Ancient and Traditional Foods, Plants, Herbs and Spices used in Cancer Rajkumar Rajendram,Victor Preedy,Vinood Patel,2023-10-11 The use of different foods herbs and spices to treat or prevent disease has been recorded for thousands of years Egyptian papyrus hieroglyphics and ancient texts from the Middle East have described the cultivation and preparations of herbs and botanicals to cure the sick There are even older records from China and India Some ancient scripts describe the use of medicinal plants which have never been seen within European cultures Indeed all ancient civilizations have pictorial records of different foods herbs and spices being used for medical purposes However there are fundamental questions pertaining to the scientific evidence for the use of these agents or their extracts in modern medicine There have been considerable advances in scientific techniques over the last few decades These have been used to examine the composition and applications of traditional cures Modern science has also seen the investigation of herbs spices and botanicals beyond their traditional usage For example plants which have been used for digestion or medical ills since time immemorial are now being investigated for anti cancer properties or their toxicity using high throughput screening Techniques also include molecular biology cellular biochemistry physiology endocrinology and even medical imaging

However much of the material relating to the scientific basis or applications of traditional foods herbs spices and botanicals is scattered among various sources The widespread applicability of foods or botanicals is rarely described and cautionary notes on toxicity are often ignored These questions are explored in Ancient and Traditional Foods Plants Herbs and Spices used in Cancer Features Provides an evidenced based approach in describing usage and applications of traditional foods and botanicals in prevention and treatment of cancer Contains chapters on biomedical research related to cancer studies Discusses extraction and analysis of active agents in vitro studies pre clinical investigations in animals and clinical studies Bridges modern day sciences with historical backgrounds related to foods and plants With contributions from leading international experts including those from world renowned institutions this book is a reference for oncologists physicians health scientists healthcare workers pharmacologists and research scientists

for plant use as medicine is 60 000 years old as reported from the Neanderthal grave in Iraq The importance of plants as medicine is further supported by archeological evidence from Asia and the Middle East Today around 1.4 billion people in South Asia alone have no access to modern health care and rely instead on traditional medicine to alleviate various symptoms On a global basis approximately 50 to 80 thousand plant species are used either natively or as pharmaceutical derivatives for life threatening conditions that include diabetes hypertension and cancers As the demand for plant based medicine rises there is an unmet need to investigate the quality safety and efficacy of these herbals by the scientific methods Current research on drug discovery from medicinal plants involves a multifaceted approach combining botanical phytochemical analytical and molecular techniques For instance high throughput robotic screens have been developed by industry it is now possible to carry out 50 000 tests per day in the search for compounds which act on a key enzyme or a subset of receptors This and other bioassays thus offer hope that one may eventually identify compounds for treating a variety of diseases or conditions However drug development from natural products is not without its problems Frequent challenges encountered include the procurement of raw materials the selection and implementation of appropriate high throughput bioassays and the scaling up of preparative procedures Research scientists should therefore arm themselves with the right tools and knowledge in order to harness the vast potentials of plant based therapeutics The main objective of Plant and Human Health is to serve as a comprehensive guide for this endeavor Volume 1 highlights how humans from specific areas or cultures use indigenous plants Despite technological developments herbal drugs still occupy a preferential place in a majority of the population in the third world and have slowly taken roots as alternative medicine in the West The integration of modern science with traditional uses of herbal drugs is important for our understanding of this ethnobotanical relationship Volume 2 deals with the phytochemical and molecular characterization of herbal medicine Specifically It will focus on the secondary metabolic compounds which afford protection against diseases Lastly Volume 3 focuses on the physiological mechanisms by which the active ingredients of medicinal plants serve to improve human health Together this three volume collection intends to bridge the gap for herbalists traditional and modern medical practitioners and students and researchers in botany and horticulture

Application of Analytical Chemistry to Foods and Food Technology Daniele Naviglio,Monica Gallo,2021-02-22 The application of analytical chemistry to the food sector allows the determination of the chemical composition of foods and the properties of their constituents contributing to the definition of their nutritional and commodity value Furthermore it is possible to study the chemical modifications that food constituents undergo as a result of the treatments they undergo food technology Food analysis therefore allows us not only to determine the quality of a product or its nutritional value but also to reveal adulterations and identify the presence of xenobiotic substances potentially harmful to human health Furthermore some foods especially those of plant origin contain numerous substances with beneficial effects on health While these functional compounds can be obtained from a correct diet they can also be extracted from food matrices for the formulation of nutraceutical products or added to foods by technological or biotechnological means for the production of functional foods On the other hand the enormous growth of the food industry over the last 50 years has broadened the field of application of analytical chemistry to encompass not only food but also food technology which is fundamental for increasing the production of all types of food
