Misic, 2011-09 We are living in an era of rampant political scandals that often leave Americans feeling discouraged and distrustful People who were voted into office lie with impunity commit crimes and sell out to lobbyists High ranking public officials equivocate or bend the facts before Congress Federal agencies make a laughing stock of their own mission statements The FAA is a case in point According to the agency's website its vision is to improve the safety and efficiency of aviation while being responsive to our customers and accountable to the public There is overwhelming evidence that the FAA is very far from attaining safety responsiveness or accountability Robert M Misic the author of Crash the agency ranks 214th out of 216 federal agencies in a best places to work index compiled in 2009 by the nonprofit Partnership for Public Service Internal hostilities at the FAA have caused many air traffic controllers to retire as soon as they are eligible often long before they are 56 the mandatory retirement age creating a staffing crisis The agency has been accused of mismanagement unqualified or inadequately trained supervisors and a dispirited workforce This has resulted in a culture of secrecy disparate treatment of its air traffic control workforce and compromised safety of the flying public This is especially troubling since promoting aviation safety is one of the reasons the FAA was established Strengths What is bureaupathology and how does this term apply to the FAA What are the consequences to the flying public when an agency responsible for all aspects of aviation safety is managed by bureaupaths _What is the evidence that this has caused ruined careers health problems and even death Compelling as those questions are it is the way the author answers them that sets this book apart Rather than merely presenting facts and evidence to support his premise Misic makes his case through stories stories of whistle blowing suicide tragedy in the air blatant disregard for life rule breaking errors in judgment unnecessary spending and irrational decisions Troubled Passage Edmund Preston, 1987 A Picture Story of the FAA ,1966 This High School Makes it Fly United States.
