The Development of Security and Whole Care System for the Aged in China Yanzhong Wang,2017-10-25 This book examines the process of population aging in China and its unique features considers the social progress implied in China becoming a society with an aging population and assesses the tremendous risks and challenges involved Based on the development of pension security systems around the world the book studies the status quo and future requirements of the Chinese pension security system from the perspectives of capital service and spirit and puts forwards a three pillar pension security system that is in conformity with China s current situation and reflects the developmental trend that in future social security will likely transform from material security into comprehensive security In addition the book analyzes the Chinese pension security system While integrating international perspectives its main focus is on statistical analysis combining theory with practice and qualitative with quantitative analysis As such the book not only offers a window for the world on the status and evolution of China's pension security system but also an opportunity for international academic dialogues City Economics Brendan O'Flaherty, 2005-10-30 This introductory but innovative textbook on the economics of cities is aimed at students of urban and regional policy as well as of undergraduate economics. It deals with standard topics including automobiles, mass transit, pollution, housing, and education, but it also discusses non-standard topics such as segregation, water supply, sewers, garbage, fire prevention, housing codes, homelessness, crime, illicit drugs, and economic development. Its methods of analysis are primarily verbal, geometric, and arithmetic. The author achieves coherence by showing how the analysis of various topics reinforces one another. Thus, buses can tell us something about schools and optimal tolls about land prices. Brendan O'Flaherty looks at almost everything through the lens of Pareto optimality and potential Pareto optimality: how policies affect people and their well-being, not abstract entities such as cities or the economy or growth or the environment. Such traditionalism leads to radical questions, however: Should cities have police and fire departments? Should tax preferences for home ownership be repealed? Should public schools charge for their services? O'Flaherty also gives serious consideration to such heterodox policies as pay at the pump, auto insurance, curb rights for buses, land taxes, marginal cost water pricing, and sidewalk zoning.

MEZZOECONOMICS Chen Yunxian, Gu Wenjing, 2018-05-15 This monograph consists of six major parts elaborating on basic aspects of mezzoeconomics: the theory of regional government, foresighted leading, the dual role theory of regional government, the dual entity theory of regional government, the double strong mechanism theory, and the theoretical configuration of mezzoeconomics, as well as the prospects for its development. It gives a full exposition of the core issues, approaches, and methodological principles of mezzoeconomic researches, their breakthrough improvements upon traditional economic theorization, and the broad prospects for innovative practices. This monograph fills up a blank in the theoretical system of modern economics and signifies a substantial amelioration of the theorization of modern market economy. It demonstrates through forceful exemplification and argumentation that there exists in between microeconomics represented by the enterprise and macroeconomics represented by the state, mezzoeconomics represented by regional government in the system of modern economics, and that both enterprises and regional governments are entities of market competition in the modern market theory, which remedies the theoretical defects in traditional economic and market theories and redefines the theories of modern economics and modern market economy.
