter Writers in Tudor England also stresses that letters are unparalleled as intimate and immediate records of family relationships and as media for personal and self reflective forms of female expression Read as documents that inscribe social and gender relations letters shed light on the complex range of women s personal relationships as female power and authority fluctuated negotiated on an individual basis Furthermore correspondence highlights the important political roles played by early modern women Female letter writers were integral in cultivating and maintaining patronage and kinship networks they were active as suitors for crown favour and operated as political intermediaries and patrons in their own right using letters to elicit influence Letters thus help to locate differing forms of female power within the family locality and occasionally on the wider political stage and offer invaluable primary evidence from which to reconstruct the lives of early modern women
