Geography, Education and the Future Graham Butt,2011-03-17

Knowledge and Music Education Graham J. McPhail,2022-08-05 Knowledge and Music Education A Social Realist Account explores current challenges for music education in relation to wider philosophical and political debates and seeks to find a way forward for the field by rethinking the nature and value of epistemic knowledge in the wake of postmodern critiques Focusing on secondary school music and considering changes in approaches to teaching over time this book seeks to understand the forces at play that enhance or undermine music s contribution to a socially just curriculum for all The author argues that the unique nature of disciplinary derived knowledge provides students with essential cognitive development and must be integrated with the turn to more inclusive student centred and culturally responsive teaching Connecting theoretical issues with concrete curriculum design the book considers how we can give music students the benefits of specialised subject knowledge without returning to a traditional past

Rethinking Knowledgeable Practice in Education Jim Hordern,2024-04-22 The concepts of knowledge and practice are frequently discussed in education but what is meant by these ideas and how do they relate to each other Drawing on recent research this book breaks new ground to provide novel approaches to conceptualising educational practice educational judgement and professional knowledge This text focuses on the relationship between knowledge and practice in the study of education developing the notion of knowledgeable practice with the aim of rethinking how we understand the knowledge practice relation in fields such as professional and vocational education teaching and curriculum studies It builds on studies in the sociology of educational knowledge and on theories of expertise and practice which emerge from more philosophical traditions By developing a nuanced notion of the relation between knowledge and practice that can serve in the further exploration of policy and practice contexts in education this book encourages critical engagement with how education is conceptualised in the light of the ongoing and emerging challenges that educators are facing today

The Curriculum of the Future Michael F. D. Young,2002-01-04 In this important book the author looks back on the knowledge question What knowledge gets selected to be validated as school knowledge or as part of the school curriculum and why is it selected Looking forward Young discusses how most developed countries have high levels of participation in post compulsory education but still use curricula designed for a time when only the elite pursued further education He argues the need to rethink post 16 education to shift focus onto vocational education school work issues and lifelong learning

Transforming our World Through Design, Diversity and Education Gerald Craddock,Cormac

Doran, Larry McNutt, Dónal Rice, 2018-10-15 Good design is enabling and each and every one of us is a designer Universal Design is widely recognized an important concept that should be incorporated in all person centred policies The United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities UNCRPD clearly stipulates that the most effective way of delivering on the promise of an inclusive society is through a Universal Design approach Sitting at the intersection of the fields of Higher Education and Universal Design this book presents papers delivered at the Universal Design and Higher Education in Transformation Congress UDHEIT2018 held in Dublin Ireland from 30 October to 2 November 2018 This event brings together key experts from industry education and government and non government organization sectors to share experiences and knowledge with all participants The 86 papers included here are grouped under 17 headings or themes ranging from education and digital learning through healthcare to engagement with industry and urban design Celebrating and integrating all that is good in design diversity and education this book will be a valuable resource for all those interested in the inspiring and empowering developments in both Universal Design and higher education Reconfiguring Knowledge in Higher Education Peter Maassen, Monika Nerland, Lyn Yates, 2018-02-28 Knowledge is now central to national economic competitiveness and to socio economic endeavours concerned with inequalities and social exclusion and in this context higher education is recognized as a core sector of national policy and strategy Yet the changing pressures directions and practices in relation to knowledge pose many challenges for higher education itself How can and how should research and study programs within higher education align with wider knowledge dynamics How can higher education prepare students in professional fields for different kinds of knowledge intensive work practices How can short term economic objectives for higher education be aligned with other kinds of knowledge objectives that have characterized universities and colleges and with the intensified impact of global rankings This book takes as its focus the core interest of higher education in knowledge and takes as its object of inquiry the kinds of reconfiguration of knowledge evident in national policies and governance and in the redevelopment and practices of a range of professional and academic study programs in higher education institutions in Norway and Australia From these detailed accounts the book demonstrates the complexity of knowledge as an object of policy and practice the competing logics that may be evident within and between study programs and policies and the different kinds of agents and drivers that are part of knowledge reconfiguration in higher education and that need further attention going forward Report on Chilean University Life ,1979 Knowing History in Schools Arthur Chapman ,2021-01-07 The knowledge turn in curriculum studies has drawn attention to the central role that knowledge of the disciplines plays in education and to the need for new thinking about how we understand knowledge and knowledge building Knowing History in Schools explores these issues in the context of teaching and learning history through a dialogue between the eminent sociologist of curriculum Michael Young and leading figures in history education research and practice from a range of traditions and contexts With a focus on Young s powerful knowledge theorisation of the curriculum and on his more recent articulations of the powers of knowledge this dialogue explores the many complexities posed for history education by the challenge of building children's historical knowledge and understanding The book builds towards a clarification of how we can best conceptualise knowledge building in history education Crucially it aims to help history education students history teachers teacher educators and history curriculum designers navigate the challenges that knowledge building processes pose for learning history in schools

