Rising from the Dead Patricia Nanoff, 2013-10-23 Bridging the gap between spirituality and the recovering community Rising from the Dead Stories of Women's Spiritual Journeys to Sobriety tells the stories of alcoholic women in long term sobriety whose faith based rehabilitation healed and transformed their lives Using the format adopted by Alcoholics Anonymous in telling their stories each woman tells how it was what happened and how it is now Their stories are first examined within the more secular models of treatment and then in relation to theological categories and models Illustrating the catastrophic nature of alcoholism as well as the hopeful path to recovery this book offers a practical and valuable guide for professionals working in the Christian community to assist women suffering from addiction Rising from the Dead describes the 12 step spiritual approach to treating addiction and offers strategies for strengthening and developing the spiritual lives of those afflicted with this burden This book examines the use of stories from a therapeutic and Christian perspective and suggests models for therapeutic listening and counseling It also covers narrative construction issues with shame and guilt threshold experiences God language and much more An indispensable book on healing through communities of faith Rising from the Dead Stories of Women's Spiritual Journeys to Sobriety is ideal for pastors pastoral counselors chaplains parish nurses and seminary faculty teaching in the area of addiction ministry

Experience Design Abraham Burickson, 2023-11-06 An engaging introduction to the cutting edge discipline of experience design for students and practitioners in creative fields including architecture product design gaming exhibition design and performance What does it mean to design experiences Traditional design practices invite us to design things and to use those things to solve problems But experience is not a problem it is life Experience designers engage with unpredictability and the unknown partnering with their audiences to generate possibility and relationality Experience designers create worlds craft narratives that leave the page and enter people's lives and structure transformation Broadly interdisciplinary and deeply human experience design is a practice that at once embraces new technologies and offers a balm for our disconnected lives In this playful accessible and visually engaging book Burickson lays out ten basic principles for this emerging practice Experience Design A Participatory Manifesto invites the reader to stop making things and instead to craft the minutes and hours of human life Rigorous and philosophical the book guides the reader through the processes of empathic research constructing worlds not just for fantasy fiction but in schools communities homes and mastering the tools necessary to work coherently across disciplines to create new experiences Whether you are a maker of immersive theater an architect a graphic designer a community organizer or just someone hoping to give a better gift this book offers a vision of creating that is both new and as old as civilization

