

Standard	Criteria
ASU 2014-15 (current U.S. accounting standard)	Substantial doubt about an entity's ability to continue as a going concern exists when conditions and events, considered in the aggregate, indicate that it is probable that the entity will be unable to meet its obligations as they become due within one year after the date that the financial statements are issued.
AU section 341 (current U.S. auditing standard)	Evaluate whether there is substantial doubt about the entity's ability to continue as a going concern for a reasonable period of time, not to exceed one year beyond the date of the financial statements being audited.
IAS 1 (current international accounting standard)	In assessing whether the going concern assumption is appropriate, management takes into all available information about the future, which is at least, but not limited to, account 12 months from the end of the reporting period.
ISA section 570 (current international auditing standard)	The auditor shall cover the same period as that used by management to make its assessment as required by the applicable financial reporting framework ("foreseeable future"), or by law or regulation if it specifies a longer period. If management's assessment of the entity's ability to continue as a going concern covers less than 12 months from the date of the financial statements ... the auditor shall request management to extend its assessment period to at least 12 months from that date.
