and in the process how to strengthen our democracy It s time for policymakers to pay attention William A Galston Ezra Zilkha Chair in Governance Studies The Brookings Institution Making Civics Count models a brilliant alternative to the ideological polarization and paralysis that dominates civic education discourse Campbell Levinson Hess and the other contributors to this volume hail from across the political spectrum but share a critical commitment to reinvigorate dialogue around civic education They seek not consensus but spirited engagement with ideas with solid empirical data and with visions for a more robust democracy This is an important book for scholars policymakers and anyone interested in civic education s future Joel Westheimer university research chair sociology of education University of Ottawa This compelling and persuasive book shows that an open climate for discussion of current issues teachers preparation across subject areas and the new digital media can help foster a vision of democracy and counter prevailing inequality Judith Torney Purta professor of human development University of Maryland David E Campbell is professor of political science at the University of Notre Dame and founding director of the Rooney Center for the Study of American Democracy Meira Levinson is an associate professor at the Harvard Graduate School of Education Frederick M Hess is resident scholar and director of education policy studies at the American Enterprise Institute

Civic Education and the Future of American Citizenship Elizabeth Kaufer Busch, Jonathan W. White, 2012-11-02

The Founders of this nation believed that the government they were creating required a civically educated populace. Such an education aimed to cultivate enlightened, informed, and vigilant citizens who could perpetuate and improve the nation. Unfortunately, America's contemporary youth seem to lack adequate opportunities, if not also the ability or will to critically examine the foundations of this nation. An even larger problem is an increasing ambivalence toward education in general. Stepping into this void is a diverse group of educators, intellectuals, and businesspeople brought together in Civic Education and the Future of American Citizenship to grapple with the issue of civic illiteracy and its consequences. The essays edited by Elizabeth Kaufer Busch and Jonathan W. White force us to not only reexamine the goals of civic education in America but also those of liberal education more broadly.
