

INCLUSIVE HERMENEUTICS: ETHICAL PERSPECTIVES

MARCIO JUNGLOS¹

(IFSUL/Brasil)

ABSTRACT

This article is concerned with inclusive hermeneutics. Six attitudes will be developed in order for hermeneutics to be inclusive. In the first four attitudes, we are inspired by the resolutions of Husserl's paradoxes in his book The Crisis of European Sciences and Transcendental Phenomenology: An Introduction to Phenomenological Philosophy, discussed in the paragraphs 52-54. After this, the term reversibility, reworked by Merleau-Ponty, will be essential to broaden our conception of inclusiveness. Finally, the new perspectives on the concept of otherness/alienness in Waldenfels will support an inclusive ethical-practical interpretation. This inclusiveness will lead us within an authentic judgment, fostering a realization of the Law in the context of the recognition of the differences, through a constant process of Law itself.

Keywords: Hermeneutics; Phenomenology; Inclusiveness; Law

1. Introduction

The book *Phenomenology of Inclusiveness*² has already laid the theoretical underpinnings for an inclusiveness that can measure the inclusive scope of ethics. It is characterized as an inclusive phenomenological method, and we wonder if there is a possibility of a proposal ethics that is not inclusive. Now, we need to know whether the human being, in fact, feels included; if the person to whom is said to have education, health, housing, life, etc., feels that she has these rights. The integrity of Law is not only in the letter, only in the due process of Law, but it is in the life-world (Lebenswelt).³ In this respect, Law is a vocation by which self-realization comes together with social realization. This leads us to the construction of an inclusive hermeneutics that will guarantee an inclusive method to all interpretation. To do so, let us reconstruct the inclusive phenomenological method, extending it to hermeneutics.

2. First attitude: latent reflection

In his work Cartesian Meditations, Husserl reports that we cannot form, by a process of abstraction, the idea of a foundation for all science. Also, we can neither construct nor accept

Twiss, 2018-03-08 Inspired by the 1993 Parliament of the World's Religions this volume for the first time brings the scholarly discipline of comparative religious ethics into constructive collaboration with the community of interreligious dialogue The contributors draw from both communities of discourse in addressing questions of method and theory and global moral issues such as human rights distributive justice politics of war international business the environment and genocide in a cross cultural context Inspired by the 1993 Parliament of the World's Religions this volume for the first time brings the scholarly discipline of comparative religious ethics into constructive collaboration with the community of interreligious dialogue Its design is premised on two important insights First interreligious dialogue offers to comparative religious ethics a new more persuasive rationale agenda of issues and practical orientation Second comparative religious ethics offers to interreligious dialogue an arsenal of critical tools and methods which will enhance the sophistication of its practical work In this way both theory a dominant concern and strength of comparative religious ethics and praxis a dominant concern and strength of interreligious moral dialogue are joined together in mutual effort each contributing to the benefit of the other The volumes contributors share this vision of collaboration drawing explicitly from both communities of discourse in a manner that crosses disciplinary and professional boundaries to deal creatively and constructively with important methodological and global moral issues Although theory and practice cannot easily be separated in such a collaborative project for the purpose of clarity the volume is divided into two main parts The first specifically engages questions of method theory and the social role of the public intellectual the second on substantive moral themes and issues many of which were raised at the 1993 Parliament Taken together the volumes essays articulate and illustrate new ways of approaching contemporary moral concerns cross culturally yet with a rigor appropriate to our complex and pluralistic world Confucianism and Human Rights Wm. Theodore De Bary, William Theodore De Bary, Weiming Tu, 1998 They offer a balanced forum that seeks common ground providing needed perspective at a time when the Chinese government after years of denouncing Confucianism as an artifact of a feudal past has made an abrupt reversal to endorse it as a belief system compatible with communist ideology Freud as a Social and Cultural Theorist Howard L. Kaye, 2018-11-14 This book offers a new account of Freud's work by reading him as the social theorist and philosopher he always aspired to be and not as the medical scientist he publicly claimed to be In doing so the author demonstrates that Freud's social moral and cultural thought constitutes the core of his life's work as a theorist and is the thread that binds his voluminous writings together from his earliest essays on the neuroses to his foundational writings on dreams and sexuality and to his far ranging reflections on art religion and the dynamics of culture Returning to the fundamental questions and concerns that animate Freud's work the nature of evil the origins of religion morality and tradition and the looming threat of resurgent barbarism Freud as a Social and Cultural Theorist provides the first systematic re examination of Freud s social and cultural thought in more than a generation As such it will be of interest to social and cultural theorists social philosophers intellectual and cultural historians and those with interests in psychoanalysis and its origins

