Working History of a Social Worker Simone Grandjean, 2014-04-30 After working 20 years as a dressmaker in 1980 aged 49 years I proudly received a Degree in Social Studies from the University of Sydney Then in 1985 I obtained a Masters Degree in Social Work from the University of New South Wales My first job as a Social Worker in 1980 was with the Italian Welfare Centre CO AS IT where I stayed for four and a half years Then six months in a Nursing Home in London Then one year with the Department of Immigration in Sydney and Parramatta Then from 1987 I worked for the Aged Care Assessment Team attached to the Bankstown Hospital I retired in March 2007 on my 76th birthday I enjoyed my work I liked many of my clients and most of my co workers I remember some of the cases I had to deal with many were unusual some were sad some impossible and a few amusing but all were interesting as no two people are alike In CO AS IT I had a whole range of problems to deal with All the clients were Italian migrants mainly from a Peasant background They spoke mostly their native dialects mixed with Italian The greatest number came from the south of Italy PUGLIA CALABRIA SICILY and around NAPLES and from the poorer parts of the North Veneto I spoke Italian and soon understood the different dialects although I never spoke any of them So I was able to deal with people from the different provinces At The Department of Immigration I was in charge of several bi lingual Welfare Officers covering Arabic Greek Spanish Lebanese Polish all 8 Simone Grandjean Yugoslav languages the Filipino dialects Chinese Vietnamese and Italian my native language is French I was also able to use interpreters for those times when a person spoke something else such as

Portuguese Armenian or Assyrian etc In England and Bankstown 99% of my clients were the elderly the greatest percentage were of English or Anglo Australian background but also of many other nationalities and ethnic backgrounds So there have been cases relating to family relationship children marital problems psychiatric problems immigration needing information on a large range of subjects health death work financial problems sexual problems etc and cultural differences But first I was a Social Work Student

Working Through Ageing Kathleen Riach,2025-09-30 Growing up and older at work is something we all experience yet it remains surprisingly overlooked and under theorized in management and organization studies In this groundbreaking book Kathleen Riach draws on a 10 year longitudinal study to offer fresh theoretical and empirical insights into how ageing is experienced in the workplace Introducing a new phenomenological theory of ageing at work the book examines how individuals negotiate age biased workplace cultures and adapt to their changing bodies within the context of financial capitalism It reveals that ageing at work is not simply about demographic change or ageist stereotypes but is an ongoing process that involves balancing professional expectations the life course and the self

Sessional Papers Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons,1902 Report of the Inspector Great Britain. Reformatory and Industrial Schools Department,1905 Orphanages Reconsidered Nurith Zmora,1994 Countering the Dickensian stereotypes Orphanages Reconsidered portrays how three private orphanages in Baltimore responded to the need of poor single parents for boarding schools for their children These innovative institutions also served as pivotal community forces rebuilding families by providing vocational training keeping siblings together and encouraging orphans to maintain close ties with relatives Fastidious research shows how the institutions Jewish non denominational Protestant and Catholic differed in their ethnic and religious priorities their financial support their staffing and their relations with the community Nurith Zmora embellishes her portraits with institutional records letters from the children and published autobiographies

Author note Nurith Zmora is Assistant Professor of History at the University of Delaware Cultures in Conflict--The American Civil War Steven E. Woodworth,2000-03-30 The American Civil War was primarily a conflict of cultures and slavery was the largest single cultural factor separating North and South This collection of carefully selected memoirs diaries letters and reminiscences of ordinary Northerners and Southerners who experienced the war as soldiers or civilians brings to life the conflict in culture principles attitudes hopes courage and suffering of both sides Woodworth a Civil War historian has selected a wide variety of moving first person accounts each of which tells a story of a life as well as the attitudes of ordinary people and the real conditions of war and homefront Woodworth presents the war in the words of those who lived it Contrasting selections will help the reader to see the war through the eyes of Northerners and Southerners as soldiers prepare for war women s lives change after the men go to war soldiers on both sides experience the difficulties of camp life sweethearts the half sister of Mary Todd Lincoln and her Confederate fianc exchange heartfelt letters a husband s letters and his wife s diary recount their love his death in battle and her deep loss countered by her faith soldiers and civilians recount the carnage of the war's devastating battles and people on both sides reflect on the outcome of the war and its consequences to their way of life. The accounts contrast the writers' attitudes toward Northern and Southern society, the principles for which those societies stood, and the religious significance of the war. These accounts and the narrative discussion of the difference in culture will help readers to understand the Civil War as a conflict of cultures. Telling the story of the war as personal history makes the experience of the Civil War come alive for readers. Counting Girls Out Valerie Walkerdine, 2012-10-12

The question about girls' attainment in mathematics is met with every kind of myth, false evidence, and theorizing about the gendered body and the gendered mind. The Girls and Mathematics Unit, led by Valerie Walkerdine, has over a period of ten years carried out a detailed theoretical and empirical investigation in this area. The book tackles issues and prejudice and examines and puts into perspective many claims that have been made about women's minds. It also probes the relationship between evidence and explanation: why are girls still taken to be lacking when they perform well but boys are credited even when they do not. More Deadly than the Male James Hadley Chase, 2012-09-20

George Fraser, a lonely, timid fellow, lives in a dream world of gangsters, gunfights, and beautiful women. He begins to imagine himself as the toughest gangster of them all to bolster up his feeling of inferiority. But George boasts once too often and to the wrong person. From that moment on, harmless George is caught up in a deadly net of intrigue and finds himself committing the deadliest act of all. An intelligent and harshly revealing piece of work with not a little serious penetration and power. The Times
