Food, Nature and Society European Society for Rural Sociology. Congress, 2001

Social Activism in Southeast Asia Michele Ford, 2013 Social Activism in Southeast Asia examines the ways in which social movements operate in a region characterized by a history of authoritarian regimes and relatively weak civil society It situates cutting edge accounts of activism around civil and political rights globalization peace the environment migrant and factory labour the rights of middle and working class women and sexual identity in an overarching framework of analysis that forefronts the importance of human rights and the state as a focus for social activism Drawing on contemporary evidence from Cambodia Indonesia Malaysia Myanmar the Philippines Singapore Thailand and Timor Leste the book explores the ways in which social movement actors engage with their international allies the community and the state in order to promote social change As well as providing detailed and nuanced analyses of particular movements in specific areas of Southeast Asia the book addresses difficult questions about the politics strategies and authenticity of social movements

Global Villages Ger Duijzings, 2014-12-01 This book explores the multiple effects of globalization on urban and rural communities providing anthropological case studies from postsocialist Bulgaria As globalization has been studied largely in urban contexts the aim of this volume is to shift attention to the under examined countryside and analyse how transnational links are transforming relations between cities towns and villages The volume also challenges undifferentiated notions of the countryside calling for an awareness of rural economic and social disparities which are often only associated with urban environments The work focuses on how the urban and rural have been reconfigured following the end of socialism and the advent of globalization in socioeconomic as well as political ideological and cultural terms

Imagining Sustainable Food Systems Alison Blay-Palmer, 2016-05-13 What defines a sustainable food system How can it be more inclusive How do local and global scales interact and how does power flow within food systems How to encourage an interdisciplinary approach to realizing sustainable food systems And how to activate change These questions are considered by EU and North American academics and practitioners in this book Using a wide range of case studies it provides a critical overview showing how and where theory and practice can converge to produce more sustainable food systems      Going Organic Stewart Lockie, K. Lyons, G. Lawrence, 2006 This book sets out to examine what really is going on in the organic sector socially and politically In the process it debunks a number of apparently common sense beliefs that organic consumers are wealthy environmental and health extremists that growth in the industry will inevitably undermine its environmental values that mainstream media is antagonistic to organics and that the industry is driven by consumer demand This book seeks to make a practical contribution to the development of more sustainable food systems by articulating what it takes to get people involved in organics at each stage of the food chain      Handbook of Rural Studies Paul Cloke, Terry Marsden, Patrick Mooney, 2006-01-26 This is a unique interpretation of rural issues that will become essential reference for students scholars politicians developers and rural activists Imre Kovach President European Society for Rural Sociology Research director Institute for Political Sciences Budapest      Rural Gender Relations Bettina Barbara Bock, S. Shortall, 2006 This exciting new book brings together renowned international scholars to explore the gender effects of the current transformation of agriculture and rural life It presents a comparative perspective on key research themes of rural gender relations with each section beginning with a comprehensive overview Five themes are addressed developments in rural gender theory and research methodology changes in farm households patterns of rural migration the impact of national and international policies and the construction of gender identities as a result of rural changes Contributors include scholars from Europe North America South Africa Australia and New Zealand      Globalisation, Localisation and Sustainable Livelihoods Geoffrey Lawrence, Reidar Almas, 2018-02-06 This title was first published in 2002 One of the greatest concerns facing the world is how to ensure that sustainable outcomes are generated as globalization proceeds apace Quite simply many people are finding their life chances deteriorating with resistance to globalization being a common response The question is is it possible to guarantee sustainable livelihoods for individuals families and communities as global processes increasingly shape local social relations This volume is a collection of 16 chapters from leading rural sociologists and human geographers based in Europe Australasia and the Americas The book in three parts deals with globalization and food the restructuring of local agriculture and communities and resistance in a globalizing world The introduction to the book compares and contrasts the various experiences of communities in countries such as Australia Brazil Finland Norway South Africa and the United States as they struggle to cope with globalization and its effects Each chapter discusses options to ameliorate the local consequences of global change      Power and Gender in European Rural Development Henk de Haan, 2017-11-28 Since the early 1990s new public and private actors emphasizing issues such as landscape nature environment and food safety have challenged EU rural development policies This book looks at this innovative framework and in particular the impacts of the interactions between established interests and newcomers in local power relations Specific attention has been given to the gendered nature of these processes Case studies from throughout Western Europe analyze local rural power relations and present overviews of the significance of rural gender relations The book demonstrates that traditional and new forms of social organization in rural areas create new forms of political participation Changing forms of social capital and political participation not only influence the relation between state and civil society but also male female relationships The book argues that the dynamics of these gendered power relations produce competing discourses which can often hinder policy making and implementation Young People in Rural Areas of Europe Birgit Jentsch,2017-07-05 Despite an EU wide commitment to rural development research has rarely focused on the lives of young people in rural areas their experiences in education and employment their perceptions of policies relevant to them and their possibilities of participation Based on a two year European research project on policies and young people in rural development this edited volume examines these issues and considers young people s experiences of rural life in Austria Finland France Germany Ireland Portugal and Scotland The volume is organized thematically with each chapter addressing a specific topic in one or more countries These topics comprise the attractiveness of rural areas to young people the impact of programmes under the European Employment Guidelines rural youth in local community development and partnerships rural development programmes and their impact on youth integration the role of social networks and the transition from education to employment A number of implications for policy and practice are drawn out in conclusion This book will be of interest to anyone concerned with the future of rural areas and with those who live in the European countryside Local Environmental Management in a North-South Perspective Manuel Flury,Urs Geiser,2002 Sustainable Development of Multifunctional Landscapes Katharina Helming,Hubert Wiggering,2013-03-09 New demands on landscapes and natural resources call for multifunctional approaches to land development Tools are required to identify the effects of land management on landscape sustainability and to support the decision making process on the multipurpose utilisation of landscape resources Scientists from across Europe installed the Landscape Tomorrow network to be prepared for new challenges in research to sustainable land development in an international perspective This publication analyses general principles of landscape multifunctionality develops methods to assess the sustainability of agricultural and forestry land management and identifies strategies of sustainable land management Moreover it contributes to the scientific basis for future land development strategies and helps support land use decision making on the political planning and management level The Crisis of Food Brands Martin K. Hingley,2016-03-16 Food and agribusiness is one of the fastest changing global markets change that is driven by technology developments in manufacturing and supply and a growing consumer engagement The success of the agri food industry and many of our household brand names will depend on how much you understand about these changes and the extent to which you can deliver secure and competitive products in the face of growing expectations about food safety and quality as well as changing attitudes about the environment human diet and nutrition and animal welfare The Crisis of Food Brands offers perspectives on many key aspects of these changes including the role of business policy makers and the media in communicating with and engaging stakeholders about o relevant and dynamic models of risk and crisis management o the value of innovative and sometimes controversial food systems o their buying behaviour and attitudes to movements such as organic and fair trade o how and where we source and buy our food now and in the future The quality of the original research that underpins this book and the imagination and practicality with which the authors address its applications for the industry is first rate Anyone with responsibility for marketing food communicating about the food industry or engaging with consumers will find this an important source of ideas and inspiration

