From China With Love Emily Buchanan, 2006-03-31 After suffering three miscarriages Emily Buchanan began to look overseas to adopt a child This is the moving and inspiring story of how she negotiated the bureaucratic minefield of foreign adoption rigorous suitability tests and her own ambivalence about motherhood The Globalization of Motherhood Wendy Chavkin, Jane Maree Maher, 2010-09-13 Brings together research from the Global North and the Global South to illuminate how contemporary motherhood is changed by the processes of globalization 2006 Lectures P J Marshall, 2007-12-27 Volume 151 of the Proceedings of the British Academy contains 15 Lectures delivered at the British Academy in 2006 From consideration of Einstein to discussions of coercion and consent in Nazi Germany and judicial independence The Dance of Identities John D. Palmer, 2010-10-04 Korean adoptees have a difficult time relating to any of the racial identity models because they are people of color who often grew up in white homes and communities Biracial and nonadopted people of color typically have at least one parent whom they can racially identify with which may also allow them access to certain racialized groups When Korean adoptees attempt to immerse into the Korean community they feel uncomfortable and unwelcome because they are unfamiliar with Korean customs and language The Dance of Identities looks at how Korean adoptees dance or engage with their various identities white Korean Korean adoptee and those in between and beyond and begin the journey toward self discovery and empowerment Throughout the author draws closely on his own experiences and those of thirty eight other Korean adoptees mainly from the U S Chapters are organized according to major themes that emerged from interviews with adoptees Wanting to be like White examines assimilation into a White middle class identity during childhood Although their White identity may be challenged at times for the most part adoptees feel accepted as honorary Whites among their families and friends Opening Pandora's Box discusses the shattering of adoptees early views on race and racism and the problems of being raised colorblind in a race conscious society Engaging and Reflecting is filled with adoptee voices as they discover their racial and transracial identities as young adults During this stage many engage in activities that they believe make more culturally Korean such as joining Korean churches and Korean student associations in college Questioning What I Have Done delves into the issues that arise when Korean adoptees explore their multiple identities and the possible effects on relationships with parents and spouses In Empowering Identities the author explores how adoptees are able to take control of their racial and transracial identities by reaching out to parents prospective parents and adoption agencies and by educating Korean and Korean Americans about their lives The final chapter Linking the Dance of Identities Theory to Life Experiences reiterates for adoptees parents adoption agencies and social justice activists and educators the need for identity journeys and the empowered identities that can result The Dance of Identities is an honest look at the complex nature of race and how we can begin to address race and racism from a fresh perspective It will be well received by not only members of the Korean adoption community and transracial parents but also Asian American scholars educators and social workers

International Advances in Adoption Research for Practice Gretchen Miller Wrobel, Elsbeth Neil, 2009-01-12 This is a unique compilation of cross cultural and international attitudes towards adoption research and outcomes Whilst informal adoption of children has probably always existed across all human societies this work is timely in that interest in the role of legal adoption as both a child welfare solution and as a means of alternative family formation for adults wanting to become parents has never been higher This book is an edited collection of 13 papers based on invited keynote presentations or paper symposia presentations given at the Second International Conference on Adoption Research ICAR2 2006 It gives a unique Cross cultural look at adoption from worldwide multidisciplinary community of distinguished and emerging adoption researchers International appeal with different countries laws attitudes and outcomes fully explored A Long Road from China Z. Charlie Li, 2019-07-11 This autobiography is a recount of my personal experiences in life The book starts with my farming and laborious works during my early childhood age in which I met extreme challenges When I was a young man because the doors to colleges were shut I became a young farmer working diligently only failing to achieve my goal of becoming an imperial food eater China's Open Door policy made my college dream and studying in the US come true Achieving master's and PhD degrees and becoming a US citizen were smooth sailing but becoming an entrepreneur was a challenge My dream of becoming financially independent was finally realized after fifteen years of hard work My success as a small business owner provides me with resources to help others through charity giving and donations Along my life journey I got tremendous support and help from my family Folktales of Love From China Chiu Yong Poon, 2017-03-27 Folktales of Love from China Can Help You Study the Last Book of the Bible 2nd Edition by Chiu Yong Poon Why did the casting of the miraculous medal and the making of the statue of the virgin of the Globe cause St Catherine Labouré so much anguish What hints at this answer Read this book in relation to its