Education and Early Childhood Studies Play and STEM Education in the Early Years Sue Dale Tunnicliffe, Teresa J. Kennedy, 2022-06-16 This edited book provides an overview of unstructured and structured play scenarios crucial to developing young children's awareness, interest and ability to learn Science Technology Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) in informal and formal education environments. The key elements for developing future STEM capital enabling children to use their intuitive critical thinking and problem-solving abilities and promoting active citizenship and a scientifically literate workforce begins in the early years as children learn through play employing trial and error and often investigating on their own. Forty-seven STEM experts come together from 16 countries: Argentina, Australia, Belgium, Canada, England, Finland, Germany, Israel, Jamaica, Japan, Malta, Mauritius, Mexico, Russia, Sweden and the USA and describe educational policies and experiences related to young learners 3-4 years of age as well as students attending formal nursery school, early primary school and the early years classes post 5 years of age. The book is intended for parents seeking to provide STEM activities for their children at home and in playgroups; citizen scientists seeking guidance to provide children with quality educational activities; daycare practitioners providing educational structures for young children from birth to formal education; primary school teachers and preservice teachers seeking to teach preschool kindergarten or children typically aged 5-8 years old in grades 1-3 as well as researchers and policy makers working in science didactics with small children. Learning Theories for Early Years Practice Sean MacBlain, 2025-02-05 This third edition showcases captivating full-color photographs, compelling case studies, engaging activities and thought-provoking discussion points. Each chapter delves into the theorist and the theory illustrating their practical applications, strengths, weaknesses and connections to other theorists. This indispensable resource empowers students to create inclusive learning environments. New to this edition: New chapter on Barbara Rogoff and children in cultural communities; Expanded final section on theorists in the contemporary world covering vital issues such as mental health, diversity, gender, special educational needs, play, valuing our environments and artificial intelligence; Updated case studies and examples. Early Childhood Practice Tina Bruce, 2012-04-20 Nursery World Awards 2012 winner This stimulating book brings together contributions from distinguished practitioners who demonstrate how they have used educational methods advocated by Froebel in contemporary settings. Stressing the importance of outdoor play, they explore the Froebelian principles of Play Learning through firsthand experience. Parent partnership and community in early childhood. Practitioners supporting children's interests and learning. Finger rhymes and action songs. Movement. The garden and forests. Wooden blockplay. Use of clay, paint, junk modelling, construction kits. The book emphasises how learning and the application of knowledge become possible through play. It contrasts the Froebel approach with the methods such as Montessori, Steiner and recent approaches to play such as post-Modern playfulness. This book is relevant to undergraduate and postgraduate students of Early Childhood Education as well as students following QTS and EYPS, PGCE, CPD and BED courses. Tina Bruce CBE is an Honorary Visiting Professor in Early Childhood at the University of Roehampton. The Early
