From Grierson To The Docusoap Breaking The Boundaries:

From Grierson to the Docu-soap John Izod, R. W. Kilborn, Matthew Hibberd, 2000 This work explores a range of issues relating to the documentary's achievement over the past decades and considers its prospects on entering the new millennium. In the first part of the book a number of writers reappraise John Grierson's contribution to the history of documentary. Most focus on his influence on the international Encyclopedia of the Documentary Film 3-Volume Set Ian Aitken, 2013-10-18 The Encyclopedia of the Documentary Film is a fully international reference work on the history of the documentary film from the Lumière brothers' Workers Leaving the Lumière Factory 1885 to Michael Moore's Fahrenheit 9/11 2004. This Encyclopedia provides a resource that critically analyzes that history in all its aspects. Not only does this Encyclopedia examine individual films and the careers of individual film makers, it also provides overview articles of national and regional documentary film history. It explains concepts and themes in the study of documentary film, the techniques used in making films, and the institutions that support their production, appreciation, and preservation. The Television Studies Reader Robert Clyde Allen, Annette Hill, 2004 The Television Studies Reader brings together key writings in the expanding field of television studies, providing an overview of the discipline and addressing issues of industry, genre, audiences, production, and ownership and representation. The Reader charts the ways in which television and television studies are being redefined by new and alternative ways of producing, broadcasting, and watching TV, such as cable, satellite, and digital broadcasting, home video, internet broadcasting, and interactive TV, as well as exploring the recent boom in genres such as reality TV and docusoaps. It brings together articles from leading international scholars to provide perspectives on television programmes and practices from around the world, acknowledging both television's status as a global medium and the many and varied local contexts of its production and reception. Articles are grouped in seven themed sections, each with an introduction by the editors: Institutions of Television, Spaces of Television, Modes of Television, Making Television, Social Representation on Television, Watching Television, Transforming Television. Claiming the Real Brian Winston, 2019-07-25 Claiming the Real II describes the origins, development, and current state of documentary cinema and the social, political, industrial, and ethical factors that determine its production. This new edition addresses the ethical quagmires, digital technologies, and proliferating forms that have transformed documentary cinema. Screen, Culture, Psyche John Izod, 2016-02-04 Screen Culture Psyche illuminates recent developments in Jungian modes of media analysis and illustrates how psychoanalytic theories have been adapted to allow for the interpretation of films and television programmes employing Post-Jungian methods in the deep reading of a whole range of films. Readings of this kind can demonstrate the way that some films bear the psychological projections not only of their makers but of their audience and assess the manner in which films engage the writer's own psyche. Seeking to go beyond existing theories, John Izod explores the question of whether Jungian screen analysis can work for ordinary filmgoers, and what functions for the scholar he said to be true for people without a background in Jung's ideas.