Storying the Public Intellectual Pat Sikes, Yvonne Novakovic, 2019-10-17

Storying the Public Intellectual Commentaries on the Impact and Influence of the Work of Ivor Goodson offers a critical commentary on Goodson's work that avoids hagiography whilst recognising the global reach of his scholarship With contributors from around the world those who have collaborated with him or those who have taken up his work the book provides the sort of social and historical contextualising that Goodson has always advocated The accounts in this collection highlight how Goodson's integration of moral imperatives into strategically responsive scholarship can provide a useful roadmap when negotiating a path through the contemporary academic research landscape By using his historian's orientation and sensibilities he is able to get to the heart of the logics of schooling By connecting with other scholars and researchers around the world he exposes how the global neo liberal project plays out in particular settings and so challenges pervasive understandings about the meaning of global and the power of the neo liberal project itself This book is ideal reading for academics scholars and researchers in the field of education including those involved in initial and in service teacher education

Seven Myths About Education Daisy Christodoulou, 2014-03-14 In this controversial new book Daisy Christodoulou offers a thought provoking critique of educational orthodoxy Drawing on her recent experience of teaching in challenging schools she shows through a wide range of examples and case studies just how much classroom practice contradicts basic scientific principles She examines seven widely held beliefs which are holding back pupils and teachers Facts prevent understanding Teacher led instruction is passive The 21st century fundamentally changes everything You can always just look it up We should teach transferable skills Projects and activities are the best way to learn Teaching knowledge is indoctrination In each accessible and engaging chapter Christodoulou sets out the theory of each myth considers its practical implications and shows the worrying prevalence of such practice Then she explains exactly why it is a myth with reference to the principles of modern cognitive science She builds a powerful case explaining how governments and educational organisations around the world have let down teachers and pupils by promoting and even mandating evidence less theory and bad practice This blisteringly incisive and urgent text is essential reading for all teachers teacher training students policy makers head teachers researchers and academics around the world Recontextualising Geography in Education Mary Fargher,David Mitchell,Emma

Till,2021-11-10 In this book international geography educators discuss the ways in which geographical knowledge is recontextualised in schools and consider effective approaches to facilitate improve and advance geography education in research and practice It addresses key topics in recontextualising geography such as the epistemic relationships between the university discipline and the school subject designing and evaluating the geography curriculum the role of students in the transformation of knowledge in the classroom and selecting and transforming geographical content knowledge for the primary school curriculum At an international level the contributors and editors bring together an advanced collection of research and discussion surrounding the opportunities and challenges of recontextualising geography in education The book is of interest to geography educators internationally including academics at universities teachers in schools and professional geographers with an interest in education Knowledge, Policy and Practice in Education and the Struggle for

