Fritz Lang The Image The Look:

Fritz Lang, the Image and the Look Stephen Jenkins, 1981 A Companion to Fritz Lang Joe

McElhaney, 2014-11-20 A Companion to Fritz Lang Fritz Lang's movie making spans a major part of the history of cinema across genres styles and national contexts With smartness and sharpness the essays in this essential volume come from many angles to capture the richness of Lang's cinema and bring great insight to its study Dana Polan Cinema Studies NYU Fritz Lang's influence on cinema cannot be overstated with a career that stretched from the silent era in Germany to the decline of the Hollywood studio system in the late 1950s from the Weimar Republic to Nazi Germany from Depression America to the McCarthy era One of the best known migrants from Germany's school of Expressionism Lang is also credited with influencing the emergence of film noir A Companion to Fritz Lang offers the first full scale collection of scholarship available in English on one of the most important filmmakers of all time Addressing much of Lang's voluminous body of work from Metropolis and M to lesser known titles such as Western Union and Clash by Night this volume offers a superb overview of Lang's cinema with revealing insights into his enduring influence on directors such as Godard Scorsese Chabrol and Tarantino The two dozen essays presented here are an unrivaled and up to the minute assessment of the prolific and resilient life and vision of one of cinema's greatest auteurs

The Films of Fritz Lang Tom Gunning, 2019-07-25 In this volume Tom Gunning examines the films of Fritz Lang not only as a stylistically coherent body of work but as an attempt to portray the modern world through cinema The world of modernity in which systems replace individuals is conveyed by Lang's mastery of cinematic set design composition and editing Lang presents not only a decades long vision of cinematic narrative which can be compared to that of Alfred Hitchcock or Jean Renoir but a view of modernity that relates strongly to the ideas of Adorno Brecht Benjamin and Kracauer From the sweeping allegorical films of the 20s to the chilly and abstract thrillers of the 50s Lang's films Gunning claims are among the most precious records of the twentieth century The Films of Fritz Lang immeasurably enriches our understanding of a great artist and in so doing reimagines what a filmmaker is an author who fades away even in being recognised and interpreted an enigmatic figure at the junction of aesthetics history biography and theory

The Persistence of Hollywood Thomas Elsaesser, 2012-05-22 While Hollywood's success its persistence has remained constant for almost one hundred years the study of its success has undergone significant expansion and transformation Since the 1960s Thomas Elsaesser's research has spearheaded the study of Hollywood beginning with his classic essays on auteurism and cinephilia focused around a director's themes and style up to his analysis of the corporate authorship of contemporary director James Cameron In between he has helped to transform film studies by incorporating questions of narrative genre desire ideology and more recently Hollywood's economic technological infrastructure and its place within global capitalism The Persistence of Hollywood brings together Elsaesser's key writings about Hollywood filmmaking It includes his detailed studies of individual directors including Minnelli Fuller Ray Hitchcock Lang Altman

Kubrick Coppola and Cameron as well as essays charting the shifts from classic to corporate Hollywood by way of the New Hollywood and the resurgence of the blockbuster The book also presents a history of the different critical theoretical paradigms central to film studies in its analysis of Hollywood from auteurism and cinephilia to textual analysis Marxism psychoanalysis and post industrial analysis

Weimar Cinema and After Thomas Elsaesser, 2013-04-15 German cinema of the 1920s is still regarded as one of the golden ages of world cinema Films such as The Cabinet of Dr Caligari Dr Mabuse the Gambler Nosferatu Metropolis Pandora's Box and The Blue Angel have long been canonised as classics but they are also among the key films defining an image of Germany as a nation uneasy with itself The work of directors like Fritz Lang F W Murnau and G W Pabst which having apparently announced the horrors of fascism while testifying to the traumas of a defeated nation still casts a long shadow over cinema in Germany leaving film history and political history permanently intertwined Weimar Cinema and After offers a fresh perspective on this most national of national cinemas re evaluating the arguments which view genres and movements such as films of the fantastic Nazi Cinema film noir and New German Cinema as typically German contributions to twentieth century visual culture Thomas Elsaesser questions conventional readings which link these genres to romanticism and expressionism and offers new approaches to analysing the function of national cinema in an advanced culture industry and in a Germany constantly reinventing itself both geographically and politically Elsaesser argues that German cinema's significance lies less in its ability to promote democracy or predict fascism than in its contribution to the creation of a community sharing a historical imaginary rather than a national identity In this respect he argues German cinema anticipated some of the problems facing contemporary nations in reconstituting their identities by means of media images memory and invented traditions

The Reel Middle Ages Kevin J. Harty, 2015-08-13 Those tales of old King Arthur Robin Hood The Crusades Marco Polo Joan of Arc have been told and retold and the tradition of their telling has been gloriously upheld by filmmaking from its very inception From the earliest of Georges Melies's films in 1897 to a 1996 animated Hunchback of Notre Dame film has offered not just fantasy but exploration of these roles so vital to the modern psyche St Joan has undergone the transition from peasant girl to self assured saint and Camelot has transcended the soundstage to evoke the Kennedys in the White House Here is the first comprehensive survey of more than 900 cinematic depictions of the European Middle Ages date of production country of origin director production company cast and a synopsis and commentary A bibliography index and over 100 stills complete this remarkable work

