Education Social Justice And Inter Agency Working Joined Up Or Fractured Policy:

Education, Social Justice and Inter-Agency Working Sheila Riddell, Lyn Tett, 2003-08-27 This book explores policy and practice in a range of areas where education and other agencies health social and employment services and housing interact Its theme of joined up policy and inter agency working is central to all those interested in promoting social justice for adults and children experiencing the effects of exclusion Educational Partnerships and the State: The Paradoxes of Governing Schools, Children, and Families B. Franklin, M. Bloch, T. Popkewitz, 2003-12-18 Educational Partnerships and the State is a compelling collection of essays by an international group of scholars that provides a critical exploration of the role of partnerships in contemporary educational reform Their focus is on the expanding role that collaboration between the public and private sector has come to play in the governing of schools children and families in response to an array of worldwide economic and social changes The contributors to this volume highlight the new relationship between civil society and the state through partnerships and what that linkage has come to mean for an array of educational issues including academic achievement school governance school parent relationships teacher education the construction of family and community involvement and the discourses of reform as practices that order participation and action Safeguarding Children and Schools Mary Baginsky, 2008-06-15 Safeguarding Children and Schools explains how schools are able to contribute to keeping children safe from harm and promoting their welfare in line with Government Every Child Matters guidelines At a time when expectations of the role of schools are evolving this book provides guidance and support for social care professionals Children's Services Malcolm Hill, Sir George Head, Andrew Lockyer, Barbara Reid, Raymond Taylor, 2013-10-08 Children's Services Working Together brings together contributions from a number of authors in the field The book covers policy theory research and practice relevant to students and professionals working with children in a wide range of roles The emphasis on working collaboratively with other professionals where appropriate and the holistic approach to children make this a valuable resource to anyone working with children today Challenging Transitions in Learning and Work, 2010-01-01 In the past two decades advanced capitalist countries have seen sustained growth in labour market participation along with a growth in the number of jobs workers tend to have in their working lives Over a slightly longer period we also see that participation in both formal educational attainment and a range of non compulsory learning training has grown However labour market discrimination based on gender age disability and race ethnicity remains a serious issue in virtually all OECD countries Challenging Transitions in Learning and Work presents a critical and expansive exploration of learning and work transitions within this context These transitions are challenging for those enmeshed in them and need to be actively challenged through the critical research reported The impetus for this volume its conceptual framing and much of the research emerges from the team of Canadian researchers who together completed case study and survey projects within the Work and Lifelong Learning WALL network The authors include leading scholars with established international reputations as well as emerging researchers with fresh perspectives This volume will appeal to researchers and policy makers internationally with an interest in educational studies and industrial sociology Changing Spaces of Education Rachel Brooks, Alison Fuller, Johanna Waters, 2012-05-16 In today's modern climate education and learning take place in multiple and diverse spaces Increasingly these spaces are both physical and virtual in nature Access to and use of information and communication technologies and the emergence of knowledge based economies necessitate an understanding of the plurality of spaces such as homes workplaces international space and cyberspace in which learning can take place The spaces of policy making with respect to education are also being transformed away from traditional centres of policy formation towards the incorporation of a wider range of actors and sites These changes coincide with a more general interest in space and spatial theory across the social sciences where notions of simultaneity and diversity replace more modernist conceptions of linear progress and development through time This volume proffers a unique perspective on the transformation of education in the 21st century by bringing together leading researchers in education sociology and geography to address directly questions of space in relation to education and learning This collection of essays examines the changing and diverse spaces and concepts of education occurring simultaneously at different scales and in different parts of the world explores where education and learning take place discusses how spaces of education vary at different stages compulsory schooling tertiary and higher education adult education and workplace learning inspects the ways in which the meanings attached to education and learning change in different national and regional contexts Changing Spaces of Education is an important and timely contribution to a growing area of concern within the social sciences and amongst practitioners and policy makers reflecting an urgent need to understand the ways in which both education and learning are being reconfigured not just nationally but also internationally and transnationally It is essential reading for final year undergraduates postgraduates and researchers in geography sociology education and policy studies with an aim too of informing policy and practice in this area Social Class, Gender and Exclusion from School Jean Kane, 2013-10-14 Rising exclusion rates indicate the continuing marginalisation of many young people in education in the UK Working class boys children living in poverty and children with additional special educational needs are among those experiencing a disproportionate rate of exclusion This book traces the processes of exclusion and alienation from school and relates this to a changing social and economic context Jean Kane argues that policy on schooling including curricular reform needs to be reconnected to the broad political pursuit of social justice and presents compelling case studies of excluded pupils showing the multi faceted identities of pupils with a particular focus on masculine and feminine identities This invaluable contribution to the literature offers an alternative analysis where the social identities of pupils are shown to be tied up with their exclusion from school Themes investigated include the meanings of school exclusions social class gender and schooling social identities of excluded pupils negotiating identities in school moving towards exclusion exclusions and young people's lives improving participation in schooling Providing fascinating reading for teachers social workers researchers and policy makers this book considers how educational disadvantage might be addressed through recognition of the gender and class identities of pupils

The Learning Society and people with learning difficulties Riddell, Sheila, Baron, Stephen, 2001-05-16 There is a growing concern about the social exclusion of a range of minority groups including people with learning difficulties Lifelong learning is seen as one of the central means of challenging the exclusion of this group but also of enhancing their economic status This book demonstrates that policy based on human capital premises has produced forms of lifelong learning which exacerbate the marginalisation of people with learning difficulties The Learning Society and people with learning difficulties reviews the range of policy fields which increasingly intervene in the lifelong learning arena maps the agencies involved in service delivery and describes their sometimes conflicting ethos provides in depth accounts of the lived experiences of individuals with learning difficulties as they navigate lifelong learning options Its exploration of the links between community care education training employment housing and benefits policies in the context of lifelong learning is unique This book makes a significant contribution to debates about how people with learning difficulties may achieve social inclusion and the part which lifelong learning may play in this It is therefore invaluable reading for policy makers practitioners and academics interested in these issues

Structure and Agency in the Neoliberal University Joyce E. Canaan, Wesley Shumar, 2008-05 This volume brings together a set of largely ethnographic articles written from a critical perspective that consider how current transitions in post secondary education are impacting on higher education HE institutions

Cross-Cultural Perspectives on Policy and Practice Jennifer Lavia, Michele Moore, 2009-09-10 This book provides a space in which struggles for indigenous knowledge within communities are articulated valued heard and responded to The volume takes change as its focus yet acknowledges that the origins and significance of change are frequently found to be unsettling Contributors explore different understandings of change that forge sustainable inclusive and just communities and examine issues related to citizenship resistance peacemaking critical literacies and second chance opportunities The authors seek to promote advocacy of change that recognises the importance of an informed engagement with cross cultural issues in order to foreground those missing perspectives that are often marginalised silenced ignored or denied All contributors are concerned with how the process of change can bridge the gap between social justice and exclusion and develop critical understandings of the implications of changing policy and practice for those within and working with the educational organisations and communities
