Discourse Deixis in Metafiction Andrea Macrae,2019-04-16 This volume advances scholarly understanding of the ways in which discourse deixis underpins the workings of metafictional novels Building on existing scholarship in the field the book begins by mapping out key themes and techniques in metafiction and puts forward a focused and theoretically coherent account of discourse deixis language which points to a section or aspect of the discourse context in which that language is used in written literary discourse highlighting its inherent significance in metafiction specifically Macrae takes readers through an exploration of discourse deixis as used within the techniques of metanarration metalepsis and disnarration drawing on a mix of both well established and lesser known metafictional novels from the late 1960s and early 1970s by such authors as John Barth Brigid Brophy Robert Coover John Fowles Steve Katz and B S Johnson This comprehensive account integrates and develops a new approach to understanding discourse deixis and innovative insights into metafictionality more broadly and will be of particular interest to scholars in literary studies postmodern literature narratology and stylistics

Victorian Metafiction Tabitha Sparks,2022-11-17 Critics agree in the abstract that metafiction refers to any novel that draws attention to its own fictional construction but metafiction has been largely associated with the postmodern era In this innovative new book Tabitha Sparks identifies a sustained pattern of metafiction in the Victorian novel that illuminates the art and intentions of its female practitioners From the mid nineteenth century through the fin de si cle novels by Victorian women such as Charlotte Bront Rhoda Broughton Charlotte Riddell Eliza Lynn Linton and several New Women authors share a common but underexamined trope the fictional characterization of the woman novelist or autobiographer Victorian Metafiction reveals how these novels systemically dispute the assumptions that women wrote primarily about their emotions or were restricted to trivial sentimental plots Countering an established tradition that has read novels by women writers as heavily autobiographical and confessional Sparks identifies the literary technique of metafiction in numerous novels by women writers and argues that women used metafictional self consciousness to draw the reader s attention to the book and not the novelist By dislodging the narrative from these cultural prescriptions Victorian Metafiction effectively argues how these women novelists presented the business and art of writing as the subject of the novel and wrote metafiction in order to establish their artistic integrity and professional authority

Black Metafiction Madelyn Jablon,1997 Examines the tradition of self consciousness in African American literature The book points to the shortcomings of theories of metafiction founded on studies of Anglo American literature It analyzes and evaluates these theories providing a model for the evaluation of other Eurocentric theories