Eye of the Century Francesco Casetti, 2008-05-14 Is it true that film in the twentieth century experimented with vision more than any other art form And what visions did it privilege In this brilliant book acclaimed film scholar Francesco Casetti situates the cinematic experience within discourses of twentieth century modernity He suggests that film defined a unique gaze not only because it recorded many of the century's most important events but also because it determined the manner in which they were received Casetti begins by examining film's nature as a medium in an age obsessed with immediacy nearness and accessibility He considers the myths and rituals cinema constructed on the screen and in the theater and how they provided new images and behaviors that responded to emerging concerns ideas and social orders Film also succeeded in negotiating the different needs of modernity comparing and uniting conflicting stimuli providing answers in a world torn apart by conflict and satisfying a desire for everydayness as well as lightness in people's lives The ability to communicate the power to inform and the capacity to negotiate these are the three factors that defined film's function and outlook and made the medium a relevant and vital art form of its time So what kind of gaze did film create Film cultivated a personal gaze intimately tied to the emergence of point of view but also able to restore the immediacy of the real a complex gaze in which reality and imagination were combined a piercing gaze achieved by machine and yet deeply anthropomorphic an excited gaze rich in perceptive stimuli but also attentive to the spectator's orientation and an immersive gaze which gave the impression of being inside the seen world while also maintaining a sense of distance Each of these gazes combined two different qualities and balanced them The result was an ever inventive synthesis that strived to bring about true compromises without ever sacrificing the complexity of contradiction As Casetti demonstrates film proposed a vision that in making opposites permeable modeled itself on an oxymoronic principle In this sense film is the key to reading and understanding the modern experience Quentin Tarantino's Inglourious Basterds

Robert von Dassanowsky, 2012-06-28 A wide ranging study of Tarantino's controversial 2009 film written by a luminous line up of international scholars Incorporating Images Brigitte Peucker, 2014-07-14 Film a latecomer to the realm of artistic media alludes to absorbs and undermines the discourses of the other arts literature and painting especially in order to carve out a position for itself among them Exposing the anxiety in film's relation to its rival arts Brigitte Peucker analyzes central issues involved in generic boundary crossing as they pertain to film and situates them in a theoretical framework The figure of the human body takes center stage in Peucker's innovative study for it is through this figure that the conjunction of literary and painterly discourses persistently articulates itself It is through the human body too that film's consciousness of itself as a hybrid text and as a machine for simulation makes itself deeply felt In films ranging from Weimar cinema through Griffith Hitchcock and Greenaway Peucker probes issues in aesthetics problematized by Diderot and Kleist among others She argues that the introduction of movement into visual representation occasioned by film brings with it an underlying tension suggestive of castration and death Peucker goes on to demonstrate how the encounter between narrative and image is both gendered and sexualized rendering film a monstrous hybrid In a final section she explores in specific cinematic texts the permeable boundary between the real and representation suggesting how effects such as tableau vivant and trompe l'oeil figure sexuality and death Originally published in 1995 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905

The Lure of the Image Daniel Morgan, 2021-08-17 The Lure of the Image shows how a close study of camera movement challenges key assumptions underlying a wide range of debates within cinema and media studies Highlighting the shifting intersection of point of view and camera position Daniel Morgan draws on a range of theoretical arguments and detailed analyses across cinemas to reimagine the relation between spectator and camera and between camera and film world With sustained accounts of how the camera moves in films by Fritz Lang Guru Dutt Max Ophuls and Terrence Malick and in contemporary digital technologies The Lure of the Image exposes the persistent fantasy that we move with the camera within the world of the film and examines the ways that filmmakers have exploited this fantasy In so doing Morgan provides a more flexible account of camera movement one that enables a fuller understanding of the political and ethical stakes entailed by this key component of cinematic style

M Anton Kaes, 2019-07-25 Fritz Lang's M 1931 is an undisputed classic of world cinema Lang considered it his most lasting work Peter Lorre's extraordinary performance as the childlike misfit Hans Beckert was one of the most striking of film debuts and it made him an international star Lang's vision of a city gripped with fear haunted by surveillance and total mobilization is still remarkably powerful today And M resonates too in the serial killer genre which is so prominent in contemporary cinema M speaks to us as a timeless classic but also as a Weimar film that has too often been isolated from its political and cultural context In this groundbreaking book Anton Kaes reconnects M's much studied formal brilliance to its significance as an event in 1931 Germany recapturing the film's extraordinary social and symbolic energy Interweaving close reading with cultural history Kaes reconstitutes M as a crucial modernist artwork In addition he analyzes Joseph Losey's 1951 film noir remake and in an appendix publishes for the first time M's missing scene

