

How Do We See Colour?

We usually see light as being white, but it actually contains all the colours of the rainbow.

When an object looks red, it will absorb every colour except for red. This means that it will reflect the red, causing it to enter your eyes.

Therefore, if an object is green, it will absorb every colour except for green.

Parts of the Eye

Cornea - the outer transparent part which light enters through

Lens - an oval-shaped part that focuses light onto the retina

Pupil - the hole through which light passes to enter the eye

Retina - the back of the eye where light is converted into signals for the brain

Optic Nerve - carries signals from the retina to the brain

Optic Nerve - carries signals from the retina to the brain
