PARADE STRUGGLES TO VICTORY DESPITE DISGRACEFUL SCENES

Nation Aroused by Open Insults to Women—Cause Wins Popular Sympathy—Congress Orders Investigation—Striking Object Lesson

Washington has been disgraced. Equal suffrage has scored a great victory. Thousands of patriotic women have been aroused. Insulted women have organized and the United States Senate demands an investigation of the treatment given the suffragists at the National Capital on Monday.

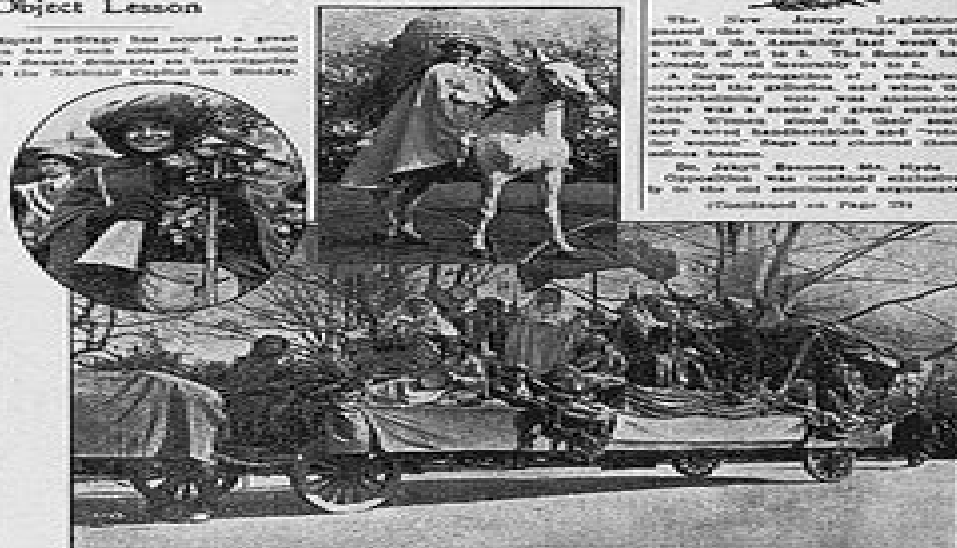

Two thousand women from all over the country had planned a peaceful, yet patriotic and grand, to take place in Washington on March 3. Artists, painters, designers, dressers, hairdressers and valets were ready to give a wonderful and beautiful place of suffrage work in the capital that would show the National Capital for the nation's capital. The suffragists were ready to take part in the parade, and the police permitted them to do so. When the police permitted them to do so, they had been promised, called them, and the leaders of the parade were ready to go. They were told that they would have a procession of 10,000 women, and that they would have a parade of 10,000 women. They were told that they would have a parade of 10,000 women, and that they would have a parade of 10,000 women.

The reason of all the trouble is explained when the facts are known. The police authorities in Washington expected every citizen to have a good parade at all. Starting from the National Capital to the National Capital, the suffragists were told to have a procession of their own on March 3. They were told that they would have a procession of 10,000 women, and that they would have a parade of 10,000 women. They were told that they would have a parade of 10,000 women, and that they would have a parade of 10,000 women.

Everything was at last arranged; it was a glorious day. The suffragists were ready to go. They were told that they would have a parade of 10,000 women, and that they would have a parade of 10,000 women. They were told that they would have a parade of 10,000 women, and that they would have a parade of 10,000 women.

At the same time, the police were told to have a parade of 10,000 women, and that they would have a parade of 10,000 women. They were told that they would have a parade of 10,000 women, and that they would have a parade of 10,000 women.

Not only were the suffragists so easily disappointed in having the parade.

AMENDMENT WINS IN NEW JERSEY

Easy Victory in Assembly 45 to 5—Equal Suffrage Enthusiasm Runs High

The New Jersey Legislature passed the women suffrage amendment in the Assembly last week by a vote of 45 to 5. The Senate had already voted favorably 14 to 3. A large delegation of suffragists attended the session, and when the amendment was introduced there was a scene of great enthusiasm. Senator Mr. Hyde's opposition was defeated unanimously by the 100 amendment vote.

MICHIGAN AGAIN CAMPAIGN STATE

Senate Passes Suffrage Amendment of 10 to 5 and Senate in New On Michigan is again a campaign state after a short lapse of four months. The amendment will go to the voters on April 5. The Statewide feeling that the women were determined of victory last fall will help the amendment.

The final action of the Legislature was taken last week, when the Senate, by a vote of 10 to 5, passed the suffrage amendment, with a slight amendment to make the requirement for Michigan women the same as those for male immigrants.

Senator William Osborn's amendment to the Senate failed on Tuesday and a quarter, and was then referred to the committee. Osborn's amendment was a very strong one, but it was not adopted. The amendment was a very strong one, but it was not adopted.

Gov. Fredson was among the visitors who crowded the chamber and gallery. Mrs. Clara B. Arthur, Mrs. William B. Brewster, Mrs. Wm. Van Hook, of Detroit, Mrs. John Law, of Detroit, and other State leaders were present, supported by a large delegation of ladies from Michigan.

The final word of the amendment was made by Governor Fredson on the day of passing of the amendment on November 1912, and this was the last word of the amendment.
