El Alisal Jane Apostol, 1994      Charles F. Lummis Marc Simmons, 2008 Author photographer historian archeologist and preservationist Charles Fletcher Lummis stood tall in the affections of American Southwesterners at the turn of the 20th century A flamboyant figure of enormous energy he championed Indian rights and Hispanic culture while introducing Easterners through his many books to the rich heritage of New Mexico Arizona and California After years of fading from view the large Lummis legacy is being rediscovered His works are coming back into print and in 2006 the city of Los Angeles inaugurated an annual Lummis Day Festival This little book can acquaint readers with a remarkable recorder of history and can help to reawaken interest in his efforts to preserve the distinctive cultures of the American Southwest Additionally this book contains as its first chapter the complete contents of the classic Two Southwesterners Charles Lummis Amado Chaves by Marc Simmons originally published by San Marcos Press in 1968 and long unavailable until now      Translating Southwestern Landscapes Audrey Goodman, 2022-02-08 Winner of the Western Literature Association's Thomas J Lyon Award Whether as tourist's paradise countercultural destination or site of native resistance the American Southwest has functioned as an Anglo cultural fantasy for more than a century In Translating Southwestern Landscapes Audrey Goodman excavates this fantasy to show how the Southwest emerged as a symbolic space from 1880 through the early decades of the twentieth century Drawing on sources as diverse as regional magazines and modernist novels Pueblo portraits and New York exhibits Goodman has crafted a wide ranging history that explores the invention translation and representation of the Southwest Its principal players include amateur ethnographer Charles Lummis who conflated the critical work of cultural translation pulp novelist Zane Grey whose bestselling novels defined the social meanings of the modern West fashionable translator Mary Austin whose re expressions of Indian song are contrasted with recent examples of ethnopoetics and modernist author Willa Cather who demonstrated an immaterial feeling for landscape from the Nebraska Plains to Acoma Pueblo Goodman shows how these writers as well as photographers such as Paul Strand Ansel Adams and Alex Harris exhibit different phases of the struggle between an Anglo calling to document Native and Hispanic difference and America's larger drive toward imperial mastery In critiquing photographic representations of the Southwest she argues that commercial interests and eastern prejudices boiled down the experimental images of the late nineteenth century to a few visual myths the persistence of wilderness the innocence of early portraiture and the purity of empty space An ambitious synthesis of criticism and anthropology art history and geopolitical theory Translating Southwestern Landscapes names the defining contradictions of America's most recently invented cultural space It shows us that the Southwest of these early visitors is the only Southwest most of us have ever known      American Character Mark Thompson, 2012-03-07 Charles Fletcher Lummis began his spectacular career in 1884 by walking from Ohio to start a new job at the three year old Los Angeles Times By the time of his death in 1928 the 3 500 mile tramp across the continent was just a footnote in his astonishingly varied career