Social Justice: Essays Inspired by the Work of Geoff Whitty Andrew Brown,Emma Wisby,2020-04-01 For 50 years educator and sociologist Geoff Whitty resolutely pursued social justice through education first as a classroom teacher and ultimately as the Director of the Institute of Education in London The essays in this volume written by some of the most influential authors in the sociology of education and critical policy studies take Whitty s work as the starting point from which to examine key contemporary issues in education and the challenges to social justice that they present Set within three themes of knowledge policy and practice in education the chapters tackle the issues of defining and accessing legitimate knowledge the changing nature of education policy under neoliberalism and globalization and the reshaping of teacher workplaces and professionalism as well as attempts to realize more emancipatory practice Whitty s scholarship on what constitutes quality and impact in educational research is also explored Together the essays open a window on a life in the sociology of education the scholarly community of which it was part and the facets of education policy practice and research that they continue to reveal and challenge in pursuit of social justice They celebrate Whitty as one of the foremost sociologists of education of his generation but also as a friend and colleague And they highlight the continued relevance of his contribution to those seeking to promote fairer and more inclusive education systems Researching Student Learning in Higher Education Jennifer M. Case,2013-07-31 Many contemporary concerns in higher education focus on the student experience of learning With a larger and much more diverse intake than ever before linked with a declining unit of resource questions are being asked afresh around the purposes of higher education Although much of the debate is currently focused on issues of student access and success a simple input output model of higher education is insufficient This book turns this conversation on its head by inserting a full consideration of student agency into the context of higher education Working sociologically it explores the influence of the social context on what the individual student achieves The theoretical tenets of a social realist approach are laid out in detail in the book the potential value of this approach is then illustrated by a case study of student learning in engineering education Employing Margaret Archer's social realist theory an analysis of student narratives is used to work towards a realist understanding of the underlying mechanisms that constrain and enable student success Building on this analysis the book develops a novel set of proposals for potential ways forward in improving student learning in higher education

Knowledge-building Karl Maton, Susan Hood, Suellen Shay, 2015-10-08 Education and knowledge have never been more important to society yet research is segmented by approach methodology or topic Legitimation Code Theory or LCT extends and integrates insights from Pierre Bourdieu and Basil Bernstein to offer a framework for research and practice that overcomes segmentalism This book shows how LCT can be used to build knowledge about education and society Comprising original papers by an international and multidisciplinary group of scholars Knowledge building offers the first primer in this fast growing approach Through case studies of major research projects Part I provides practical insights into how LCT can be used to build knowledge by enabling dialogue between theory and data in qualitative research bringing together quantitative and qualitative methodologies in mixed methods research relating theory and practice in praxis conducting interdisciplinary studies with systemic functional linguistics Part II offers a series of studies of pressing issues facing knowledge building in education and beyond encompassing diverse subject areas including physics English cultural studies music and design educational sites schooling vocational education and higher education practices of research curriculum pedagogy and assessment both education and informal learning contexts such as museums and masonic lodges Carefully sequenced and interrelated these chapters form a coherent collection that gives a unique insight into one of the most thought provoking and innovative ways of building knowledge about knowledge building in education and society to have emerged this century This book is essential reading for all serious students and scholars of education sociology and linguistics

Placing Practitioner Knowledge at the Center of Teacher Education Margaret Macintyre Latta, Susan Wunder, 2012-05-01 Rethinking the Education Doctorate so that practitioner knowledge is at the center of programmatic concern in teacher education raises provocative education policy practice considerations Participants in the national Carnegie Project on the Education Doctorate CPED are doing just this Their accounts of rethinking what counts as educational knowledge and their reconsideration of the roles of teacher educators scholar practitioners students policy makers and others are illuminated in this book Asserting the primacy of practitioner knowledge the book generates a rich and complex terrain of issues and considerations that participating CPED institutions navigate as multiple technical normative and political questions at the crux of educator preparation professional growth and control of their field And it is this terrain that calls attention to the nature of practitioner knowledge and its inherent potential for redirecting mediating and generating education policy Conversations within and across national and local levels orient away from technical means ends what works questions alone and open into normative and political questions about educational value and professional action In documenting the largest most coordinated effort to rethink the educational doctorate in a century of such efforts this book will interest teacher educators and programs engaged in pre service and graduate level teacher education practicing K 16 teachers and education policy practice interest groups and individuals Illustrating a policy development method that is neither top down nor necessarily grass roots it also invites the interest of other educational sectors Additionally as CPED implementation contexts value interdisciplinarity multiple methodological perspectives and interactions and deliberations across interests the lived consequences and significances of doing so are mapped out and as such hold much potential for policy practice intersections within manifold education settings and beyond to settings of all kinds invested in the primacy of practitioner knowledge Thus a core goal of this volume is to broach these considerations with a broad readership
