Fennis,Wolfgang Stroebe,2010-07-12 Advertising is a ubiquitous and powerful force seducing us into buying wanted and sometimes unwanted products and services donating to charity even to causes we have not heard of before voting for political candidates even of questionable reputation and changing our health related lifestyles for better or worse The impact of advertising is often subtle and implicit but sometimes blatant and impossible to overlook This book discusses key topics from the fields of social and consumer psychology Important questions are addressed in the volume such as What impact does advertising have on consumer behaviour What causes this impact What are the psychological processes responsible for the effectiveness of advertising How do consumers make sense of advertising messages What messages get across and when and why This is the first book to offer a comprehensive and state of the art overview of the psychological findings on the impact of advertising and to discuss this research in the context of recent developments in the fields of social and consumer psychology It presents and discusses results of both classic and contemporary studies in an engaging style that avoids highly technical language The authors have included a glossary of frequently used concepts which assists student comprehension making it a unique and invaluable volume for advanced undergraduate and graduate students as well as researchers and lecturers in social psychology marketing and communications It is also a useful resource for professionals working in advertising public health public services and political communication Advances in Advertising Research (Vol. VII) George Christodoulides,Anastasia

Stathopoulou, Martin Eisend, 2016-08-24 Focusing on a range of advertising formats this book provides international state of the art research inter alia on the fast evolving and increasingly complex advertising landscape that raises a number of challenges for advertisers Further research is needed to guide choices regarding ad content and execution media placement social networks and campaign effectiveness Advances in Advertising Research are published by the European Advertising Academy EAA This volume is a selective collection of research presented at the 14th International Conference in Advertising ICORIA which was held in London UK in July 2015 The conference gathered more than 150 participants from various countries from nearly all continents including Europe North and South America Asia and Australia Encyclopedia of Communication Theory Stephen W. Littlejohn, Karen A. Foss, 2009-08-18 The Encyclopedia of Communication Theory provides students and researchers with a comprehensive two volume overview of contemporary communication theory Reference librarians report that students frequently approach them seeking a source that will provide them with a quick overview of a particular theory or theorist just enough to help them grasp the general concept or theory and its relation to the discipline as a whole Communication scholars and teachers also occasionally need a quick reference for theories Edited by the co authors of the best selling textbook on communication theory and drawing on the expertise of an advisory board of 10 international scholars and nearly 200 contributors from 10 countries this work finally provides such a resource More than 300 entries address topics related not only to paradigms traditions and schools but also metatheory methodology inquiry and applications and contexts Entries cover several orientations including psycho cognitive social interactional cybernetic and systems cultural critical feminist philosophical rhetorical semiotic linguistic and discursive and non Western Concepts relate to interpersonal communication groups and organizations and media and mass communication In sum this encyclopedia offers the student of communication a sense of the history development and current status of the discipline with an emphasis on the theories that comprise it Advertising in the Aging Society Florian Kohlbacher, Michael Prieler, 2016-04-08 Population aging is a powerful megatrend affecting many countries around the world This demographic shift has vast effects on societies economies and businesses and thus also for the advertising industry Advertising in the Aging Society presents insights from a large scale content analysis as well as questionnaire surveys among advertising practitioners and consumers in Japan As the most aged society in the world Japan lends itself as particularly suitable to study the implications of population aging This book shows that older people and especially older women are highly underrepresented in advertising and are generally portrayed in stereotypical albeit not necessarily unfavorable ways This is despite the fact that advertising practitioners have a generally positive view towards using older models even though only for an older target audience Finally the book explore how both younger and older consumers perceive the representation of older people in advertising as stereotypical and partly negative and are willing to boycott companies portraying older people negatively Champagne in Britain, 1800-1914 Graham Harding, 2021-10-07 Winner of the 2022 OIV AWARD 2022 in the History category From its introduction to British society in the mid 17th century champagne has been a wine of elite celebration and hedonism

Champagne in Britain 1800-1914 is the first book for over a century to study this iconic drink in Britain Following the British wine market from 1800 to 1914 Harding shows how champagne was consumed by branded for and marketed to British society Not only did the champagne market form the foundations of the luxury market we know today this book shows how it was integral to a number of 19th century social concerns such as the temperate turn anxieties over adulteration and the increasingly prosperous British middle class Using archival sources from major French producers such as Moët Chandon Veuve Clicquot and Pommery Greno alongside records from British distributors newspapers magazines and wine literature Champagne in Britain shows how champagne became embedded in the habits of Victorian society Illustrating the social and marketing dynamics that centered on champagne's luxury status it reveals the importance of fashion as a driver of choice the power of the label and the illusion of scarcity It shows how through the reach of imperial Britain the British taste for Champagne spread across the globe and became a marker for status and celebration

The Internet Trap Matthew Hindman, 2018-09-25 A book that challenges everything you thought you knew about the online economy The internet was supposed to fragment audiences and make media monopolies impossible Instead behemoths like Google and Facebook now dominate the time we spend online and grab all the profits from the attention economy The Internet Trap explains how this happened This provocative and timely book sheds light on the stunning rise of the digital giants and the online struggles of nearly everyone else and reveals what small players can do to survive in a game that is rigged against them Matthew Hindman shows how seemingly tiny advantages in attracting users can snowball over time The internet has not reduced the cost of reaching audiences it has merely shifted who pays and how Challenging some of the most enduring myths of digital life Hindman explains why the internet is not the postindustrial technology that has been sold to the public how it has become mathematically impossible for grad students in a garage to beat Google and why net neutrality alone is no guarantee of an open internet He also explains why the challenges for local digital news outlets and other small players are worse than they appear and demonstrates what it really takes to grow a digital audience and stay alive in today s online economy The Internet Trap shows why even on the internet there is still no such thing as a free audience
