Securing food for all in Bangladesh Ahmed, Akhter, ed., Islam, Nurul, ed., Mujeri, Mustafa K., ed., 2021-11-05 Securing Food for All in Bangladesh presents an array of research that collectively address four broad issues 1 agricultural technology adoption 2 input use and agricultural productivity 3 food security and output market and 4 poverty food security and women s empowerment The fifteen chapters of the book address diverse aspects within these four themes Access to sufficient food by all people at all times to meet their dietary needs is a matter of critical importance Despite declining arable agricultural land Bangladesh has made commendable progress in boosting domestic food production The growth in overall food production has been keeping ahead of population growth resulting in higher per capita availability of food over time In the early 1970s Bangladesh was a food deficit country with a population of about 75 million Today the population is 165 million and the country is now self sufficient in rice production which has tripled over the past three decades Along with enhanced food production increased income has improved people s access to food Furthermore nutritional outcomes have improved significantly Nevertheless the challenges to food and nutrition security remain formidable Future agricultural growth and food and nutrition security are threatened by population growth worsening soil fertility diminishing access to land and other scarce natural resources increasing vulnerability of crop varieties to pests and diseases and persistent poverty leading to poor access to food In addition the impacts of climate change an increase in the incidence of natural disasters sea intrusion and salinity will exacerbate food and nutrition insecurity in the coming decades if corrective measures are not taken Aligned with this context the authors of the book explore policy options and strategies for developing agriculture and improving food security in Bangladesh Securing Food for All in Bangladesh with its breadth and scope will be an invaluable resource for policymakers researchers and students dedicated to improving people s livelihoods in Bangladesh
