From A Broken Web

Bill O'Hanlon, Bob Bertolino

From A Broken Web:

From a Broken Web Catherine Keller, 1988-11-09 Even From A Broken Web Bill O'Hanlon, Bob Bertolino, 1998-04-06

The terrible emotional aftereffects suffered by victims of sexual abuse are well established and according to conventional therapeutic wisdom can only be treated through years of traditional therapy using regression and catharsis. Even from a Broken Web offers an effective alternative for clinicians working with these clients: a solution oriented approach that is respectful, collaborative, flexible, and in most cases mercifully brief. Rather than continually revisiting the past and focusing on the problem, Even from a Broken Web proposes a way for sexual abuse victims to move into the present and the future, escaping repetitive patterns of thinking, perception, feeling, action, and interaction. First outlining the 3 D aftereffects of sexual abuse: Dissociation, Disowning, and Devaluing, Bill O'Hanlon and Bob Bertolino explain three pathways out of these emotional ruts. First, solution oriented inner work helps clients rediscover aspects of daily experience they have devalued. By imagining themselves thinking, feeling, and doing things in different ways, clients next create a compelling vision of themselves in the future. The final pathway includes identifying and changing existing patterns of thought and behavior. Each of these pathways enables clients to use and develop strengths, skills, and resources they already possess. Once the client discovers these pathways, the journey to solution can be remarkably swift. The process of discovering these abilities requires therapists to work with clients as opposed to directing them. The authors provide numerous examples of how to practice solution oriented therapy with individuals, couples, and groups, and they demonstrate how to apply solution oriented techniques in a variety of situations.

Theological Anthropology in the Anthropocene Jan-Olav Henriksen, 2022-12-14. The Anthropocene presents theology and especially theological anthropology with unprecedented challenges. There are no immediately available resources in the theological tradition that reflect directly on such experiences. Accordingly, the situation calls for contextually based theological reflection of what it means to be human under such circumstances. This book discusses the main elements in theological anthropology in light of the fundamental points a) that theological anthropology needs to be articulated with reference to and informed by the concrete historical circumstances in which humanity presently finds itself, and b) that the notion of the Anthropocene can be used as a heuristic tool to describe important traits and conditions that call for a response by humanity and which entail the need for a renewal of what a Christian self understanding means. Jan-Olav Henriksen explores what such a response entails from the point of view of contemporary theological anthropology and discusses selected topics that can contribute to a contextually based position.

Law's Relations Jennifer Nedelsky, 2011-10-11. Jennifer Nedelsky claims that we must rethink our notion of autonomy, rejecting the usual vocabulary of control, boundaries, and individual rights. If we understand that we are fundamentally in relation to others, she argues, we will recognize that we become autonomous with others.

Wounded Images Kristine M. Whaley, 2024-03-27. This volume works through deconstructing traditional models of the imago Dei in search of a more inclusive understanding of the doctrine, one that allows for literature to bring important questions to bear Brief analyses of Karl Barth and Paul Tillich and then growing dissatisfaction with the two in various liberation theologies brings to light the problems of a perfected image of God An exploration of four novels by Jean Rhys between 1928 and 1939 then follows the footsteps of Katie Cannon and others who include literature in their theological work The Rhys novels follow tragic stories of women who are wounded both by others and by their own inability to see themselves as worthy Through the questions these women ask about themselves and God the reconstruction of the imago Dei is set up This reconstruction centers trauma wounds and a non contrastive transcendence that Kathryn Tanner defines Ultimately it is not in how we are perfect but rather through our risks our wounds and even our grief that we connect to God

The Bonds of Freedom Rebekah L. Miles,2001-08-23 In this constructive study Miles proposes a new feminist theological ethic drawing together the contributions of Reinhold Niebuhr Sharon Welch and Rosemary Ruether Seeking to critically reappropriate the Christian realism articulated by Niebuhr she reinterprets solutions to problems emergent from his theology Miles presents feminist Christian realism as an alternative that can reclaim a positive interpretation of divine transcendence and human self transcendence while maintaining newer emphases on human boundedness and divine immanence Theologians and ethicists will find her critical reassessment of the three authors distinctive and her challenging proposal for a positive creative transformation a significant contribution to the development of feminist ethics