Through detailed readings of a number of films and programmes John Izod builds on the work previously done by Jungian film analysts and moves on to contemplate the level of audience engagement Offering deep readings of films directed by Kubrick and Bernardo Bertolucci as well as satirical comedy documentaries and twenty first century Westerns the book explores the extent to which they manage to make the psychological impact on spectators that films of a similar kind have done on Jungian writers The author concludes that the screen texts with the best likelihood of impacting the culture of the audience through their collective psychological force fall at opposite ends of the size and budget range highly personal documentaries and the most affecting of mainstream genre movies This innovative text will be essential reading for psychoanalysts and therapists as well as students and scholars of film with an interest in understanding how screen products work psychologically to engage the viewer Encyclopedia of journalism. 6. Appendices Christopher H. Sterling, 2009-09-25 The six volume Encyclopedia of Journalism covers all significant dimensions of journalism including print broadcast and Internet journalism US and international perspectives history technology legal issues and court cases ownership and economics Reality TV Anita Biressi, Heather Nunn, 2005-02-04 This book analyses new and hybrid genres of television including observational documentaries talk shows game shows docu soaps dramatic reconstructions law and order programming and 24 7 formats such as Big Brother and Survivor Public Relations in Britain Jacque L'Etang, 2004-07-22 In this book the author asks a big question how did public relations develop in Britain and why The question is answered through a broad ranging narrative which links the evolution of British public relations in the early twentieth century to key political economic social and technological developments Drawing on oral history interviews and extensive archival research the book highlights some of the sociological issues relevant to a study of public relations and foregrounds the professionalisation of the occupation in the second part of the twentieth century Moving Forward, Looking Back Malte Hagener, 2007 This book the first full critical overview of the film avant garde ushers in a new approach and in the process creates its own subject While many books have studied particular aspects of the European film avant garde of the 1920s and 1930s Moving Forward Looking Back provides a much needed summary of the theory and practice of the movement while also emphasizing aspects of the period that have been overlooked Arguing that a European perspective is the only way to understand the transnational movement the book also pioneers a new approach to the alternative cinema network that sustained the avant garde paying particular attention to the emergence of film culture as visible in screening clubs film festivals and archives It will be essential to anyone interested in the influential movement and the film culture it created Toward a Philosophy of the Documentarian Dan Geva, 2018-04-03 The theme of this book is the documentarian what the documentarian is and how we can understand it as a concept Working from the premise that the documentarian is a special extended sign the book develops a model of a quadruple sign structure for and of the documentarian growing out of enduring traditions in philosophy semiotics psychoanalysis and documentary theory Dan Geva investigates the intellectual premise that allows the documentarian to show itself as an extremely sophisticated creative and purposeful being in the world one that is both embedded in its own history and able to manifest itself throughout its entire documentary life project as a stand alone conceptual phase in the history of ideas

Crime Watching Deborah Jermyn, 2006-10-27 In recent years reality TV formats have proliferated on television One of the most significant and controversial strands within this has been the growth of real crime TV Encapsulating everything from crime appeal shows to reconstruction programmes and actuality footage shows real crime TV now plays a major role in our television schedules filling countless hours of air time every week Crime Watching examines the spectacular growth of real crime TV Of these programmes the BBC's Crimewatch UK is Britain's best known in small part due to the tragedy of presenter Jill Dando's death The book argues that the birth of the BBC's Crimewatch UK in 1984 was a key transitional moment in the emergence expansion and subsequent popularity of these programmes both in the UK and internationally Looking closely at the social and political context of the period in which Crimewatch UK first appeared and examining the aesthetics address and appeal of a range of other shows appearing in its wake including Police Camera Action America's Most Wanted and World's Wildest Police Videos this book investigates the conditions that have enabled and advanced the ubiquity of real crime programming on contemporary television and the anxieties that surround it Examining critiques that real crime TV has increased fear of crime while legitimising a surveillance culture and that it serves to stifle debate about criminality and policing Crime Watching also reflects on the pleasures of these programmes and the enduring nature of our culture's seemingly endless fascination with real crime stories

The War on Terror Derek Paget, Stephen Lacey, 2015-05-22 This book explores the ways in which television has engaged directly and indirectly with the new realities of the post 9/11 world It offers detailed analysis of a number of key programmes and series that engage with or are haunted by the aftermath of the events of September 11 in the USA and what is unavoidably through problematically and contentiously referred to as the resulting war on terror The substantive part of the book is a series of independent chapters each written on a different topic and considering different programmes It includes series and single dramas representing the invasion of Iraq The Mark of Cain Occupation and Generation Kill comedic representations Gary Tank Commander documentary the BBC Panorama's coverage of 9/11 what if docudramas Dirty War 9/11 in popular series CSI NY and representations of Tony Blair in drama and docudrama The book concludes with an extended reflection on contemporary docudrama and an interview with filmmaker and docudramatist Peter Kosminsky

The Real Ireland Harvey O'Brien, 2004 The Real Ireland is the first study of Irish documentary film but more than that it is a study of Ireland itself of how the idea of Ireland evolved throughout the twentieth century and how documentary cinema both recorded and participated in the process of change More than just a film studies work it is a discussion of history politics and culture which also explores the philosophical roots of the documentary idea and how this idea informs concepts of society self and nation It features rare and previously unseen illustrations and a detailed documentary filmography the first of its kind in print anywhere The Routledge Companion to British Media History
