Fondness And Frustration:

The Governance of Climate Change David Held, Marika Theros, Angus Fane-Hervey, 2013-05-09 Climate change poses one of the greatest challenges for human society in the twenty first century yet there is a major disconnect between our actions to deal with it and the gravity of the threat it implies In a world where the fate of countries is increasingly intertwined how should we think about and accordingly how should we manage the types of risk posed by anthropogenic climate change The problem is multi faceted and involves not only technical and policy specific approaches but also questions of social justice and sustainability In this volume the editors have assembled a unique range of contributors who together examine the intersection between the science politics economics and ethics of climate change The book includes perspectives from some of the world s foremost commentators in their fields ranging from leading scientists to political theorists to high profile policymakers and practitioners They offer a critical new approach to thinking about climate change and help express a common desire for a more equitable society and a more sustainable way of life

Love Letter to a Conflicted Church

Richard P. Olson, 2010-01-01 The book is organized into three divisions and as the title implies there is a brief letter in the form of a New Testament epistle to the contemporary church a portion of which begins each chapter The first division reexamines the gifts and redemptive possibilities of anger and conflict The barriers to healthy anger conflict are considered and addressed In the second attention is given to conflicts surrounding the Bible There is a chapter on conflict and reconciliation in the Bible followed by suggestions on how people who read the Bible differently from each other can resolve some of those differences Consideration is also given to discovering biblical priorities for the contemporary church The third division offers vistas of change and reconciliation Parables of hope and promise are provided Insights from the studies of persons and communities as well as ethics and theology are summarized There is reflection on those unresolved conflicts that continue in spite of our best efforts Then moral imagination is engaged to visualize the opportunities for a church that moves beyond its present stalemates
