OutWrite Julie R. Enszer, Elena Gross, 2022-03-18 Running from 1990 to 1999 the annual OutWrite conference played a pivotal role in shaping LGBTQ literary culture in the United States and its emerging canon OutWrite provided a space where literary lions who had made their reputations before the gay liberation movement like Edward Albee John Rechy and Samuel R Delany could mingle network and flirt with a new generation of emerging queer writers like Tony Kushner Alison Bechdel and Sarah Schulman This collection gives readers a taste of this fabulous moment in LGBTQ literary history with twenty seven of the most memorable speeches from the OutWrite conference including both keynote addresses and panel presentations These talks are drawn from a diverse array of contributors including Allen Ginsberg Judy Grahn Essex Hemphill Patrick Califia Dorothy Allison Allan Gurganus Chrystos John Preston Linda Villarosa Edmund White and many more OutWrite offers readers a front row seat to the passionate debates nascent identity politics and provocative ideas that helped animate queer intellectual and literary culture in the 1990s Covering everything from racial representation to sexual politics the still relevant topics in these talks are sure to strike a chord with today's readers The Politics of Transparency in Modern American Fiction Paula Martín Salván, Sascha Pöhlmann, 2024 A much needed contribution to and critique of debates in the newly emerging field of transparency studies from the perspective of American literary studies In the twenty first century transparency has become an ambiguous buzzword both in the public and the private realms e.g Wikileaks and the Snowden affair social media This volume takes its cue from the emerging field of transparency studies recent scholarly work in sociology political theory and cultural studies that identifies a hegemonic rhetoric of transparency in public and political life While scholars in this new field routinely gesture toward literature as the realm where secrecy may be productive they rarely engage with literature directly and literary studies itself remains notably absent from their debates This collection of essays seeks to redress that state of affairs by focusing on literary texts written in an American cultural tradition steeped in the interplay between transparency and exposure fear and secrecy security and surveillance and information and disinformation The essays draw on authors ranging from Whitman James and Ellison to Pynchon Morrison and Eggers to argue that American literature complicates theoretical assumptions about transparency made in other disciplines They question the field's strong theoretical emphasis on present day technopolitical practices and discourses as the location of hegemonic discourse on transparency and instead historicize such phenomena and extend them to discursive spheres that have so far been neglected such as issues of sexuality and race Edited by Paula Martín Salván and Sascha Pöhlmann Contributors Tomasz Basiuk Jesús Blanco Hidalgo Cristina Chevere San Julia Faisst Michel Feith Julián Jimenez Heffernan Tiina Kakkela Juan López de Luque Umberto Rossi Jelena Sesnić Toon Staes Julia Straub Alice Sundman

Conversations with Edmund White Will Brantley, Nancy McGuire Roche, 2017-09-05 Conversations with Edmund White brings together twenty one interviews with an author known for chronicling gay culture Ranging from a 1982 discussion of his early works to a new and unpublished interview conducted in 2016 these interviews highlight White's predilections his major achievements and the pivotal moments of his long varied career Since the 1973 publication of his first novel Forgetting Elena Edmund White b 1940 has become a major figure in literature and gay culture White is however more than just a celebrated gay writer He is an international man of letters and his work crosses several genres White's fiction includes an autobiographical trilogy A Boy's Own Story The Beautiful Room Is Empty and The Farewell Symphony along with more recent novels such as Jack Holmes and His Friend and Our Young Man White's love of French literature and culture is evident in biographies of Jean Genet Marcel Proust and Arthur Rimbaud and his antipathy to American Puritanism suffuses his collected essays and memoirs and is on full display in two early nonfiction works that helped define the era of gay liberation The Joy of Gay Sex coauthored with Charles Silverstein and States of Desire: Travels in Gay America A professor of creative writing at Princeton University White has earned many distinctions including the National Book Critics Circle Award and the Lambda Literary Foundation's Pioneer Award White has been a generous interviewer sharing his time and insights not only with major publications such as The Paris Review but also with smaller online publications for more limited audiences. A lively commentator White has never been afraid to speak his mind even when the result has been public feuds with literary peers on both sides of the Atlantic.

On Sexuality and Power Alan Sinfield, 2004. It is widely supposed that the most suitable partner will be someone very much like oneself. Gay fiction and cinema are often organized around this assumption. Nonetheless, power differentials are remarkably persistent as well as sexy. What are the personal and political implications of this insight? Sinfield argues that hierarchies in interpersonal relations are continuous with the main power differentials of our social and political life: gender, class, age, and race. Therefore, it is not surprising that they govern our psychic lives. Recent writing enables an exploration of their positive potential, especially in fantasy, as well as their danger. On Sexuality and Power focuses on the writing of the last thirty years, revisiting also Whitman, Wilde, Mann, Forster, and Genet, and reassessing the very idea of a gay canon.

