

The background of the book cover is a collage of abstract and symbolic elements. A horizontal film strip runs across the middle, featuring several frames. One frame on the left shows a close-up of a human eye. Another frame to the right shows a glowing blue light source. Above the film strip, there are several circular shapes, some resembling film reels or lenses. The overall color palette is dominated by warm oranges, yellows, and browns on the left, transitioning to cooler blues and purples on the right. The title text is overlaid on this background.
