in the Long Eighteenth Century represents a new synthesis of gender history and material culture studies. It seeks to analyse the lives and cultural expression of single men and women from 1650 to 1850 within the main focus of domestic activity the home. Whilst there is much scholarly interest in singleness and a raft of literature on the construction and apprehension of the home no other book has sought to bring these discrete studies together. Similarly scholarly work has been limited in evaluating gendered consumption practices during the long eighteenth century because of an emphasis on the homes of families. Analysing the practices of single people emphasises the differences but also amplifies the similarities in their strategies of domestic life.

Poetry and the Feminine from Behn to Cowper Jennifer Keith, 2005 Poetry and the Feminine from Behn to Cowper revisits the foundations of poetic representation and value for women and men poets of the Restoration and eighteenth century including Aphra Behn John Dryden Anne Killigrew Anne Finch and Alexander Pope. The author argues that fundamental to poetic innovation in this era are poets' revisions of feminine figures such as the muse and nature. Feminine Nature serves these poets as an infinitely expandable category of form that allows them to redefine poetry and poetic subjectivity. These poetic innovations include exploring the very grounds of mimesis dismantling the hierarchy of poetic kinds and using sensibility to yoke aesthetic and ethical values. Using an inclusive framework the author presents a history of poetic change through women's and men's complex dialogues with poetic contexts and conventions. Jennifer Keith is Associate Professor at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

New Contexts for Eighteenth-Century British Fiction Christopher D. Johnson, 2011-04-18 New Contexts for Eighteenth Century British Fiction is a collection of thirteen essays honoring Professor Jerry C. Beasley who retired from the University of Delaware in 2005. The essays written by friends, collaborators and former students reflect the scholarly interests that defined Professor Beasley's career and point to new directions of critical inquiry. The initial essays which discuss Tobias Smollett Elizabeth Singer Rowe and Samuel Richardson suggest new directions in biographical writing including the intriguing discourse of life writing explored by Paula Backscheider. Subsequent essays enrich understandings of eighteenth century fiction by examining lesser known works by Jane Barker Eliza Haywood and Charlotte Lennox. Many of the essays especially those that focus on Smollett use political pamphlets material artifacts and urban legends to place familiar novels in new contexts. The collection's final essay demonstrates the vital importance of bibliographic study.

Teaching British Women Writers, 1750-1900 Jeanne Moskal, Shannon R. Wooden, 2005 The exuberant recovery from obscurity of scores of British women writers has prompted professors and publishers to revisit publication of women s writings New curricular inclusion of these sometimes quirky often passionate writers profoundly disrupts traditional pedagogical assumptions about what constitutes literature This book addresses this radically changed educational landscape offering practical proven teaching strategies for newly recovered writers both in special topics courses and in traditional teaching environments Moreover it addresses the institutional issues confronting feminist scholars who teach women writers in a variety of settings and the kinds of career altering effects the decision to teach this material can have on junior and senior scholars alike Collectively these essays argue that teaching noncanonical women writers invigorates the curriculum as a whole not only by introducing the voices of women writers but by incorporating new genres by asking new questions about readers assumptions and aesthetic values and by altering the power relations between teacher and student for the better