Mr Isherwood Changes Trains Victor Marsh, 2021-01-01. British expatriate writer Christopher Isherwood (1904-1986) moved to America prior to the Second World War and lived more than half his life in California, writing for the Hollywood studios. Famous initially for the stories he wrote during the rise of the Nazis, he attracted a second wave of interest in the 1970s with his autobiography Christopher and His Kind (1976). But much less is known about Isherwood's writing during his forty years as a student of a guru from the Ramakrishna Order. In Mr Isherwood Changes Trains, Victor Marsh interrogates the assumptions and prejudices that have combined to disparage the sincerity of Isherwood's religious life. Marsh elucidates those features of Vedanta philosophy that enabled Isherwood to integrate the various aspects of his dharma: his vocation as a writer and a spirituality not predicated on the repudiation of his sexuality. Marsh details the heartfelt search for a home self that found expression in later works such as My Guru and his disciple, and in what is seen as Isherwood's finest novel, A Single Man (1964).

Palgrave Advances in Henry James Studies P. Rawlings, 2007-01-09. This book explores landmark criticism on a writer who continues to command critical attention. In addition to mapping out the existing critical terrain, these essays offer a sense of future trajectories in James studies. Essays consider James's own criticism and theories of narrative and architecture, James's letters, money, and globalization.

The Cambridge History of the English Short Story Dominic Head, 2016-11-14. The Cambridge History of the English Short Story is the first comprehensive volume to capture the literary history of the English short story. Charting the origins and generic evolution of the English short story to the present day and written by international experts in the field, this book covers numerous transnational and historical connections between writers, modes, and forms of transmission. Suitable for English literature students and scholars of the English short story generally, it will become a standard work of reference in its field.

The Male Body in Medicine and Literature Andrew Mangham, Daniel Lea, 2018-05-01. With the dawn of modern medicine, there emerged a complex range of languages and methodologies for portraying the male body as prone to illness, injury, and dysfunction. Using a variety of historical and literary approaches, this collection explores how medicine has interacted with key moments in literature and culture Love between Men in English Literature Paul Hammond, 1996-11-12 This is the first book to provide an account of the representation of emotional and sexual relationships between men across English literature from the Renaissance to the modern period Based on new research but aimed at the student and the general reader Paul Hammond discusses major writers such as Marlowe and Shakespeare Tennyson and Wilde Forster and Lawrence but also introduces less familiar texts which cast light on the homosexual culture of their periods There is an extensive bibliography Eroticism and Containment Carol Siegel, Ann M. Kibbey, 1994-12 Sexual confessions on television talk shows Gender and medical discourse in colonial India River Phoenix in My Own Private Idaho White women in a German colony Henry James thwarted love What do these seemingly diverse subjects have in common All address in different ways social and cultural attempts to contain eroticism by delineating the perimeters of genders They scrutinize the political investments in the construction of gender in such disparate locations as contemporary Hollywood Renaissance England colonial India and Africa and in modern and contemporary homosexual discourse communities and in Freud's sessions with Dora But whether the gendering of the subject follows the dictates of conservative politics or the radical agenda of a marginalized interest the essays reveal the erotic overflow the flood that cannot be contained within any one gender identity In examining how the erotic escapes containment this work discloses problems inherent in the intersections of gender and desire go to the Genders website What Do We Tell the Children? Critical Essays on Children's Literature Ciara Ní Bhroin, Patricia Kennon, 2012-03-15 This peer reviewed collection of critical essays on children's literature addresses contemporary debates regarding what constitutes suitable texts for young audiences The volume examines what adult writers tell their child readers with particular focus on the following areas the representation of sexuality gender and the body the treatment of death and trauma concepts of race prejudice and national identity and the use of children's literature as a tool for socializing acculturating politicizing and educating children The focus of the collection is on Irish and international fiction addressed at readers from mid childhood to young adulthood One section of the book examines what child readers were told in the past while another section examines young readers capacity for self invention through the participatory culture of the twenty first century Topics explored include the controversial issue of teenage prostitution and the commodification of the male body in contemporary young adult fiction the allure of celebrity and the impact of today's surveillance culture on young people the representation of the Holocaust for young readers and representations of Muslim characters and culture in a post 9 11 mediascape This collection which offers insights into a range of literary constructions and representations of childhood will be a valuable resource for students and scholars working in children's literature youth culture and childhood studies Contributors Jane Suzanne Carroll Norma Clarke Shehrazade Emmambokus Michele Gill Marnie Hay Eimear Hegarty Nora Maguire Kerry Mallan Anne Markey Kimberley Reynolds Beth Rodgers Kay Sambell This is the fifth publication of the Irish Society for the Study of Children's Literature ISSCL It follows the Society's publication of