A Further Record Peter Demianovich Ouspensky, MR O Recurrence is in eternity It is not the same life This life ends and time ends There is a theory and this system admits this theory that time can be prolonged I have no evidence If you think about time how many attempts were made by spiritualists and others but there is no evidence The study of recurrence must begin with the study of children's minds and particularly before they begin to speak. If they could remember this time they could remember very interesting things. But unfortunately when they begin to speak they become real children and they forget after six months or a year. It is very seldom that people remember what they thought before that at a very early age. They would remember themselves such as they were grown up. They are not children at all. Then later they become children. If they remember their mentality it is the same mentality as grown up people have. That is what is interesting. Q Do you know why a child should remember its grown up mind and not its previous child's mind? MR O We have so little material to judge about it. I speak only about the way it can be studied. Suppose we try to remember our own, suppose we find it was one or another trying not to let imagination come in if we find something that would be material. In literature you find very little because people don't understand how to study it. But with my own experience I met with some very interesting things. Some people I knew had very interesting recollections of first years of life and they all had the same impression which was that the mentality was not a child's mentality, how they took people, how they recognized people, it was not a child's psychology. But most people don't remember that at all. You see what I mean. They had a ready mind such that you cannot imagine this ready mind with quite grown up reactions could be formed in six months of unconscious life. It had to be before if it is really so, but as I say it is very difficult to find material. Q Why should it disappear when the child learns to talk? MR O It begins to imitate children and do exactly what grown up people expect from him. They expect him to be a stupid child and he becomes a stupid child. Q How could recurrence be of advantage to man? MR O If one begins to remember and if one begins to change and not go by the same circle each time but do what one wants and what one thinks better and if one doesn't know about it or even if one knows and doesn't do anything then there is no advantage in it at all. It is generally the same things repeated and repeated. Q Having met the system in one recurrence will one meet it again in the next? MR O It depends what one did with the system. One could meet the system and say What nonsense these people talk. It depends how much effort one makes. If one made efforts one could acquire something and that may remain if it was not only in surface personality if it wasn't only formative. Q Does one necessarily follow some line of action in each recurrence? MR O The law about it is that all acquired tendencies repeat themselves. One person acquires a tendency to study or be interested in certain things. He will be interested again. Another acquires a tendency to run away from certain things. Then he will run away again. Q Do these tendencies grow stronger? MR O They may or they may grow in a different direction. There is no guarantee until one reaches some kind of conscious action when one has a certain possibility to trust oneself. Q Does the parallel time mean that all moments continually exist? MR O Yes. It is very difficult to think about it. Certainly it means eternity of the moment but our minds cannot think in that way. Our mind is a very limited machine. We must think in the easiest way and make allowances for it. It is easier to think of repetition than of the eternal existence of the moment. You must understand that our mind cannot formulate rightly things as they are. We must have only approximate formulations which are nearer to truth than our ordinary thinking That is all that is possible Our mind and our language are very rough instruments and we have to deal with very fine matters and fine problems Studying children this is the easiest way to study it If we had enough material we could answer many questions Why for instance strange tendencies appear in children quite opposite to their surrounding circumstances quite new to the people who surround them It happens sometimes in many different ways and they may be very strong tendencies that may change the life and go quite unexpected ways when there is nothing in heredity to produce that As I said heredity in man does not work it is a fantastic idea It works in dogs and horses but not in men Q Does not the question of types come into that MR O Yes but we know nothing about types not enough to speak about them And this is why in most cases it happens that parents don't understand children and children don't understand parents They never could really understand one another sufficiently or rightly They are quite different people strangers to one another they just happened to meet accidentally at a certain station and then go in different directions again Q When you said Observe children what do you mean MR O That is what is so difficult If you observe tendencies on a big scale you can find quite unexpected tendencies You can say it is the result of a certain reason or surroundings but quite unexpected tendencies can appear in quite young children and not accidental tendencies that appear and disappear They will continue throughout life afterwards In this case according to this theory it may be a tendency acquired in a previous life in much later years and then it appears very early Q From the point of view of recurrence then may it not be that some important actions that we make between now and the time that we die are really responsible for our tendencies now MR O You mean in previous lives Quite possibly Only one thing this work did not exist before It may be that other work did there are many different kinds but not this It didn't exist before that I am perfectly sure of Q What I mean is that it seems such a huge idea to think that between now and the time we die we make the fatal actions which will give us tendencies for next time MR O Certainly Every moment of our lives we may create tendencies that we may not be able to get rid of for ten lives That is why in Indian literature they always emphasize this point It may be in fairy tale form but the principle is the same APRIL 4TH 1938 Q MR O said that this work has not occurred before Does this mean also that it will not occur again MR O There is no guarantee That will depend on you for yourself Certainly one thing could be certain it will not happen in the same way Maybe there will be groups and schools only not in the same way and not at the same time Work is the only thing which is not under the law of recurrence otherwise it is not work If it is a little conscious it cannot be under recurrence Then again in this particular work many things will happen quite differently What was now at a certain time will begin perhaps twenty years earlier Q In my childhood I was greatly attached to a cousin three years older than myself who died when she was ten If her brief life has repeated itself four or five times since then my life as related to hers must also have repeated itself How is this explained MR O It is very difficult to explain it and at the same time mathematically it is very simple Our calculation of length of this time is based on certain ideas of duration We say that ten years are less than a longer life of say fifty years Really there is no guarantee that it is shorter or longer I said in one page of the New Model suppose for a moment that what looks to us like different duration is the same duration but the speed is different There are many things which we take as the foundation of our world which are really illusions In any case it is not difficult to adjust one life to another life but our power of visualization is too small and weak for that We have to leave it as a problem and understand that it may be adjusted somehow Q How is it possible to know what a baby remembers I thought that one was born with one's centres completely blank and that one remembered with centres MR O This is a strange thing Some people who don't differ much from other people have strange and quite definite recollections of their first months even They think they saw people as grown up people do not as children They don't make compound pictures from elements but they have quite definite impressions of houses people and so on They have a quite grown up mentality Memoir of the First Centenary of the Earliest Protestant Mission at Madras William Taylor (orientalist, missionary.),1847 Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine ,1829

Religion and American Cultures Gary Laderman,Luis León,2014-12-17 This four volume work provides a detailed multicultural survey of established as well as new American religions and investigates the fascinating interactions between religion and ethnicity gender politics regionalism ethics and popular culture This revised and expanded edition of Religion and American Cultures Tradition Diversity and Popular Expression presents more than 140 essays that address contemporary spiritual practice and culture with a historical perspective The entries cover virtually every religion in modern day America as well as the role of religion in various aspects of U S culture Readers will discover that Americans aren't largely Protestant Catholic or Jewish anymore and that the number of popular religious identities is far greater than many would imagine And although most Americans believe in a higher power the fastest growing identity in the United States is the none's those Americans who elect none when asked about their religious identity thereby demonstrating how many individuals see their spirituality as something not easily defined or categorized The first volume explores America's multicultural communities and their religious practices covering the range of different religions among Anglo Americans and Euro Americans as well as spirituality among Latino African American Native American and Asian American communities The second volume focuses on cultural aspects of religions addressing topics such as film Generation X public sacred spaces sexuality and new religious expressions The new third volume expands the range of topics covered with in depth essays on additional topics such as interfaith families religion in prisons belief in the paranormal and religion after September 11 2001 The fourth volume is devoted to complementary primary source documents Proposed Improvements in the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 United States. Worship Formation Steven D. Brooks,2020-02-17 Worship Formation provides a thoughtful perspective on Christian worship and addresses how each element within a worship service spiritually forms the worshiper Brooks challenges the reader toward an understanding that worshipping through music prayer Scripture reading Communion sermon stillness giving and baptism engages the worshiper in spiritual formation Worship Formation encourages the worshiper to not just go through the motions when they gather for worship but to realize that they are being formed through each element of worship and challenges those in leadership to be thoughtful in their approach to planning and leading worship services