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Global Justice and East Asian Philosophy Janusz Salamon,Hsin-Wen Lee,2024-08-22 Breaking out of the dominance of Anglo American scholarship this volume centralises East Asian philosophical traditions to explore cross cultural perspectives in the field of global justice studies By bringing together diverse traditions of thinking about justice that contrasts East Asian and Western thinkers traditions it avoids the shortcomings of narrow and one sided conceptualisations of global justice A range of contributors from East Asia Europe and the US who are conversant with both Western and East Asian philosophical traditions provide a rich engagement with contemporary issues relating to global justice The book opens with a section devoted to the methodological challenges specific to cross cultural approaches to justice including the universalism particularism debate and the conditions of the possibility of cross cultural comparisons Part II explores how major East Asian philosophical traditions including Confucianism Legalism Daoism and Buddhism consider issues related to global justice The essays in Part III adopt a cross cultural and or comparative perspective on justice enabling the readers to appreciate similarities and differences between the East Asian and Western perspectives on justice and to appreciate cultural variation Key applied issues in global justice such as epistemic injustice human rights women s rights nationalism religious pluralism coercion corruption and post colonial justice receive full consideration in the final section of this indispensable reference work for understandings of global justice in East Asia specifically and cross culturally

Freud and the Legacy of Moses Richard J. Bernstein,1998-10-08 Freud s last book Moses and Monotheism was published in 1939 during one of the darkest periods in Jewish history This difficult book has frequently been vilified and dismissed because Freud claims that Moses was not a Hebrew but an Egyptian and that the Jews murdered Moses in the wilderness Richard Bernstein argues that a close reading of Moses and Monotheism reveals an underlying powerful coherence in which Freud seeks to specify the distinctive character and contribution of the Jewish people It is this character that has enabled the Jewish people to survive despite persecution and virulent anti Semitism and Freud proudly identifies himself with it In his analysis of Freud s often misunderstood last work Bernstein goes on to shows how Freud expands and deepens our understanding of a religious tradition by revealing its unconscious dynamics

Places and Politics in an Age of Globalization Roxann Prazniak,Arif Dirlik,2001-02-07 This ambitious work provides a unique statement on the question of place based activism and its relationship to powerful forces of international capital Arguing that specific places around the world are sites for the defense and enhancement of daily life in the context of rapidly expanding global technologies and investment options the contributors reach for a vision of social development that supports sustainable humane cultures Bringing together the local and the global