Metropolis Thomas Elsaesser, 2012-07-30 Metropolis is a monumental work On its release in 1925 after sixteen months filming it was Germany's most expensive feature film a canvas for director Fritz Lang's increasingly extravagant ambitions Lang inspired by the skyline of New York created a whole new vision of cities One of the greatest works of science fiction the film also tells human stories about love and family Thomas Elsaesser explores the cultural phenomenon of Metropolis its different versions there is no definitive one its changing meanings and its role as a database of twentieth century imagery and ideologies In his foreword to this special edition published to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the BFI Film Classics series Elsaesser discusses the impact of the 27 minutes of lost footage discovered in Buenos Aires in 2008 and incorporated in a restored edition which premiered in 2010

Continental Strangers Gerd Gemünden, 2014-02-18 Hundreds of German speaking film professionals took refuge in Hollywood during the 1930s and 1940s making a lasting contribution to American cinema Hailing from Austria Hungary Poland Russia and the Ukraine as well as Germany and including Ernst

Lubitsch Fred Zinnemann Billy Wilder and Fritz Lang these multicultural multilingual writers and directors betrayed distinct cultural sensibilities in their art Gerd Gemünden focuses on Edgar G. Ulmer's The Black Cat 1934 William Dieterle's The Life of Emile Zola 1937 Ernst Lubitsch's To Be or Not to Be 1942 Bertold Brecht and Fritz Lang's Hangmen Also Die 1943 Fred Zinnemann's Act of Violence 1948 and Peter Lorre's Der Verlorene 1951 engaging with issues of realism auteurism and genre while tracing the relationship between film and history Hollywood politics and censorship and exile and re migration

The Death of Classical Cinema Joe McElhaney, 2006-10-19 A study of three classical filmmakers and the films they made at the cusp of the modernist movement in cinema

The Cinema Book Bloomsbury Publishing, 2019-07-25 The Cinema Book is widely recognised as the ultimate guide to cinema Authoritative and comprehensive the third edition has been extensively revised updated and expanded in response to developments in cinema and cinema studies Lavishly illustrated in colour this edition features a wealth of exciting new sections and in depth case studies Sections address Hollywood and other World cinema histories key genres in both fiction and non fiction film issues such as stars technology and authorship and major theoretical approaches to understanding film

The Rhythm of Images Domietta Torlasco, 2021-06-08 A rigorous and imaginative inquiry into rhythm's vital importance for film and the moving image Focusing attention on a concept much neglected in the study of film The Rhythm of Images opens new possibilities for thinking about expanded perception and idiosyncratic modes of being Author Domietta Torlasco engages with both philosophy and cinema to elaborate a notion of rhythm in its pre Socratic sense as a manner of flowing a fugitive mode that privileges contingency and calls up the forgotten fluidity of forms In asking what it would mean to take this rhythm as an ontological force in its own right she creatively draws on thinkers such as Giorgio Agamben Roland Barthes Gilles Deleuze and Luce Irigaray Rhythm emerges here as a form that eludes measure a key to redefining the relation between the aesthetic and the political and thus a pivotal means of resistance to power Working with constellations of films and videos by international artists from Michelangelo Antonioni Jean Luc Godard and David Lynch to Harun Farocki and Victor Burgin among others Torlasco brings to bear on them her distinctive concept of rhythm with respect to four interrelated domains life labor memory and medium With innovative readings of artworks and critical texts alike The Rhythm of Images fashions a vibrant provocative theory of rhythm as the excess or potential of perception Ultimately the book reconceives the relation between rhythm and the world making power of images The result is a vision of cinema as a hybrid medium endowed with the capacity not only to reinvent corporeal boundaries but also to find new ways of living together

David Bowie and the Moving Image Katherine Reed, 2022-12-15 The central image of David Bowie's Life on Mars could have been ripped from his own experience a child sits hooked to the silver screen reliving fantastical scenes played out on film Throughout his life Bowie was similarly transfixed by the power of film From his first film role in The Image to his final music video before his death Lazarus Bowie's musical output has long been intrinsically linked to images Analyzing Bowie's music videos planned film projects acting roles and depictions in film David

Bowie and the Moving Image provides a comprehensive view of Bowie's work with film and informs our understanding of all areas of his work from music to fashion to visual art. It enters the debate about Bowie's artistic legacy by addressing Bowie as musician, actor, and auteur. Re-imagining Heritage Interpretation Russell Staiff, 2016-04-08. This book challenges traditional approaches to heritage interpretation and offers an alternative theoretical architecture to the current research and practice. Russell Staiff suggests that the dialogue between visitors and heritage places has been too focused on learning outcomes and so heritage interpretation has become dominated by psychology and educational theory and over-reliant on outdated thinking. Using his background as an art historian and experience teaching heritage and tourism courses, Russell Staiff weaves personal observation with theory in an engaging and lively way. He recognizes that the digital revolution has changed forever the way that people interact with their environment and that a new approach is needed.