Thinking about God in an Age of Technology George Pattison, 2005-09-22

Taking up the critique of theology found in the work of Heidegger George Pattison argues for a model of thinking about God that would not be liable to the charge of enframing that Heidegger sees as characteristic of technological thinking He constructs his case in relation to particular issues in bioethics the place of theology in the university the arts and the contemporary experience of living in the city

The Public Significance of Religion Leslie J. Francis, Hans-Georg Ziebertz, 2011-06-22

This book reflects on the idea that religion represents a force in the public realms of society The empirical evidence reveals a regained relevance for and commitment to religion re emerging in secularized countries but also that it does so in a new form unexpected foreign and maybe even dangerous If religion regains public significance in social debates what are its characteristics in terms of topics and interests actors and parties How is this experienced and evaluated by different groups in society What are the motives of religious groups and churches to re enter the public domain and are they effective What is the importance of religious groups claiming participation consulting steering and dominating in public debates How do different religious and nonreligious groups evaluate the impact of religion on the public environment and under which conditions can it be regarded to be functional or dysfunctional Scholars who address these questions do so from a theological or a religious studies perspective They reflect on the phrase public significance of a religion in its political cultural and typical religious dimension The book points out what tendencies can be observed when different religions profile themselves competitively in public debate and to what extent ethnic and national identities intervene in this interreligious interaction

Chances Are Valerie Rohy, 2019-10-11

This innovative work makes use of psychoanalytic queer and narrative theories to read nineteenth and twentieth century American literature and demonstrate how the concept of contingency whether chance accident luck or mutation enriches our understanding of how queer sexualities are articulated Perhaps love always carries an element of contingency our attraction to a particular person can be arbitrary and inexplicable and a sense of necessity we find that we cannot imagine life without them But contingency and chance mean something different for queer subjects In a heteronormative culture heterosexuality claims to be necessary it must be whereas homosexuality not only could be otherwise but perhaps it should be otherwise and probably it should not be at all This book outlines why and how issues of chance and contingency should matter to queer theory and queer literary studies Combining psychoanalytic queer and narrative theories Chances Are considers nineteenth and twentieth century American literary texts that formally or thematically involve contingencies of their own including narrative coincidences and accidents the role of luck in notions of race and class and efforts to imagine queer hermeneutic methods that make space for contingency Literary texts include Edgar Allan Poe's The Mystery of Marie Rogé 1842 Horatio Alger's Ragged Dick novels 1868-69 Frank Norris's The Pit 1903 and Edith Wharton's The House of Mirth 1905 Frances E. W. Harper's Iola Leroy 1892 and Nella Larsen's Passing 1929 H. D.'s Tribute to Freud 1956 and Alison Bechdel's Are You My Mother 2012 This dynamic and original text would be suitable for students and researchers in literary studies critical theory and women's and gender studies

The Oxford Handbook of Montaigne Philippe Desan, 2016-10-14 In 1580 Michel de Montaigne 1533-1592 published a book unique by its title and its content Essays A literary genre was born At first sight the Essays resemble a patchwork of personal reflections but they engage with questions that animate the human mind and tend toward a single goal to live better in the present and to prepare for death For this reason Montaigne's thought and writings have been a subject of enduring interest across disciplines This Handbook brings together essays by prominent scholars that examine Montaigne's literary philosophical and political contributions and assess his legacy and relevance today in a global perspective The chapters of this Handbook offer a sweeping study of Montaigne across different disciplines and in a global perspective One section covers the historical Montaigne situating his thought in his own time and space notably the Wars of Religion in France The political historical and religious context of Montaigne's Essays requires a rigorous presentation to inform the modern reader of the issues and problems that confronted Montaigne and his contemporaries in his own time In addition to this contextual approach to Montaigne the Handbook also establishes a connection between Montaigne's writings and issues and problems directly relevant to our modern times that is to say our age of global ideology Montaigne's considerations or essays offer a point of departure for the modern reader's own assessments The Essays analyze what can be broadly defined as human nature the endless process by which the individual tries to impose opinions upon others through the production of laws policies or philosophies Montaigne's motto What do I know is a simple question yet one of perennial significance One could argue that reading Montaigne today teaches us that the angle defines the world we see or as Montaigne wrote What matters
