Expression And The Inner:

Expression and the Inner David H. Finkelstein, 2003-12-29 At least since Descartes philosophers have been interested in the special knowledge or authority we exhibit when we speak about our thoughts attitudes and feelings This book contends that contemporary philosophy of mind fails to account for this sort of knowledge or authority because it does not pay proper attention to the notion of expression Expression and the Inner, 2008 Combinatory Analysis Percy Alexander MacMahon, 1916 Hegel's Grammatical Ontology Jeffrey Reid, 2021-06-17 Reading The Phenomenology of Spirit through a linguistic lens Jeffrey Reid provides an original commentary on Hegel's most famous work Beginning with a close analysis of the preface where Hegel himself addresses the book's difficulty and explains his tortured language in terms of what he calls the speculative proposition Reid demonstrates how every form of consciousness discussed in The Phenomenology involves and reveals itself as a form of language Elucidating Hegel's speculative proposition which consists of the reversal of the roles of the subject and predicate in such a way that the copula of the proposition becomes the lively arena of dialogical ambiguity and hermeneutical openness this book offers new onto grammatical readings of every chapter of The Phenomenology Not only does this bring a new understanding to Hegel's foundational text but the linguistic approach further allows Reid to unpack its complexity by relating it to contemporary contexts that share the same language structures that we discover in Hegel Amongst many others this includes Hegel's account of sense certainty and the critique of the immediacy of consumer culture today Identity and Image Jutta Vinzent, 2006-06-22 This book explores the image and identity of migr painters sculptors and graphic artists from Nazi Germany in Britain between 1933 and 1945 It focuses on a neglected field of Exile Studies that of exiled artists in Britain Methodologies used in this study have been developed by Exile Studies and History of Art but also by Postcolonialism scholars of which usually apply their ideas to the Afro Asian emigration of the second part of the twentieth century Thus this study represents methodologically a new way of looking at the emigration from Nazi Germany Identity and Image is divided into five chapters After an introductory Chapter One historiography of the topic methodology of the study structure of the book Chapter Two establishes socio political patterns of emigration and provides an historical framework for Chapters Three and Four which concentrate on the image and identity of the refugee artist the former based on written sources and the latter on visual material In detail Chapter Three analyses the British image of the refugee artists and their works on the one hand and the migr's self representations on the other the latter exemplified by refugee organisations the Free German League of Culture Freier Deutscher Kulturbund the Austrian Centre the Anglo Sudeten Club and the Czech Institute and institutions founded by migr artists Jack Bilbo's Modern Art Gallery and Arthur Segal's Painting School Chapter Four examines the works produced in internment and those exhibited and produced for the refugee organisations discussed in Chapter Three Chapter Five discusses the results of this study in the light of three postcolonial concepts diaspora communities the notion of home and the gendered identity of the refugee The appendix lists all painters sculptors and graphic artists from Nazi Germany in Britain with biographical details Apart from visual and written sources discussed for the first time there are two major results of the study First although the artists were united as refugees this unity did not lead to a unity in art refugee art is a construction put forward by the British press and the refugee organisations particularly the Free German League of Culture Second contrary to claims that modern art was international and formed a universal unity that transgressed nationality neither the West Europe nor modernism form unities instead in the 1930s and 1940s cultures in Europe constructed conceptions of other European cultures on the basis of nation state identities

Hegel on Beauty Julia Peters, 2014-11-20 While the current philosophical debate surrounding Hegel's aesthetics focuses heavily on the philosopher's controversial end of art thesis its participants rarely give attention to Hegel's ideas on the nature of beauty and its relation to art This study seeks to remedy this oversight by placing Hegel's views on beauty front and center Peters asks us to rethink the common assumption that Hegelian beauty is exclusive to art and argues that for Hegel beauty like art is subject to historical development Her careful analysis of Hegel's notion of beauty not only has crucial implications for our understanding of the end of art and Hegel's aesthetics in general but also sheds light on other fields of Hegel's philosophy in particular his anthropology and aspects of his ethical thought

Attachment-Focused Family Therapy Daniel A. Hughes, 2007-05-17 Over fifty years ago John Bowlby and Mary Ainsworth's research on the developmental psychology of children formed the basic tenets of attachment theory And for years following these tenets the theory's focus has been on how children develop vis vis the attachments whether secure or insecure they form with their caregivers In the therapy room this has meant working with individuals one on one with the therapist assuming the role of the attachment figure in order to provide a secure base for treating clients problems that arose from troubled interpersonal relationships in childhood Here Daniel A Hughes an eminent clinician and attachment specialist is the first to expand this traditional model applying attachment theory to a family therapy setting Drawing on more than 20 years of clinical experience Hughes presents his comprehensive effective and accessible treatment model for working with all members of a family not simply the individual in question to recognize resolve and heal personal and family problems using principles from theories of attachment and intersubjectivity Beginning with an overview of attachment and intersubjectivity the twin theories from which he forms his treatment plan Hughes carefully outlines chapter by chapter the core principles and strategies of his family based approach He elaborates on the need to develop and maintain PACE playfulness acceptance curiosity and empathy the central therapeutic stance of attachment focused family therapy and supplies tips and sample dialogues for implementing this position The importance of fostering affective reflective a r dialogue is covered in detail as well as helping families to manage shame understand and embrace the break and repair cycle of their interactions and explore and resolve childhood trauma Also discussed are the more procedural issues of how to incorporate parents into therapeutic conversations when and how to question them on their own attachment histories and how to be with children Grounded in the fundamental principle of parents facilitating the healthy emotional development of their children Attachment Focused Family Therapy is the first book of its kind to offer therapists a complete manual for using attachment therapy with families Extensive case studies vignettes and sample dialogues throughout clearly demonstrate how Hughes's model plays out in the therapy room By showing therapists how to create a bond of psychological safety and intersubjective discovery with parents and caregivers Hughes reveals how they in turn can bring about similar experiences of safety and discovery for their children

Brain, Mind and the Signifying Body Paul Thibault, 2006-09-17 Brain Mind and the Signifying Body is an exploration of a multimodal theory of cognitive science Using linguistic theories first developed by Saussure and more latterly by M A K Halliday Paul Thibault analyses how social and biological systems interact to produce meaning This fascinating study will be of interest to undergraduates and academics researching cognitive linguistics and advanced semiotics The book engages with the current dialogue between the human and life sciences to ask questions about the relationship between the physical biological aspects of a human being and the sociocultural framework in which a human being exists Paul J Thibault argues that we need to understand both the semiotic discursive nature of meaning making and the physical context in which this activity takes place The two are inseparable and hence the only way we can understand our subjective experience of our environment and our perceptions of our inner states of mind is by giving equal weight to both frameworks This ecosocial semiotic theory engages with linguistics semiotics activity theory biology and psychology In so doing the book produces a new way of looking at how a human being makes sense of his or her environment but also how this environment shapes such meanings