The Spirit of American Liberal Theology Gary Dorrien,2023-09-05 The Spirit of American Liberal Theology is an interpretation of the entire U S American tradition of liberal theology A highly condensed and far more accessible summary of Gary Dorrien s three volume trilogy The Making of American Liberal Theology Westminster John Knox Press 2001 2003 and 2006 Dorrien here presses the argument that the most abundant diverse and persistent tradition of liberal theology is the one that blossomed in the United States and is still refashioning itself While discussions of English and German liberalism persist new material includes expanded treatment of the Black social gospel the Universalists developments into early 2020s and a robust expression of the author s post Hegelian liberal liberationist perspective

Sex, Race, and God Susan Thistlethwaite,2009-04-01 Sex Race and God is the impassioned manifesto of a white feminist s reckoning with the meaning of race including her own whiteness in doing theology We should be discussing and acting on many of Thistlethwaite s insights for quite some time She has made a vital contribution to the feminist theological enterprise and to the critical relationship between black and white women in it Carter Heyward Sex Race and God is a sincere attempt to listen to and learn from African American women a serious and largely successful effort to create a method that addresses differences rather than proposing wishful commonalities Many women of color will find it promising a basis for dialogue The Women s Review of Books This pivotal book illuminates a significant ongoing debate at the intersection of two fields contemporary theology and feminist studies Choice Thistlethwaite does what so few white feminists have done genuinely interact with and learn from the strong differences in experience and perspective between African American women and European American women

The Other Side My Quests for Hope and Meaning Rosemary Radford Ruether, 2013-10-02 This book is an autobiography tracing Rosemary Radford Ruether's intellectual development and writing career. Ruether examines the influence of her mother and family on her development and particularly her interactions with the Roman Catholic religious tradition. She delves into her exploration of interfaith relations with Judaism and Islam as well. Her educational formation at Scripps College and the importance of historical theology is also a major emphasis. Mental illness has also affected Ruether's nuclear family in the person of her son, and she details the family's struggle with this issue. Finally, in this intellectual autobiography, Ruether explores her long concern and involvement with ecology, feminism, and the quest for a spirituality and practice for a livable planet.

Law and the Order of Culture Robert Post, 2024-03-29 Law and the Order of Culture is an outstanding collection of essays that explores the cultural creation of legal meaning, addressing interpretive processes within the law as well as the social constitution of legal doctrine. Originally published in Representations, these essays are at the center of the law and literature movement, which exemplifies a burgeoning literature in feminist jurisprudence, critical legal studies, and other work that has focused on law as evidence of cultural orderings. For this edition, Robert Post has written a new introduction proposing an analytic framework for this literature and discussion of the seven essays contained within the book. Ranging over a variety of interdisciplinary perspectives, the contributors to the volume address such central issues as the construction of legal normativity, interpretive theory and practice in constitutional law, the function of legal metaphors, the interpretive foundations of the law/fact distinction, and the role of politics in contemporary critical legal studies. Law and the Order of Culture will attract a broad and eclectic readership across many disciplines. Law and the Order of Culture is an outstanding collection of essays that explores the cultural creation of legal meaning, addressing interpretive processes within the law as well as the social constitution of legal doctrine. Down to Earth Richard Floyd, 2015-08-18 In the face of climate change and ecological diminishment, how can we hope that creation itself, good and beautiful, marked by tragedy and chaos, is taken up rather than left behind? Can a Christian vision, which has at times been drunk on eschatological dreams or nightmares that consign this world and most of its creatures to destruction, foster an earthly hope? Jürgen Moltmann and Sallie McFague offer two contemporary possibilities for an ecological eschatology. Floyd critiques both of these theological visions and traces an alternative that is both humble (grounded in the humus, the dirt) and hopeful (grounded in divine creativity), arguing that a down-to-earth hope is grounded finally in beauty: the beauty of the other that draws out the self, the beauty of the redeemed self coming out to meet the other, and the beauty of God that lures forth ever new possibilities and gathers up all the beautiful and broken creatures into the deepest possible harmony.