this work provides the first sustained linkage of ethnic groups in diaspora to macrocosmic processes of world capital that inevitably reach down to mediate even the most local experiences The essays ranging in their discussion of place from Los Angeles and New York to New Zealand and Indonesia offer both reasoned argument and authoritative information on how local experience interacts with larger processes of global capital and the diasporic phenomenon The book will be an invaluable resource and launching point for scholars and students in ethnic and identity studies and will interest all readers exploring the production of place and identification The World's Religions after September 11 Arvind Sharma,2008-11-30 This set is an unprecedented examination of religion's influence on modern life an honest assessment of how religion can either destroy us or preserve us and a thorough exploration of what steps might be necessary for all religions to join together as a force for good Convening on the fifth anniversary of the terrorist attack on the World Trade Center the global congress The World's Religions after September 11 explored the negative and positive possibilities of the religious dimensions of life The presentations from the congress have been pulled together in this set which addresses religion's intersection with human rights spirituality science healing the media international diplomacy globalization war and peace and more This comprehensive set includes contributions from such well known scholars of religion as Arvind Sharma and a host of others from all the world's religious traditions This set is an unprecedented examination of religion's influence on modern life an honest assessment of how religion can either destroy us or preserve us and a thorough exploration of what steps might be necessary for all religions to join together as a force for good Because of the attack on the World Trade Center on September 11 2001 the very concept of religion underwent a paradigm shift Instead of standing for virtue and piety peace and harmony the word religion also came to be inextricably associated with evil aggression and terror People around the world began to question whether the religious and secular dimensions of modern life can be reconciled whether the different religions of the world can ever coexist in harmony Indeed the very future of religion itself has sometimes seemed to be uncertain or at least suspect Sacred Languages and Sacred Texts John Sawyer,2012-10-02 Sacred Languages and Sacred Texts is the first comprehensive study of the role of languages and texts in the religions of the Greco Roman world including Judaism and Christianity It explores bilingualism language learning literacy book production and translation as well as some of the more explicitly religious factors including beliefs about language missionary zeal ritual conservatism and the power of a priestly establishment Sacred Languages and Sacred Texts sheds new light on the role of the power of words spoken and written in religion Human Rights and Responsibilities in the World Religions Joseph Runzo,Arvind Sharma,Nancy M. Martin,2014-10-01 This volume outlines the approaches to human rights and responsibilities within the different world religions Featuring contributions from over 15 scholars the book covers such key issues as women's rights the role of international law and responsibility for the environment It also includes a Universal Declaration of Human Rights by the World's Religions presented at the third Parliament of the World Religions Moses the Egyptian Jan Assmann,2009-06-30

Standing at the very foundation of monotheism and so of Western culture Moses is a figure not of history but of memory As such he is the quintessential subject for the innovative historiography Jan Assmann both defines and practices in this work the study of historical memory a study in this case of the ways in which factual and fictional events and characters are stored in religious beliefs and transformed in their philosophical justification literary reinterpretation philological restitution or falsification and psychoanalytic demystification To account for the complexities of the foundational event through which monotheism was established Moses the Egyptian goes back to the short lived monotheistic revolution of the Egyptian king Akhenaten 1360 1340 B C E Assmann traces the monotheism of Moses to this source then shows how his followers denied the Egyptians any part in the origin of their beliefs and condemned them as polytheistic idolaters Thus began the cycle in which every counter religion by establishing itself as truth denounced all others as false Assmann reconstructs this cycle as a pattern of historical abuse and tracks its permutations from ancient sources including the Bible through Renaissance debates over the basis of religion to Sigmund Freud s Moses and Monotheism One of the great Egyptologists of our time and an exceptional scholar of history and literature Assmann is uniquely equipped for this undertaking an exemplary case study of the vicissitudes of historical memory that is also a compelling lesson in the fluidity of cultural identity and beliefs An research seminar Decision making in business was organized at Nijenrode The Netherlands School of Business More than fifty scientists and practitioners from nine countries presented research papers in one of the six discussion groups. Some of them also presented some of their ideas in front of a large mixed audience at a one day symposium. Many of the papers presented at Nijenrode were of such a high quality that the decision to publish a selection of them was an easy one. At the same time the new series Nijenrode studies in business was initiated. All who were involved the policy committee of the Nijenrode studies, the advisory and editorial board of the series, the publisher and the organizing committee of the seminar and symposium acclaimed the idea of publishing three volumes in the new series. A collection of eleven papers could be grouped under the title Trends in managerial and financial accounting and has been published as volume 1 of this series. A collection of fourteen papers has been published as the second volume under the title Trends in financial decision making while this volume consisting of twelve papers and an introduction explores the theme Trends in business ethics. The introduction by Stanley L. Jakiwas written for the symposium. It suggests why the papers of Pjotr Hesselings, Antoine Kreykamp and Richard H. Viola which were not presented at Nijenrode are introduced here.