Organic Futures Connor J. Fitzmaurice, Brian Gareau, 2016-10-25 An exploration of the lived experience of small scale organic farmers in New England that unpacks how they balance their ideals with economic realities In recent years the popularity of organically grown produce has exploded In 2014 organic fruits and vegetables accounted for 12% of all produce sales in the United States with 39 billion in consumer sales reported for 2015 As a federally recognized niche market within the agricultural mainstream organic farming is increasingly on display in American grocery stores Yet the organic food most Americans consume today is produced by an industrial food system at odds with the practices and ideals of small scale farmers Taking an ethnographic approach the fieldwork by Connor Fitzmaurice and Brian Gareau at a small New England organic farm sheds light on how farmers navigate the difficult terrain between practices of sustainability and the economic realities of contemporary agriculture Drawing on extensive research Fitzmaurice and Gareau examine the historical context complexities and viability of nonconventional organic farming practices practices that seek to balance ecology and community with the business of agriculture

The Cambridge Handbook of Social Sciences in Australia Ian McAllister, Steve Dowrick, Riaz Hassan, 2003-08-07 First published in 2003 The Cambridge Handbook of Social Sciences in Australia is a high quality reference on significant research in Australian social sciences The book is divided into three main sections covering the central areas of the social sciences economics political science and sociology Each section examines the significant research in the field placing it within the context of broader debates about the nature of the social sciences and the ways in which institutional changes have shaped how they are defined taught and researched
