God Suffers For Us A Systematic Inquiry Into A Concept Of Divine Possibility:

God Suffers for Us J.Y. Lee, 2012-12-06 Dietrich Bonhoeffer writing in his cell in a Nazi prison expressed a most remarkable idea Men go to God in His need This is the insight he observed which distinguishes the Christian faith from all other religions It is a universal belief that God or the gods should come to help man in his mortal human need But this is not the God and Father of Jesus Christ Even as Jesus in Gethsemane chided his disciples for their sloth in not keeping watch with him during his agony so God the Father must look to His creatures for their faith and sympathy Therein lies the basis for the Christian answer to man kind s perennial complaint Why do men suffer Not all theologians believing Christians or believers in a personal God can share this idea Traditionally the Eastern Orthodox thinkers have adhered to the rule of apophatic theology that is there are boundaries of knowledge about God which the human mind even when enlightened by revelation cannot cross So who can say that God the Eternal One is susceptible to what we call suffering It is better to hold one s silence on so deep a mystery Still others are loathe to acknowledge God s passibility for varying reasons God is ultimate and perfect therefore he cannot know suffering or other emotions God is impersonal therefore it is meaningless to ascribe personal anthropopathic feelings to Him Many angels may fear to tread on the ground of this most difficult question

Divine Impassibility Richard E. Creel, 2005-06-21 In this volume Richard Creel sets forth a thesis that offers a third way to approach divine impassibility Defining impassibility as imperviousness to causal influence from external factors Creel sketches a path between Aquinas and Hartshorne by asserting that once this definition is accepted one must still distinguish the various respects in which God is or is not impassible Virtually no one would dispute that the divine nature is impassible God will never cease to be God no matter what happens in creation With respect to the divine knowledge and will however there are conflicting views Creel claims that God s will is impassible because God knows everything that can be accomplished by divine power Yet unlike Aquinas Creel believes that God has this knowledge in virtue of a plenum of possibilities eternally coexistent with the divine being The absolute is not simply God but rather God plus the plenum Creel suggests that God s knowledge is passible with respect to the contingent future actions of creatures God knows these actions therefore not in their presentiality from all eternity as Aquinas would hold but only as they happen and become actual God s will however remains immediately impassible because the divine will is ordered to possibilities not actualities God never has to wait until after we do something in order to decide his response to it He has eternally decided his response to all that we might do Ultimately God s feelings remain impassible no matter what concrete decisions human beings make because the basic intent of the divine plan for us is always achieved we exercise our freedom to choose for or against God God is impassible with respect to the divine nature divine will and divine feelings but God is passible with respect to the divine knowledge of future contingent events

The Passion of God Warren McWilliams, 1985-06 The Trinity and the Kingdom Jürgen Moltmann, 1993-09-01 An excellent introduction to the prophets and the prophetic literature The goal of the book is to understand the thought of the prophets in their historical contexts and to communicate that understanding for our time Its approach while innovative builds upon the best of contemporary analysis of the prophetic literature Gene M Tucker Candler School of Theology Emory University Koch's first volume on the prophets of ancient Israel displays his sound and creative scholarship and will fill a bibliographical gap He displays the individuality of each prophet with perceptive insight but he also compares and interrelates them in his various summaries Furthermore Koch relates his study of individual prophets to theological currents that have been flowing through the scholarly world in recent decades Bernhard W Anderson Princeton Theological Seminary

Rebuilding Religious Experience Linh Ngoc Hoang, 2007 Vietnamese Catholic refugees enter into a process in the United States of culture negotiation that brings together their history as a colonized people in Vietnam the experience of refugee resettlement and a unique appropriation of the Christian doctrine of the Trinity This latter theological perspective helps the Vietnamese American Catholic community mediate their Confucian-based relationships and the new relationships into which they must enter in the United States This appropriation also balances apparent internal inconsistencies in the doctrine that become evident in new cultural settings in this instance the encounter between Eastern and Western cultures As Vietnamese Catholics remain and grow in America they continue this cultural negotiation between their previous home and their new one In doing so they make a unique contribution both to a multicultural American Catholic Church and to our wider understanding of how refugees rebuild their worlds
