Translating Jazz Into Poetry Erik Redling, 2017-02-20 The study develops a new theoretical approach to the relationship between two media jazz music and writing and demonstrates its explanatory power with the help of a rich sampling of jazz poems Currently the mimetic approach to intermediality e.g. the notion that jazz poetry imitates jazz music still dominates the field of criticism This book challenges that interpretive approach It demonstrates that a mimetic view of jazz poetry hinders readers from perceiving the metaphoric ways poets rendered music in writing Drawing on and extending recent cognitive metaphor theories Lakoff Johnson Turner Fauconnier it promotes a conceptual metaphor model that allows readers to discover the innovative ways poets translate melody dynamics tempo mood and other musical elements into literal and figurative expressions that invite readers to imagine the music in their mind's eye i.e. their mind's ear

Writers of the Black Chicago Renaissance Steven C. Tracy, 2011-11-01 Writers of the Black Chicago Renaissance comprehensively explores the contours and content of the Black Chicago Renaissance a creative movement that emerged from the crucible of rigid segregation in Chicago's Black Belt from the 1930s through the 1960s. Heavily influenced by the Harlem Renaissance and the Chicago Renaissance of white writers, its participants were invested in political activism and social change as much as literature, art, and aesthetics. The revolutionary writing of this era produced some of the first great accolades for African American literature and set up much of the important writing that came to fruition in the Black Arts Movement. The volume covers a vast collection of subjects including many important writers such as Richard Wright, Gwendolyn Brooks, and Lorraine Hansberry, as well as cultural products such as black newspapers, music, and theater. The book includes individual entries by experts on each subject, a discography, and a filmography that highlight important writers, musicians, films, and cultural presentations, and an introduction that relates the Harlem Renaissance, the White Chicago Renaissance, the Black Chicago Renaissance, and the Black Arts Movement. Contributors are Robert Butler, Robert H. Cataliotti, Maryemma Graham, James C. Hall, James L. Hill, Michael Hill, Lorraine Hansberry, Lawrence Jackson, Angelene Jamison, Keith Leonard, Lisbeth Lipari, Bill V. Mullen, Patrick Naick, William R. Nash, Charlene Regester, Kimberly Ruffin, Elizabeth Schultz, Joyce Hope Scott, James Smethurst, Kimberly M. Stanley, Kathryn Waddell, Takara Steven, C. Gettin' Around Jürgen E. Grandt, 2018-12-15. Gettin' Around examines how the global jazz aesthetic strives in various ways toward an imaginative reconfiguration of a humanity that transcends entrenched borders of ethnicity and nationhood while at the same time remaining keenly aware of the exigencies of history. Jürgen E. Grandt deliberately refrains from a narrow empirical definition of jazz or of transnationalism and, true to the jazz aesthetic itself, opts for a broader, more inclusive scope even as he listens carefully and closely to jazz's variegated soundtrack. Such an approach seeks not only to avoid the museal whiff of a golden age time past but also to broaden the appeal and the applicability of the overall critical argument. For Grandt, international simply designates currents of people, ideas, and goods between distinct geopolitical entities or nation-states, whereas transnational refers to liminal dynamics that transcend preordained borderlines occurring above, below, beside, or along the outer contours of nation-states. Gettin' Around offers a long overdue consideration of the ways in which jazz music can inform critical practice in the field of transnational American studies and grounds these studies in specifically African American cultural contexts.
