Burdened Children Nancy D. Chase, 1999-04-20 Editor Nancy Chase defines parentified children as parents to their parents those are the children who are compelled to fulfill the role of parent at the expense of their own developmentally appropriate needs and pursuits With uncanny sensibilities these children are attuned to their parents moods wishes vulnerabilities and nuances This volume is a comprehensive study of parentification in the family covering both theoretical as well as clinical topics Contributors have written chapters that are grouped into two sections theory and research and clinical and broader contextual perspectives Part One of this book covers research related to parentification and gender work addiction families with a disabled or chronically ill child and assessment for clinical or research practices

The chapters having a stronger clinical or contextual emphasis address varied interventions and theoretical orientations and posit parentification in cultural and ethnic contexts. Students, academics, and professionals in areas of family studies, social work, child abuse, developmental psychology, school psychology, and family therapy will find Burdened Children an excellent resource on this phenomenon.

Psychodynamic Treatment of Anorexia Nervosa and Bulimia Craig Johnson, 1991-01-01. Recent research has indicated that approximately one third of the patients who present with disordered eating also have significant personality disorders or Axis II co-morbidity. These patients are difficult to treat and usually require longer term informed individual psychotherapy. This important volume addresses the challenges of treating these patients with chapters written by established psychodynamically oriented clinicians who have been doing longer term treatment. Editor Craig Johnson has fashioned a valuable contribution to the continuing search for effective treatment interventions for this group of patients. This volume is aimed at clinicians and researchers working in the field of eating disorders.
