Fabricating Europe The Formation Of An Education Space:

Fabricating Europe António Nóvoa, Martin Lawn, 2002-08-31 Fabricating Europe has within it a core idea a crucial but imprecise idea that of a European educational space which transnational governance networks and cultural and economic projects are creating now Yet the perceptible creation of this contemporary space of European policy making and networking has not been a subject of study It appears offstage in studies of national systems in which national and professional identity political organization policy formation and public private markets are all viewed as contained within the borders of the state Fabricating Europe is concerned with the new possibilities to be discerned and imagined in the European public and institutional spaces and discourses in education and the lack of impetus within the broad area of educational studies to meet the task of creating analyses and responses

Comparative Education Robert F. Arnove, Carlos Alberto Torres, Stephen Franz, 2012-12-27 Comparative Education The Dialectic of the Global and the Local remains the same groundbreaking book when it first debuted its collection of outstanding scholars in examining the changing transnational landscape of education With the addition of new coeditor Stephen Franz the book provides new perspectives on the dynamic interplay of global national and local forces as they shape the functions and outcomes of education systems The book calls for a rethinking of the nation state as the basic unit for analyzing school society relations and emphasizes the need to study social movements in relation to educational reforms It also emphasizes the value of feminist postcolonial and culturally sensitive perspectives for inquiry into the potential of education systems to contribute to individual development and social change This new edition incorporates recent developments in scholarship especially in education policy and practice the impact of the global economic crisis and a new chapter on education in the European Union

Governing through Standards: the Faceless Masters of Higher Education Katja Brøgger, 2018-11-09 This book offers an empirical and theoretical account of the mode of governance that characterizes the Bologna Process In addition it shows how the reform materializes and is translated in everyday working life among professors and managers in higher education It examines the so called Open Method of Coordination as a powerful actor that uses soft governance to advance transnational standards in higher education The book shows how these standards no longer serve as tools for what were once human organizational national or international regulators Instead the standards have become regulators themselves the faceless masters of higher education By exploring this the book reveals the close connections between the Bologna Process and the EU regarding regulative and monitoring techniques such as standardizations and comparisons which are carried out through the Open Method of Coordination It suggests that the Bologna Process works as a subtle means to circumvent the EU s subsidiarity principle making it possible to accomplish a European governance of higher education despite the fact that education falls outside EU s legislative reach The book s research interest in translation processes agency and power relations among policy actors positions it in studies on policy transfer policy borrowing and globalization However different from conventional approaches this study draws on additional interpretive frameworks such as new materialism

School Policy
 Reform in Europe John Benedicto Krejsler, Lejf Moos, 2023-07-31 This book discusses national school policy reforms in a number of key European countries and shows how these are framed in transnational collaborations that meet with national particularities and contestations It gives an overview of school policy developments that represents the diversity of Europe within a comparative framework It takes point of departure in the fact that European countries in their school and education policies have been increasingly aligning with each other mostly via transnational collaborations the OECD EU and the Bologna Process Even the IEA has been instrumental to motivate alignments by means of influential surveys knowledge production and methodological development This alignment in terms of common standards social technologies qualification frameworks and so forth have aimed at facilitating mobility of students workers business and so forth as well as fostering a European identity among citizens from Europe's patchwork of small and medium size countries representing a patchwork of different languages cultures and societal contexts In national recontextualizations however alignments have been continuously contested according to the particularities of what has been possible educationally and politically in the different national contexts Furthermore the return of nationalisms as well as the rise of edubusiness and digitalization have been increasingly influential This book thus concludes that increasing transnational alignments have to be observed with meticulous attention to different national contexts that matter greatly
