Contemporary Theatre responds to a rising tide of experimentation in theatre practice that eliminates or obscures light. It brings together leading and emerging practitioners and researchers in a volume dedicated to exploring the phenomenon and showcasing a range of possible critical and theoretical approaches. This book considers the aesthetics and phenomenology of dark, gloomy and shadow-strewn theatre performances as well as the historical and cultural significances of darkness, shadow and the night in theatre and performance contexts. It is concerned as much with the experiences elicited by darkness and obscured or diminished lighting as it is with the conditions that define frame and at times re-shape what each might mean and do. Contributors provide surveys of relevant practice, interviews with practitioners, theoretical reflections and close critical analyses of work by key innovators in the aesthetics of light, shadow and darkness. The book has a particular focus on the work of contemporary theatre makers including Sound Fury, David Rosenberg and Glen Neath, Lundahl, Seidl, Extant and Analogue and seeks to deepen the engagement of theatre and performance studies with what might be called the sensory turn. Theatre in the Dark explores ground-breaking areas that will appeal to researchers, practitioners and audiences alike.

Land/scape/theater Elinor Fuchs, Una Chaudhuri, 2002. Essays by leading theater scholars and theorists exploring the turn to landscape in modern and contemporary theater.

Difficult Diasporas Samantha Pinto, 2013-09-06. Winner of the 2013 Modern Language Association's William Sanders Scarborough Prize for Outstanding Scholarly Study of Black American Literature. In this comparative study of contemporary Black Atlantic women writers, Samantha Pinto demonstrates the crucial role of aesthetics in defining the relationship between race, gender and location. Thinking beyond national identity to include African, African American, Afro Caribbean and Black British literature, Difficult Diasporas brings together an innovative archive of twentieth-century texts marked by their break with conventional literary structures. These understudied resources mix genres as in the memoir, ethnography, travel narrative, Tell My Horse by Zora Neale Hurston, and eschew linear narratives as illustrated in the book-length non-narrative poem by M. Nourbese Philip, She Tries Her Tongue, Her Silence Softly Breaks. Such an aesthetics which protests against stable categories and fixed divisions both reveals and obscures that which it seeks to represent: the experiences of Black women writers in the African Diaspora. Drawing on postcolonial and feminist scholarship in her study of authors such as Jackie Kay, Elizabeth Alexander, Erna Brodber, Ama Ata Aidoo among others, Pinto argues for the critical importance of cultural form and demands that we resist the impulse to prioritize traditional notions of geographic boundaries. Locating correspondences between seemingly disparate times and places and across genres, Pinto fully engages the unique possibilities of literature and culture to redefine race and gender studies.
