British Poetry from the 1950s to the 1990s Gary

Day, Brian Docherty, 1997-07-13 This collection looks at the developments in British poetry from the Movement until the present. The introduction not only provides a context for these changes but also argues that poetry criticism has been debilitated by the quest for political respectability, a trend which can only be reversed by reconsidering the idea of tradition. The essays themselves focus on general themes or individual authors. Written in a clear and informed manner, they provoke the reader into a fresh awareness of the nature of poetry and its relation to society.

Contemporary Poetry and Postmodernism I. Gregson, 1996-11-01 Contemporary Poetry and Postmodernism explores the fraught relationship between the poetry of the mainstream and kinds of modernist poetry that have had to make their way outside it. Mainstream poets like Paul Muldoon, James Fenton, and Carol Ann Duffy multiply voices and so draw on resources from the novel. Bakhtin's concept of the dialogic is therefore used to explain their techniques. By contrast, Shklovsky's concept of estrangement is shown to be more useful in accounting for the radical experimentation of poets like Edwin Morgan, Christopher Middleton, and Denise Riley. However, the book concludes by suggesting that partly because of the influence of surrealism in women poets like Selima Hill and Jo Shapcott, the mainstream has recently been infiltrated by modernist and postmodernist estrangement effects.

Ecology and Modern Scottish Literature Louisa Gairn, 2008-05-01 This book presents a provocative and timely reconsideration of modern Scottish literature in the light of ecological thought. Louisa Gairn demonstrates how successive generations of Scottish writers have both reflected on and contributed to the development of international ecological theory and philosophy. Provocative readings of works by authors including Robert Louis Stevenson, John Muir, Nan Shepherd, John Burnside, Kathleen Jamie, and George Mackay Brown demonstrate the significance of ecological thought across the spectrum of Scottish literary culture. This book traces the influence of ecology as a scientific, philosophical, and political concept in the work of these and other writers and, in doing so, presents an original outlook on Scottish literature from the mid-nineteenth century to the present.
