The Pocket-Size God Robert F. Griffin C.S.C.,2016-03-15 Fr Robert Griffin C S C 1925 1999 was a beloved member of the Notre Dame community With his cocker spaniel Darby O Gill he was instantly recognizable on campus He was well known for his priestly work counseling students as university chaplain for thirty years his summer ministry to the homeless and parishioners in New York City and his weekly columns in the student newspaper The Observer in which he invited the campus community to reflect with him on the challenges and joys of being Catholic in a time of enormous social and religious change This collection draws together essays that Griffin wrote for Notre Dame Magazine between 1972 and 1994 In them he considers many of the challenges that beset church and campus such as the laicization of priests premarital sex the erosion of institutional authority intolerance toward gay people and failure of fidelity to the teachings of the church Griffin also ruminates on the distress that human beings experience in the ordinariness of their lives the difficulty of communication in families grief over the loss of family and friends the agonies of isolation and the need for forgiveness Griffin s shrewd insights still ring true for people today His efforts to temper the winds of institutional rules cultural change and personal suffering reveal a mind keenly attuned to the need for understanding human limitations and to the presence of grace in times of change Griffin quotes from the works of literary modernists such as Fitzgerald and Hemingway whose novels and short stories he loved in these allusions and in his own reflections and experiences Griffin bridges the spiritual and the secular and offers hope for reconciliation and comfort

Many people destined for great lives of exploits live and die as averages a disappointment to their destiny and the world they were created to impact Many even fail totally and end up as liabilities to the same world they were designed for as assets Too often the blame is laid at the devil's doorstep Average lives never take responsibility for their averages failures hardly acknowledge their pivotal roles in their failings Somebody must be the cause We externalize the causes and exonerate ourselves of all faults when things go wrong However the truth in life is that we have so much to do with what happens to us Either by carelessness laziness or errors of omission or commission we can hardly honestly wholly blame the devil his agents or anybody we feel comfortable enough to blame especially when they are not offered an opportunity of self defence This book examines how we may be guilty It x rays the booby traps and pitfalls we need to watch out for in life as we march towards destiny fulfillment These pitfalls have no respect for ages or titles They can undo anybody young or old rich or poor the famous or the unknown Great marriages have been broken excellent careers have been truncated loving homes have become war zones wonderful businesses have crumbled due to some of these avoidable but often taken for granted pitfalls Therefore a prayerful study of this book will help you locate where you are on your pathway to fulfill your destiny and watch out for those little foxes that can prevent your arrival May the eyes of your understanding be enlightened as you read and may you walk in the grace that enables men win the race