first edition published in China in 1989 the second edition adds material from the Cultural Exchange to every folktale of the first edition This second edition painstakingly designed and carefully constructed encourages Bible Study and can enrich the reader's appreciation of Marian apparition Shrines Read the book It has substantial content The works have a strong flavor of common people's literature When True Love Came to China Lynn Pan, 2015-11-01 The Guardian's Best Books of 2015 Most people suppose that the whole world knows what it is to love that romantic love is universal quintessentially human Such a supposition has to be able to meet three challenges It has to justify its underlying assumption that all cultures mean the same thing by the word love regardless of language It has to engage with the scholarly debate on whether or not romantic love was invented in Europe and is uniquely Western And it must be able to explain why early twentieth century Chinese writers claimed that they had never known true love or love by modern Western standards By addressing these three challenges through a literary historical philosophical biographical and above all comparative approach this highly original work shows how love's profile in China shifted with the rejection of arranged marriages and concubinage in favour of free individual choice monogamy and a Western model of romantic love

This book Lynn Pan's best to date adds a wonderful new angle by encouraging us via comparison to better appreciate how unusual even in some ways exotic a part of the Western past we take for granted as though it were natural actually is While the reader will learn a great deal about Chinese literary and cultural traditions from this book if read with an open mind the Western reader may end up rethinking things about his or her tradition just as deeply Jeffrey N Wasserstrom Chancellor's Professor of History University of California at Irvine Nobody writes about China quite as brilliantly as Lynn Pan who in this new illuminating work on love showcases her trademark erudition entwined with a novelist's sensibility Pan's rare skill makes the book a treat from start to finish a sumptuous deft and moving analysis of China's relationship with love Mishi Saran author of Chasing the Monk's Shadow A Journey in the Footsteps of Xuanzang and The Other Side of Light New Books on Women and Feminism, 2013 Proceedings of the British Academy British Academy, 2007 The Catholic Periodical and Literature Index, 2005 The Chinese Dream: China, I Love You Martin Avery, 2016-02-09 The Chinese Dream China I Love You is an omnibus edition with three short novels and a short story all about love featuring a Canadian doctor who changes his name to Bethune and goes to China taking a cure for cancer with him to make millions going against the mainstream Western medication establishment and saving millions while making millions The Mother and Narrative Politics in Modern China Sally Taylor Lieberman, 1998 A modernist icon an object of forbidden desire a symbol of loss and suffering and an incorrigible survivor the mother takes all of these forms in Chinese literature from the 1920s and 1930s In an innovative analysis Sally Taylor Lieberman explores the meanings the maternal figure acquired at a particular place and time and then engages those meanings in a feminist rereading of the master narratives of modern Chinese intellectual and literary history Drawing on feminist literary criticism and the theories of Julia Kristeva Melanie Klein and Sigmund Freud Lieberman breaks traditional analytical boundaries as she explores the place of the mother in the ideological struggles through which the modern Chinese canon attained its present shape The Story of a Mother-love Annette Fitch-Brewer, 1913 Mother II L A Westfall, 2011-06-01 Description Mother II is the brave follow up to Mother LA Westfall's equally brave and revealing book on childhood abuse and depression Mother II brings the story up to date and focuses on how a childhood of abuse can affect the abused in adulthood This is the autobiography of a caring woman with a loving family and her struggle to see life through joy rather than pain Her schizophrenia wakes with her each day in the form of her biological mother's voice Only the love with which she is provided keeps her breathing About the Author I was born in London in the year 1962 I grew up spending most of my life in Essex first with abusive parents then in care homes until I was seventeen I found fantastic foster parents who loved me like their own I learnt to love and be loved too I met and married a wonderful man and sixteen years later he is not only my husband but my very best friend Together we have a son Richard and a daughter Nikki Family means everything to us I suffered with mental illness from a very young age But with the support of my family I always came through the other side If by writing this book I can help just one child then reliving it would have been worth while      India's Women and China's Daughters ,1899      The Sun in the Morning Mary Margaret Kaye,1990 Born to British parents from families with a tradition of service in India and China Kaye s conversation is rich with recollections of a carefree childhood in British governed India The Raj and of a more restricted adolescence in school at home In drab England so far from her real home and from her beloved father and social butterfly of a mother This rag bag of exotic and mundane scraps a metaphor that Kaye establishes in the foreword spills forth palpable scenes of family and folklore of friendships and of memorable events      Catalog of Copyright Entries Library of Congress.