Metafiction Mark Currie,2014-07-15 Metafiction is one of the most distinctive features of postwar fiction appearing in the work of novelists as varied as Eco Borges Martin Amis and Julian Barnes It comprises two elements firstly cause the increasing interpenetration of professional literary criticism and the practice of writing and secondly effect an emphasis on the playing with styles and forms resulting from an enhanced self consciousness and awareness of the elusiveness of meaning and the limitations of the realist form Dr Currie s volume examines first the two components of metafiction with practical illustrations from the work of such writers as Derrida and Foucault A final section then provides the view of metafiction as seen by metafictional writers themselves Beyond the Metafictional Mode Robert C. Spires,2021-11-21 The term metafiction invaded the vocabulary of literary criticism around 1970 yet the textual strategies involved in turning fiction back onto itself can be traced through several centuries In this theoretical critical study Robert C Spires examines the nature of metafiction and chronicles its evolution in Spain from the time of Cervantes to the 1970s when the obsession with novelistic self commentary culminated in an important literary movement The critical portions of this study focus primarily on twentieth century works Included are analyses of Unamuno s Niebla Jarn s s Locura y muerte de nadie and La novia del viento Torrente Ballester s Don Juan Cunquero s Un hombre que se parec a a Orestes and three novels from the self referential movement of the 1970s Juan Goytisolo s Juan sin Tierra Luis Goytisolo s La colera de Aquiles and Mart n Gaité s El cuarto de atr s Seeking a stronger theoretical basis for his critical readings Spires offers a sharpened definition of the term metafiction The mode arises he declares through an intentional violation of the boundaries that normally separate the worlds of the author the fiction and the reader Building on theoretical foundations laid by Frye Scholes Genette and others Spires also proposes a literary paradigm that places metafiction in a position intermediate between fiction and literary theory These theoretical formulations place Spires s book in the forefront of critical thought At the same time his full scale analyses of Spanish metafictional works will be welcomed by Hispanists and other students of world literature Authorial Presence in American Metafiction Sister Aaron Winkelman (O.P.),1990 The A to Z of Postmodernist Literature and Theater Fran Mason,2009 The A to Z of Postmodernist Literature and Theater examines the different areas of postmodernist literature and theater and the variety of forms that have been produced It contains a list of acronyms a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and several hundred cross referenced dictionary entries on individual writers important aesthetic practices significant texts and important movements and ideas that have created a variety of literary approaches within the form By placing these concerns within the historical philosophical and cultural contexts of postmodernism this reference explores the frameworks within which postmodernist literature of the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries operates Book Jacket Us / Them,2021-11-22 Carnival of Repetition John Johnston,2016-11-11 Although published many decades ago William Gaddis s The Recognitions is only now beginning to receive the critical attention it deserves Carnival of Repetition the first full length study of the novel is a sophisticated analysis that places it in a new literary and cultural context This novel of the 1950 s is unlike anything else from that decade It harks back to the works of high modernism exemplified by Joyce s Ulysses and looks forward to postmodern fiction especially as practiced by Barth Pynchon and DeLillo Imitation is its major theme one that Gaddis pursues on many levels across several continents into mazes of arcane knowledge and bogus scholarship and even into the novel's structure through the repetition of prior texts and the interplay between literal and disguised quotation. Through an endless play of repetition Gaddis confounds the reader's recognition of similarity and difference. Johnston uses the theories of Bakhtin and Deleuze and others such as Julia Kristeva to map out a context for this most unusual and difficult work. From Bakhtin he appropriates the concepts of carnivalesque fiction and dialogism or a plurality of independent voices no one more important than another. From Deleuze he borrows the idea of the simulacrum a copy that presupposes no original and that becomes meaningful through a process of infinite repetition. With these instruments Johnston analyzes the labyrinth of copy and counterfeit that Gaddis constructs in his novel.

The Routledge Dictionary of Literary Terms Roger Fowler, 2006-07-13 Covering both established terminology as well as the specialist vocabulary of modern theoretical schools this is an indispensable guide to the principal terms and concepts encountered in debates over literary studies in the twenty first century.

Fictional Space in the Modernist and Post-modernist American Novel Carl Darryl Malmgren, 1985 Fictional space is the imaginal expanse of field created by fictional discourse a space which through ultimately self referential and self validating necessarily exists in ascertainable relation to the real world outside the text. The Oxford Handbook of Global Realisms Vaysman, 2025-11-04 Realism is an artistic practice that aims to faithfully represent reality. Historically it has been practiced across different media from early pictorial art and epic oral narratives through literature and visual arts to film music and digital media. However an

Fiction Henri Bergson and the Fabulations of Philip K Dick explores the deep affinity between two seemingly quite different thinkers in their attempts to address the need for salvation in and from an era of accelerated mechanization in which humans capacity for destroying or subjugating the living has attained a planetary scale The philosopher and the science fiction writer come together to meet the contradictory imperatives of a realist outlook a task which arguably philosophy and science fiction could only ever adequately undertake in collaboration Their respective approaches meet in a focus on the ambiguous status of fictionalizing or fabulation as simultaneously one of mechanization s most devastating tools and the possibility of its undoing When they are read together the complexities and paradoxes thrown up by this ambiguity with which both Bergson and Dick struggle on their own open up new ways to navigate ideas of mechanism and mysticism immanence and transcendence and the possibility and meaning of salvation The result is at once an original reading of both thinkers a new critical theory of the socio cultural political and ethical function of fictionalizing and a case study in the strange affinity at times the uncanny similarity between philosophy and science fiction
