From Hulme All Blessings Flow A Collection Of Manchester Memories:

From Hulme All Blessings Flow Harry Watkin, 1985      Songs of Innocence Fran Abrams, 2012-11-01 As recently as 100 years ago British children existed in ways now unthinkable boys as young as eight worked grueling hours in unlit factories girls were sold into sexual slavery with dolls still in their grasp and boys at schools like Rugby and Harrow were brutally trained for their future at the helm of Britain's vast red empire This book charts the transformation of childhood in the UK from early Victorian disagreements about childrearing to the Scouts very direct involvement in World War I Poignant first hand accounts of poverty and deprivation as well as innocent pleasures carry the reader through a Dickensian landscape of urchins and Fauntleroyes the cosseted lives of Edwardian children to the self sufficient charges of Baden Powell Fran Abrams draws distinctions along class lines and divisions such as town and country Romantic and conservative to achieve a historical perspective shows the progression of the idea of childhood through a century of massive social change brought about by urbanization war and medico psychological advances Songs of Innocence employs searing personal testimony and immaculate research to provide a fascinating exposition of the past and a mirror for the present      Workers' Worlds Andrew Davies, 1992 Manchester and Salford have a special place in the history of the British working class They lay at the heart of the cotton industry the spark of the industrial revolution and as a consequence were among the first places to experience the application of steam power and the factory system to production As a result the Manchester Salford conurbation was the first to see a fully formed industrial working class Whilst industrialization went through its heroic phase the two cities seemed to be blazing a trail not only for the rest of the country but for the world During the first half of the 19th century social observers came from across Europe to see what they supposed to be their future Manchester was in Asa Briggs's influential phrase the shock city of the age The city demonstrated the ability of science to control nature this was why in 1843 Benjamin Disraeli described Manchester as the modern Athens However as Alexis de Tocqueville had noted eight years earlier there was another side to increasing productivity      The Intellectual Life of the British Working Classes Jonathan Rose, 2021-06-08 This is a landmark intellectual history of Britain's working classes from the preindustrial era to the twentieth century Drawing on workers memoirs social surveys library registers and more Jonathan Rose uncovers which books people read how they educated themselves and what they knew A new preface addresses the continuing relevance of the book amidst the upheavals of the present day An astonishing book Ian Sansom The Guardian A passionate work of history Rose has written a work of staggering ambition Daniel Akst Wall Street Journal Winner of the SHARP Book History Prize the American Philosophical Society's Jacques Barzun Prize and the British Council Prize cowinner of the Longman History Today Book of the Year Prize for 2001 named one of the finest books of 2001 by The Economist      Being boys Melanie Tebbutt, 2017-10-03 This original and fresh approach to the emotions of adolescence focuses on the leisure lives of working class boys and young men in the inter war years Being Boys challenges many stereotypes about their behaviour It offers new perspectives on familiar and important themes in interwar social and cultural history ranging from the cinema and mass consumption to boys clubs personal advice pages street cultures dancing sexuality mobility and the body It draws on many autobiographies and personal accounts and is particularly distinctive in offering an unusual insight into working class adolescence through the teenage diaries of the author's father which are interwoven with the book's broader analysis of contemporary leisure developments Being Boys will be of interest to scholars and students across the humanities and social sciences and is also relevant to those teaching and studying in the fields of child development education and youth and community studies Women's Talk? Melanie Tebbutt, 1995 This is a sociological study of the way in which women and their gossip was viewed in the period between 1880 to 1960 It asks why specifically working class women are seen as gossips tracing the stereotyped meanings and prejudices attached to the word Other communication aspects are also examined

The British Library General Catalogue of Printed Books, 1986 to 1987 British Library, 1988 Fatherhood and the British Working Class, 1865-1914 Julie-Marie Strange, 2015-01-19 A pioneering study of Victorian and Edwardian fatherhood investigating what being and having a father meant to working class people Based on working class autobiography the book challenges dominant assumptions about absent or feckless fathers and reintegrates the paternal figure within the emotional life of families Locating autobiography within broader social and cultural commentary Julie Marie Strange considers material culture everyday practice obligation duty and comedy as sites for the development and expression of complex emotional lives Emphasising the importance of separating men as husbands from men as fathers Strange explores how emotional ties were formed between fathers and their children the models of fatherhood available to working class men and the ways in which fathers interacted with children inside and outside the home She explodes the myth that working class interiorities are inaccessible or unrecoverable and locates life stories in the context of other sources including social surveys visual culture and popular fiction Whitaker's Books in Print, 1990 British Books in Print, 1986 Whitaker's Cumulative Book List, 1985 Leisure, Gender, and Poverty Andrew Davies, 1992 Based extensively on interviews examines the voluntary or involuntary leisure time of the working class in adjacent English industrial cities Emphasizes the different experiences of men and women and the distinct youth culture Distributed by Taylor and Francis Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR The Wesleyan methodist Church record, 1898 The Methodist new connexion magazine and evangelical repository, 1857 The Builder, 1869 People of Hulme Neil Scott (Local historian), 2005-01-01
